

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

POETICAL compositions, it will readily be admitted, are of a very ancient original ; and very early specimens of this kind of writing are yet to be found on record, both in sacred* and profane history. Writings in poesy have many peculiar excellencies in them, and particular advantages attending them : and when men, endued with poetical talents, employ them on subjects of real importance, the sparkling and flowery images, the magnificent and lofty expressions, and the striking figures and rhetorical embellishments, add such a native grandeur, dignity, and majesty to the subject, that the mind is not only truly elevated, the attention gained, the affections moved, and devotion excited, but the memory is gradually prepared to retain and be benefited by them, on account of the beautiful and elegant manner in which the various topics are elucidated.

* See the Song of Moses at the Red Sea, Exod. xv. 1—21. This song is the most ancient and sublime piece of poetry in the world : the images are natural ; the arrangement of its ideas is beautiful, and the strain of piety which breathes through the whole is truly evangelical.

No subject is more interesting, or can be a fitter theme, for those vested with a poetical genius, than those of an evangelical nature, either directly founded upon some particular portion of sacred writ, or drawn from it, by just and necessary consequence. No writings, for justness of sentiment, and sublimity of style, can equal or compare with those of divine inspiration; and though the mysteries of Christianity, and the wonders of our holy religion, stand in no need of gay trimmings and poetical embellishments to set them off; yet such is the superior excellency of inspired poesy, that the brightest and most elevated descriptions of a mortal pen must vail to it: and therefore says a celebrated writer, "If any would attempt to be master of true eloquence, and aim at a proper elevation of style, let him read, with unremitting diligence, the ancient prophets, the inspired evangelists and apostles; for their writings are an abundant source of all the riches and ornaments of speech."

It hath been now a long and just complaint, that poesy, which is of a divine original, should have been so much debased to the worst of purposes, in decorative vice and profaneness; and that men, endued with such a happy talent, should so much employ it, in furnishing out theatrical entertainments, or upon ludicrous and profane trifles. How happy would it have been for the world, what an ornament to Christianity and advantage to the church ; and how honoring to themselves, as well as beneficial to the interests of religion, had they employed it on evangelical and divine subjects, in pointing out the beauties of creation, the bounty of Providence, the depth of redeeming love and grace, and the excellency and sweetness of true religion and practical godliness !

The Rev. Mr. ERSKINE, author of the following poems, was happy in employing his poetical talent to the best of purposes ; the subjects he made choice of to handle, were of the utmost importance for mankind to know ; his manner of treating them, truly evangelical ; and the spirit that breathes through them, heavenly and divine ; tending to warm the heart, excite to genuine devotion, and to inspire the mind with just and proper sentiments of God and true religion.

The sentiments of Dr. Bradbury, relative to our author's poetical talent are very just. " Mr. Erskine's poems," says he, " are greatly to be esteemed, for the sweetness of the verse, the disposition of the subjects, the elegance of the composition, and, above all, for that which animates the whole, the savor of divine and experimental knowledge."*

TO THE READER.

READER,—Whatever apologies this book has formerly been preface'd with, (as to the manner in which many lines in it are written,) shall be here altogether dropped and forborne: I now dismiss it as it is, under the conduct of Divine Providence, to take its hazard in the world; since it has already served its apprenticeship under several impressions, and gone both thro' a kind and hard usage, through good report and bad report. It never promis'd much to them that seek nothing but pleasure and satisfaction to their fancy, but I have heard, that it has done some service (and, I hope, through the blessing of Heaven, it may yet do more) to them that seek profit and edification to their souls.

The late edition of this book at London, being more full and complete than any that was formerly emitted, it is fit here to acquaint the reader, that this is printed exactly off the London copy, without any material addition or alteration, except in the third part of the book, which comes under the name of Riddles, or mysteries; and part sixth, chap. ii., sect. 1, entitled, The believer's principles, concerning the mysteries of the Law and Gospel: both of which (because there were several demands in this country for a new edition) I thought fit to confirm by Scripture texts, cited at the bottom of the page, for the benefit of those that are weak in knowledge, and unacquainted with the Scripture.* I have directed them by a letter of the alphabet, at every branch of the sentence that is either seemingly or really opposite to the other, unto some scriptural text, one or more, for evincing the truth thereof: by which means the weakest that is willing, may come to understand the most difficult paradox, or mystery, mentioned in this work; at least so far as to see, that every part of it is founded on the word of God, either directly, or by plain and necessary consequence. Only this general rule is to be observed, namely, that the reader always consider what is the subject treated in every section or stanza; and this, for the sake of the more illiterate, I shall illustrate by two examples, the one concerning the law, the other concerning the believer. The former you see Part III., sect. vi., ver. 25, p. 181.

I'm not oblig'd to keep it more;
Yet more obliged than e'er before.

Here you are to remark, that as the subject spoken of is the LAW, so the law in Scripture is considered two ways, viz., both as a covenant of works, and as a rule of duty. Now, that the believer is under no obligation to the law, as it is a covenant of works, or to perform obedience to it as a ground of justification, (which is also the subject treated in that section,) is confirmed in the foot notes by the following Scriptures, to which you are directed by the letter (s), Rom. vi. 14, Gal. v. 1, 2, 3, 4, where you may see believers are said to “be not under the law, but under grace;” and exhorted to “stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made them free;” and assured, “that Christ is become of no effect to them, whosoever of them are justified by the law; they are fallen from grace.” Again, that the believer is under more obligation than ever before he was justified, to yield obedience to the law as it is a rule of life, (which is the other branch of that paradox,) is confirmed by these following texts of Scripture, to which you are directed by the letter (t), Rom. vi. 1, 2, 15, where it is said, “Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid: how shall we that are dead to sin, live any longer therein? What then? shall we sin, because we are not under the law, but under grace? God forbid.” From which texts, together with their contexts, it is evident, that the believer’s freedom from the law as a covenant, does not at all free him from obligation to it as a rule, but superadds to the natural obligation, that of grace, which both argumentatively and effectively teaches what the law does authoritatively and preceptively, namely, “to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and to live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world." Tit. ii. 11, 12.

* The Scriptures in this edition are extended at full length.

The other example I adduce, you may read, Part III., sect. ii., ver. 47, where the words are,

To good and evil equal bent:
I'm both a devil and a saint.

Here the reader may notice, that the subject spoken of is the BELIEVER, or the saint's old and new man described, (which is part of the title of that section,) or considered as to his unregenerate and regenerate part; in which view he is frequently spoken of in Scripture; ex. gr. 1 John iii. 6—9, it is said of the believer, or the person 'born of God, that "he sinneth not," and that "he cannot sin, because he is born of God:" there he is spoken of as to his new nature, or regenerate part. But, 1 John i. 8, the words are, "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us:" where the apostle speaks of believers' unregenerate and corrupt part. Now, this being the scriptural representation of the believer, the foresaid paradox is easily proven from Scripture.

The first branch is, That he is equally bent to good and to evil. For the proof of this, you are directed in the foot note to Rom. vii. 21, where the apostle Paul, speaking both of his corrupt and renewed part, says, "I find a law, that when I would do good, evil is present with me." And, if you read the preceding and following context, you will find him complaining how corruption bends him as far one way as grace another.

The other part of the same paradox is, That the believer is, on these accounts, both a devil and a saint. Now, that the believer is by nature and corruption a devil, is one branch of this position here to be confirmed. That he is so by nature, is proven by the following Scriptures in the forecited page at the bottom, John vi. 70, and viii. 44, compared; where Christ, speaking of some that were in a natural state, viz., of Judas and the Jews, discovers what is the state of all men by nature, "that they are of their father the devil, since the lusts of their father they will do;" and therefore may be called devils, as our Lord calls Judas, saying, "I have chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil." And such are believers also naturally, as descendants of the first Adam, being "children of disobedience, and children of wrath by nature, even as others," Eph. ii. 2, 3. And that the believer is so, not only by nature, but also by reason of remaining corruption, is proven at the foot of the same page, from James iii. 15, where that apostle, speaking of strife and envy, that may be even among the children of God, (which indeed has too much taken place in all ages,) says, "This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish." Again, that though the believer be by nature and corruption a devil, yet he is, by grace and regeneration, a saint, is documented also, in the same page, from 1 Cor. vi. 11. "Such were some of you; but ye are sanctified," &c.

In this manner, you may easily go over all the rest of the paradoxes, riddles, or mysteries, contained in this book, and find them evidently confirmed by the Scriptures of truth, the word of God. This might be no unprofitable exercise, but tend to lead you into the true knowledge of the Gospel, to which mysteries are so essential, that it is designed by them, and called "the wisdom of God in a mystery," 1 Cor. ii. 7; and the knowledge of which is so essential to Christianity, and so absolutely necessary to salvation, that the same apostle declares that "if our Gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost; in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them." 2 Cor. vi. 3.

Again, if you search the Scriptures, you will see many more proofs for every point than I have adduced, and perhaps many much more apposite; for those only are set down at the bottom of the page that first occurred to me: yet, I suppose, though sometimes but one, and sometimes more Scriptures are pointed out, they are such as sufficiently confirm the positions they relate to. But that other Scriptures might have been adduced in plenty, I shall give one instance, in the paradox just now mentioned, viz., That every believer, while in this world, is both a devil and a saint. The latter clause is what none will deny, namely, That every true believer is saint; for further proof of which, you might see Acts xv. 9, and xxvi. 18, &c. But because the first clause may seem more harsh, it may by Scripture be also further evinced two ways: 1st. In respect of the daily commission of sin he has to challenge himself with; for the Scripture says, Eccl. vii. 20, "There is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not. And with this compare 1 John iii. 8. "He that committeth sin, is of the devil." Hence it is plain, there is not a just man upon earth, but may, in respect of the commission of sin, be called a devil. 2ndly. In respect of prevalent temptations, by which he may be hurried into those things "that savor not of God, but of men; on which account Christ says to Peter, Matt. xvi. 23: "Get thee behind me, Satan." And if Christ call Peter a devil, whom he had described as a saint of the first magnitude, ver. 17; one divinely blessed and enlightened; what occasion may every believer have to call himself a devil! Yea, it is a part of his faith and sanity, to see and acknowledge, with shame before the Lord, his own devilish and desperately wicked heart and nature; which a blind, self-conceited world are ignorant of, being neither acquainted with themselves, nor God and his word. However, so it is, that the more any shall search the Scripture, the more, I hope they discern, not only by the texts I have quoted, but from many others also, the truth and evidence of every part of this book, however mysterious some passages of it may seem to many.

Though some of these lines may want the politeness that can please the curious age, yet, while they stand firm upon a scriptural foundation, none of them want authority, and that of the highest nature, except in the account of mockers, and those (of whom there are too many in our day) that are either Deists, who undervalue the Scripture, or Atheists, who deride it : and it is sadly to be regretted, that those people are hardened in their wicked principles and practices, by some that perhaps have a higher profession. For, I have seen two prints, one called the Groan and another the Laugh, wherein some lines, picked out among others, have been exposed to ridicule : but however such gentlemen may laugh at their own sport, and wickedly divert themselves with serious matters for a time, I fear their laughing will issue in weeping forever ; if God, by giving them repentance, do not make them groan to purpose, for the evidence they thus give of either their grievous ignorance of the Scripture, or their gross profanity, and of their readiness to yield themselves instruments of the devil, to promote the atheistical spirit of the age, which is bent enough (without any such provocations) to laugh at everything serious, sacred, and scriptural. This is so palpable, without my observation upon it, and so self-evident to all that fear God, and have had the patience to peruse such prints, that I would not have thought them worthy my noticing so far, as to make this bare mention of them had not Providence put the pen in my hand to face this edition, wherein scriptural proofs are added to that part of the book.

Reader, It gives me satisfaction enough to understand, that this book has already been useful and entertaining to some, however it is entertained by others. The Gospel itself is to some the savor of life, to others the savor of death; to some wisdom, to others foolishness; to some matter of faith, love, and comfort, to others a matter of mockery and scorn. I shall be far from bringing it any discredit or disparagement to this book, but meet with the like entertainment. May the Lord of heaven and earth, who overrules all things, accompany it, in its journeys abroad or at home, with blessing to many souls; and to his care I commit it, in the words of a famous Scots poet, upon Ps. xxxv. 1.

*Rerum sancte Opifex, ades,
Et patrocinio protege me tuo.*

Which may be adapted to the matter in hand thus :

The truth which hell may criticize,
Great God, be near to patronize.

A P O E M,

DEDICATED TO THE REVEREND MR. RALPH ERSKINE, BY A LADY
IN NEW ENGLAND, UPON READING HIS GOSPEL SONNETS.

ERSKINE, thou blessed herald found,
Till sin's black empire totter to the ground,
Well hast thou Sinai's awful flames display'd,
And rebels' doom before their conscience laid :
From sin, from self, from trust in duty fly,
Commit thy naked soul to Christ, or die.
Go on and prosper in the name of God,
Seraphic preacher, through the thorny road ;
The gracious Christ, thy labors will reward ;
His angel-bands be thy perpetual guard ;
Though hell's dark regions at the present hiss,
The God of glory thy strong refuge is.
Mere moral preachers have no pow'r to charm,
Thy lines are such my nobler passions warm ;
These glorious truths have set my soul on fire,
And while I read, I'm love and pure desire.
May the black train of errors hatch'd in hell
No longer on this globe in quiet dwell ;
May more like you be rais'd to show their shame,
And call them by their diabolic name.

Exalt the Lamb in lovely white and red,
Angels and saints his lasting honors spread ;
My trembling soul shall bear her feeble part,
'Tis he hath charmed my soul, and won my heart.
Bless'd be the Father for electing love,
Bless'd be the Son who does my guilt remove,
Bless'd be the Dove who does his grace apply.
Oh ! may I praising live, and praising die !

SOME ACCOUNT

OF THE

EV. MR. RALPH ERSKINE.

Rev. Mr. RALPH ERSKINE was honorably descended of very respectable ancestors; his father, the HENRY ERSKINE, being one of the thirty-three of RALPH ERSKINE of Shieldfield, a family of able repute and standing in the county of Merse, finally descended from the ancient house of MARJORAH and his brother, the Rev. Mr. EBENEZER, late minister of the gospel at Stirling, were the children of the said Rev. Mr. HENRY, who was some time minister of the gospel at Chirnside;* a man eminent for his piety and attachment to Presbyterian principles: for his steadfastness to which, he was subjected to many considerable hardships in the latter part of the last century, during the persecuting period of Charles II. and James VII.*

The author of the following poems was born at Monilaws, in the county of Northumberland, on Sabbath, the 15th of March, 1685, at three o'clock in the afternoon; and baptized at Chirnside, on the 5th of April of said year, by the Rev. Mr. William Violand.

He gave pretty early proofs of a great genius and fine fancy; and several instances of a pious disposition and a solid way of reflecting on matters. On this account he was, by his parents, early designed for the holy ministry, who resolved to give him a regular and liberal education, in order to qualify him for that important office.

When he had acquired a competent measure of grammar, and other introductory parts of education, he went to the university of Edinburgh, to complete his studies, where he went through the ordinary courses of philosophy and divinity with success, and made a considerable progress in all the different branches of literature; for, he soon became a fine Grecian, and excellent logician, and an accomplished philosopher. But after having acquired such a competent measure of knowledge, in these various branches of erudition, he gave himself up to the study of theology, his darling and beloved topic ; in which he made great progress, as his productions therein do abundantly evidence.

The ordinary course of philosophical and theological studies being gone through, at the college of Edinburgh, with success, he was, in the providence of God, called forth to appear in a public character ; and being well reported of, by all who knew him, for a conversation becoming the Gospel, he was accordingly taken upon trials by the presbytery of Dunfermline : and having finished the usual pieces of trial assigned him, to the entire satisfaction of the presbytery, he was by them licensed to preach, as a probationer, the everlasting Gospel, on the 8th of June, 1709 ; in which capacity he exercised the talents which the Lord had graciously conferred on him, within the bounds of the said Presbytery, both in vacancies and settled congregations, to the great satisfaction of his hearers, both ministers and people, as his certificate from that presbytery, dated April 4th, 1711, expressly bears. In this station of life he did not long remain : Providence soon opened a door for him ; and he got a unanimous call, from the parishioners of Dunfermline, on the first of May, 1711, to exercise his ministerial talents and abilities amongst them ; which call was approved of by the presbytery, on the day following, as regularly proceeded in. He went through the usual pieces of trial, for ordination, prescribed by the presbytery, with approbation; and thereupon they set him apart to the office of the holy ministry, in the collegiate charge of Dunfermline, on August 7th, 1711.

Under the character of a minister of the Gospel, having now a pastoral relation to a particular flock, in the church universal, he determined not to "know anything save Jesus Christ and him crucified:" he was "instant in season and out of season," in all parts of his ministerial labors, and gave himself wholly thereunto; exhorting the people under his trust, from house to house, in the way of family visitation; examining them more publicly upon the principles of our holy religion; visiting the sick when called; and preaching the everlasting Gospel, in which he had a very pleasant and edifying gift. He preached by turns, with his colleague, every Sabbath and Thursday, through the year: and afterwards, when he had none, for several years before his death, he officiated alone, very punctually, both on Sabbath and week day.

He delivered few extemporary productions. His sermons were generally the fruit of diligent study and assiduous application. For the most part he wrote all; and kept very close by his notes in the delivery, except when the Lord was pleased to carry in upon his mind, in time of preaching, some pat and apposite enlargements, whereof he had no previous study, and to which he nevertheless cheerfully gave way, as coming from Him, who has "the tongue of the learned;" who knows how to speak "a word in season to him that is weary;" and who says, "It shall be given you the same hour what ye shall speak; for it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father that speaketh in you." He was blessed with a rich and fertile invention, as appears in the agreeable and entertaining diversity, wherewith his heads of doctrine are everywhêre adorned. The poetical genius with which he was happily endowed, contributed not a little to the embellishment of his discourses, with a variety of pertinent epithets and striking metaphors.

His gift of preaching was both instructing and searching. Few outshone him in the nervous and convincing manner, whereby he confirmed the truth of the doctrines he insisted on; and fewer still in the warm and pathetic address, in which he enforced the practice of them.

He peculiarly excelled in the ample and free offers of Christ he made to his hearers; and the captivating and alluring methods he used, for gaining their compliance, or their receiving and resting on Christ alone for their salvation, as thus freely and fully exhibited unto them in the Gospel. On all which accounts he was justly esteemed, and much followed, as one of the most popular and edifying preachers of his day. During his time, sacramental solemnities, at Dunfermline, were very much crowded; numbers of people, from several parts of the kingdom, resorting unto them: and the Lord was pleased to countenance some of these communions, with evidences of his gracious presence and influence sweet and comfortable experience of many.

It will easily appear to the judicious and experienced reader, in perusing his writings, that he had as do a faculty in ransacking the plagues of the heart, ascribing the diversified circumstances of serious afflicted souls, as if they had fully communicated several doubts and cases unto him ; while, in the time, he was only unfolding the inward experience of his own soul, what he himself felt of the workings of the Holy Spirit, and of the powerful influence of the Holy Spirit in opposition thereunto ; which could not but agree with the operations of the selfsame Spirit in others ; for, " as in water, face answers to face, so doth the heart of man to man."

This eminent servant of Jesus Christ, being early devoted to godliness from his youth, became, by the grace of God, a " scribe instructed unto the kingdom of heaven," in whom our Lord compares to " an householder which bringeth forth out of his treasure, things new and old." Old invariable truths, but new illustrations of the same, and new experiences, the same with other saints before, but with new observations and improvements upon them : so that for the abundance of propriety, it may be said, that there are few perplexing doubts, or intricate cases, which other saints have at any time been exercised with, t not in some one or other of his sermons, very judiciously solved and distinctly elucidated or cleared up.

During our author's lifetime, and at the importunity of many of his acquaintances, both ministers and people, he published a great number of his sermons, on the most interesting subjects, which were well relished by the truly godly, and had their praises in the churches of Christ, both at home and abroad. These, with several others, transcribed from his notes, were first collected together, after his death, and published along with his poems, in two large volumes in folio, in the years 1764 and 1765, printed in an elegant manner; and, since that time, reprinted in ten large volumes octavo, for the more conveniency of readers and purchasers, with considerable additions and amendments.*

* That eminent divine, the late Rev. Dr. BRADBURY, in his preface to a collection of some of Mr. Erskine's Sermons, printed at London, in 1738, expresses himself in the following manner: "These Sermons," saith he, "have no need of my recommendation: the reader will find in them a faithful adherence to the design of the gospel, a clear defence of those doctrines that are the pillar and ground of truth, a large compass of thought, a strong force of argument, and a happy flow of words, which are both judicious and familiar; and they have been greatly blessed to the edification of many, especially the poor of the flock."

The words of the late justly celebrated and pious Mr. HERVEY are very significant, and truly expressive of the high esteem he had for Mr. ERSKINE's works.—"Was I to read with a single view to

We cannot dismiss this account of our author, without taking notice of another particular concerning him, which constitutes a very material branch of his character. He was not only deservedly esteemed, as a judicious DIVINE, but also much respected as a good POET: and he hath favored the world with several excellent productions of that nature, which have all met with a very favorable reception. His poetical talent was employed chiefly on divine subjects; he had no relish and taste for and other. In his younger years, at his leisure hours, he composed the following piece, which is now entitled GOSPEL SONNETS: or, Spiritual Songs, in six parts. The usefulness of this poetical compend of the revealed principles of our holy religion, for promoting the life of faith, comfort, and holiness, will be experienced, it is hoped, by many of the saints of God, to the latest posterity. This piece was so well relished, that it hath undergone a multitude of impressions; and the demand for it is as great as ever.

About the year 1738, he emitted into the world his poetical paraphrase upon the whole book of the SONG OF SOLOMON; which, indeed, is an evangelical comment, done in a strain adapted to the New Testament dispensation, upon that allegorical or figurative part of holy writ. This performance has likewise been very acceptable, and undergone a variety of editions.

By emitting the above poetical essays into the world, and some smaller performances, our author's abilities as a poet came to be known, and induced the reverend synod, of which he was a member, repeatedly to importune him to employ some of his vacant hours, in turning all the poetical passages of sacred writ into common metre, of the same kind with the Psalms of David. These recommendations he at last complied with; and his productions at last made their appearance, under the title of SCRIPTURE SONGS, selected from several passages in the Old and New Testament, which were well relished, and have now undergone several editions.

Our author, besides his sermons and poems, published several tracts, on some points of controversy, in which he displayed his abilities as a writer: particularly an elaborate treatise, entitled, FAITH NO FANCY; or, a Treatise of Mental Images: a book singularly valuable for the clear and perspicuous manner in which he hath handled and established this important point; every way worthy of our author, and reflected the greatest honor upon him; in regard it hath given the greatest display of his abilities, both as a divine and philosopher, and how capable he was to exhaust any point, when he set himself to it, even in an abstract way of reasoning: a book that effectually silenced all his opponents, and stands to this day unanswered.

This faithful and laborious servant of Jesus Christ labored successfully in the work of the ministry, and continued publicly useful in his Master's work, till within a few days of his departure; for he preached in his own pulpit on Sabbath the 29th of October, 1752, and he was thereafter seized, in the end of the same month, viz., October, 1752, with a nervous fever, (wherein, nevertheless, he enjoyed the exercise of his judgment and senses,) which lasted only for a few days, and at last was the happy messenger of freeing him from the incumbrances of an embodied state, and leading him to the world of spirits, and the regions of eternal bliss and felicity; for, on the eighth day of the fever, he fell asleep in the Lord, being Monday, Nov. 6th, 1752, in the 68th year of his age, after laboring unweariedly and successfully in the work of the ministry, among his flock in Dunfermline, for the space of forty-two years.

Mr. Erskine, our worthy author, affords room for large commendations, were we disposed to give them; and his complete character is truly great, and his disposition exceedingly amiable. If he is considered as to his natural endowments, he possessed many fine qualities; he had a sweet temper, a clear head, a rich invention, a lively imagination, and a great memory. If he is viewed as to his acquired abilities, he was well acquainted with all the useful branches of literature, necessary to adorn the scholar and the minister. If he is considered as to his office, he was a great and judicious divine, a pious evangelical preacher, and an able casuist. In short, he was not only a learned man, and an able divine, but an affectionate familiar friend, a social companion, a devout Christian, and a "burning and shining light."

By his death, the church of Christ lost a great light, a heroic champion for the truth, and a bold contender for the faith once delivered unto the saints. The body he was last connected with, have been deprived of an useful member, and a shining ornament to their cause. The congregation he labored among, lost an able, faithful minister, a laborious and successful wrestler, and a painful and diligent instructor. His family and relatives lost a true friend, an affectionate husband, a tender-hearted parent, and a striking pattern of virtue. His acquaintances and intimates, an endearing brother, a social companion, and an engaging friend.

Mr. Erskine was twice married. His first marriage was with Margaret Dewar, a daughter of the laird of Lassodie; which commenced the 15th of July, 1741. She lived with him about sixteen years; during which time she bore ten children, five sons and five daughters: three of these sons were ministers in the Association, viz., the Rev. Messrs. Henry, John, and James; the first ordained minister at Falkirk, the second at Lesslie, and the third at Stirling. All of them died in the prime of life, when they had given the world just ground to conceive high expectations of their usefulness in the church. —His second marriage was with Margaret Simson, a daughter of Mr. Simson, writer to the signet at Edinburgh, which took place, February 24th, 1732. She bore him four sons, and survived himself some few years. One of the sons of this marriage is still in life, and resides at London. All his other children are now removed by death.

HARK, dying mortal, if the Sonnet prove
A song of living and immortal love,
'Tis then thy grand concern the theme to know,
If life and immortality be so.
Are eyes to read, or ears to hear a trust?
Shall both in death be cramm'd anon with dust?
Then trifle not to please thine ear and eye,
But read thou, hear thou, for eternity
Pursue not shadows wing'd, but be thy chase,
The God of glory on the field of grace:
The mighty hunter's name is lost and vain,
That runs not this substantial prize to gain.

These humble lines assume no high pretence,
To please thy fancy, or allure thy sense :
But aim, if everlasting life 's thy chase,
To clear thy mind, and warm thy heart through grace.

A marriage so mysterious I proclaim,
Betwixt two parties of such different fame,
That human tongues may blush their names to tell,
To wit, the PRINCE of HEAVEN, the heir of hell !
But, on so vast a subject, who can find
Words suiting the conceptions of his mind ?
Or, if our language with our thought could vie,
What mortal thought can raise itself so high ?
When words and thoughts both fail, may faith and pray'r
Ascend by climbing up the Scripture stair :
From sacred writ these strange espousals may
Be explicated in the foll'wing way.

CHAPTER I.

A GENERAL ACCOUNT OF MAN'S FALL IN ADAM, AND THE REMEDY PROVIDED IN CHRIST : AND A PARTICULAR ACCOUNT OF MAN'S BEING NATURALLY WEDDED TO THE LAW, AS A COVENANT OF WORKS.

SECTION I.

THE FALL OF ADAM.

Old Adam once a heav'n of pleasure found,
While he with perfect innocence was crown'd ;
His wing'd affections to his God could move
In raptures of desire, and strains of love.
Man standing spotless, pure, and innocent,
Could well the law of works with works content ;
Though then, (nor since,) it could demand no less
Than personal and perfect righteousness :
These unto sinless man were easy terms,
Though now beyond the reach of wither'd arms,
The legal cov'nant then upon the field,
Perfection sought, man could perfection yield.
Rich had he, and his progeny, remain'd,
Had he primeval innocence maintain'd :

His life had been a rest without annoy,
A scene of bliss, a paradise of joy.
But subtile Satan, in the serpent hid,
Proposing fair the fruit that God forbid,
Man, soon seduc'd by hell's alluring art,
Did, disobedient, from the rule depart,
Devour'd the bait, and by his bold offence
Fell from his blissful state of innocence.*
Prostrate, he lost his God, his life, his crown,
From all his glory tumbled headlong down ;
Plung'd in a deep abyss of sin and woe,
Where, void of heart to will, or hand to do,
For 's own relief he can't command a thought,
The total sum of what he can is nought.
He 's able only now t' increase his thrall ;
He can destroy himself, and this is all.
But can the hellish brat Heav'n's law fulfil,
Whose precepts high surmount his strength and ski
Can filthy dross produce a golden beam ?
Or poison'd springs a salutif'rous stream ?
Can carnal minds, fierce enmity's wide maw,
Be duly subject to the divine law ?

* Gen. iii. 1—6.

Nay, now its direful threat'nings must take place
On all the disobedient human race,
Who do by guilt Omnipotence provoke,
Obnoxious stand to his uplifted stroke.
They must engulf themselves in endless woes,
Who to the living God are deadly foes ;
Who natively his holy will gainsay,
Must to his awful justice fall a prey.
In vain do mankind now expect, in vain
By legal deeds immortal life to gain :
Nay, death is threaten'd, threats must have their due,
Or souls that sin must die,* as God is true.

SECTION II.

REDEMPTION THROUGH CHRIST.

THE second Adam, sov'reign Lord of all,
Did, by his Father's authorising call,
From bosom of eternal love descend,
To save the guilty race that him offend ;
To treat an everlasting peace with those Who were and ever would have been his foes.

* Ezek. xviii. 4.

His errand, never ending life to give
To them, whose malice would not let him live ;
To make a match with rebels, and espouse
The brat which at his love her spite avows.
Himself he humbled to depress her pride,
And make his mortal foe his loving bride.
But, ere the marriage can be solemniz'd,
All lets must be remov'd, all parties pleas'd.
Law-righteousness requir'd, must be procur'd,
Law-vengeance threaten'd, must be full endur'd,
Stern justice must have credit by the match,
Sweet mercy by the heart the bride must catch.
Poor bankrupt ! all her debt must first be paid,
Her former husband in the grave be laid :
Her present lover must be at the cost,
To save and ransom to the uttermost :
If all these things this suitor kind can do,
Then he may win her, and her blessing too.
Hard terms indeed ! while death 's the first demand ;
But love is strong as death,* and will not stand
To carry on the suit, and make it good,
Though at the dearest rate of wounds and blood.

* Song, viii. 6.

The burden's heavy, but the back is broad,
The glorious lover is the mighty God.*
Kind bowels yearning in th' eternal Son,
He left his Father's court, his heav'nly throne :
Aside he threw his most divine array,
And wrapt his Godhead in a veil of clay.
Angelic armies, who in glory crown'd,
With joyful harps his awful throne surround,
Down to the crystal frontier of the sky †
To see the Saviour born, did eager fly ;
And ever since behold with wonder fresh
Their Sov'reign and our Saviour wrapt in flesh ;
Who in his garb did mighty love display,
Restoring what he never took away, ‡
To God his glory, to the law its due,
To heav'n its honor, to the earth its hue,
To man a righteousness divine, complete,
A royal robe to suit the nuptial rite.
He in her favors, whom he lov'd so well,
At once did purchase heav'n and vanquish hell.
Oh ! unexampled love ! so vast, so strong,
So great, so high, so deep, so broad, so long !

* Isa. ix. 6.

† Luke ii. 9—14.

‡ Psalm lxxix. 4.

Can finite thought this ocean huge explore,
Unconscious of a bottom or a shore ?
His love admits no parallel, for why,
At one great draught of love he drank hell dry.
No drop of wrathful gall he left behind ;
No dreg to witness that he was unkind.
The sword of awful justice pierc'd his side,
That mercy thence might gush upon the bride.
The meritorious labors of his life,
And glorious conquests of his dying strife ;
Her debt of doing, suff'ring, both cancell'd,
And broke the bars his lawful captive held.
Down to the ground the hellish host he threw,
Then mounting high the trump of triumph blew,
Attended with a bright seraphic band,
Sat down enthron'd sublime on God's right hand ;
Where glorious choirs their various harps employ,
To sound his praises with confed'rate joy.
There he, the bride's strong intercessor, sits,
And thence the blessings of his blood transmits,
Sprinkling all o'er the flaming throne of God,
Pleads for her pardon his atoning blood ;
Sends down his holy co-eternal Dove,
To show the wonders of incarnate love,

To woo and win the bride's reluctant heart,
And pierce it with his kindly killing dart ;
By gospel light to manifest that now
She has no further with the law to do ;
That her new Lord has loos'd the fed'ral tie,
That once hard bound her or to do or die ;
That precepts, threats, no single mite can crave.
Thus for her former spouse he digg'd a grave ;
The law fast to his cross did nail and pin,
Then bury'd the defunct his tomb within,
That he the lonely widow to himself might win.

SECTION III.

MAN'S LEGAL DISPOSITION.

BUT, after all, the bride's so malecontent,
No argument save pow'r is prevalent
To bow her will, and gain her heart's consent.
The glorious Prince's suit she disapproves,
The law, her old primordial husband, loves ;
Hopeful in its embraces life to have,
Though dead and bury'd in her suitor's grave ;
Unable to give life, as once before ;
Unfit to be a husband any more.

Yet proudly she the new address disdains,
And all the blest Redeemer's love and pains ;
Though now his head, that cruel thorns did wound,
Is with immortal glory circled round ;
Archangels at his awful footstool bow,
And drawing love sits smiling on his brow.
Though down he sends in gospel-tidings good
Epistles of his love, sign'd with his blood :
Yet lordly she the royal suit rejects,
Eternal life by legal works affects ;
In vain the living seeks among the dead,*
Sues quick'ning comforts in a killing head.
Her dead and bury'd husband has her heart,
Which can nor death remove, nor life impart.
Thus all revolting Adam's blinded race
In their first spouse their hope and comfort place.
They natively expect, if guilt them press,
Salvation by a home-bred righteousness :
They look for favor in JEHOVAH's eyes,
By careful doing all that in them lies.
'Tis still their primary attempt to draw
Their life and comfort from the vet'ran law ;

* Luke xxvi. 5.

They flee not to the hope the gospel gives ;
To trust a promise bare, their minds aggrieves,
Which judge the man that does, the man that lives.
As native as they draw their vital breath,
Their fond recourse is to the legal path.
Why, says old nature in law-wedded man,
"Wont Heav'n be pleas'd, if I do all I can ?
If I conform my walk to nature's light,
And strive, intent to practice what is right ;
Thus wont I by the God of heav'n be bless'd,
And win his favor if I do my best ?
Good God ! (he cries) when press'd with debt and thrall,
Have patience with me, and I'll pay thee all.*"
Upon their all, their best, they're fondly mad,
Though yet their all is naught, their best is bad,
Proud man his can does mightily exalts,
Yet are his brightest works but splendid faults.
A sinner may have shows of good, but still
The best he can, ev'n at his best, is ill.
Can Heav'n or divine favor e'er be win
By those that are a mass of hell and sin ?

* Matt. xviii. 26.

The righteous law does num'rous woes denounce
Against the wretched soul that fails but once :
What heaps of curses on their heads it rears,
That have amass'd the guilt of num'rous years !

SECTION IV.

MAN'S STRICT ATTACHMENT TO LEGAL TERMS, OR TO THE LAW
AS A CONDITION OF LIFE.

SAY, on what terms, then, Heav'n appeas'd will be ?
Why, sure perfection is the least degree.
Yea, more, full satisfaction must be giv'n
For trespass done against the laws of Heav'n.
These are the terms : what mortal back so broad,
But must forever sink beneath the load ?
A ransom must be found, or die they must,
Sure, ev'n as justice infinite is just.
But, says the legal, proud, self-righteous heart,
Which cannot with her ancient consort part,
"What ! wont the goodness of the God of Heav'n,
Admit of smalls, when greater cant be giv'n ?
He knows our fall diminish'd all our funds,
Wont he accept of pennies now for pounds ?
Sincere endeavors for perfection take,
Or terms more possible for mankind make ?"

Ah, poor divinity, and jargon loose ;
Such hay and straw will never build the house.
Mistake not here, proud mortal, don't mistake,
God changes not, nor other terms will make.
Will divine faithfulness itself deny,
Which swore solemnly, Man shall do, or die ?
Will God most true extend to us, forsooth,
His goodness, to the damage of his truth ?
Will spotless holiness be baffled thus ?
Or awful justice be unjust for us ?
Shall faithfulness be faithless for our sake,
And he his threats, as we his precepts break ?
Will our great Creditor deny himself,
And for full payment take our filthy pelf ?
Dispense with justice, to let mercy vent ?
And stain his royal crown with 'minish'd rent ?
Unworthy thought ! O let no mortal clod
Hold such base notions of a glorious God.
Heav'n's holy cov'nant, made for human race,
Consists, or whole of works, or whole of grace.
If works will take the field, then works must be
For ever perfect to the last degree :
Will God dispense with less ? Nay, sure he wont
With ragged toll his royal law affront.

Can rags, that Sinai flames will soon dispatch,
E'er prove the fiery law's adequate match?
Vain man must be divorc'd, and choose to take Another husband, or a burning lake.

We find the divine volume nowhere teach
New legal terms within our mortal reach.
Some make, though in the sacred page known,

Sincerity assume perfection's throne:
But who will boast this base usurper's sway,
Save ministers of darkness, that display
Invented night to stifle scripture day?
The nat'ralist's sincerity is naught,
That of the gracious is divinely taught;
Which teaching keeps their graces, if sincere,
Within the limits of the gospel sphere,
Where vaunting, none created graces sing,
Nor boast of streams, but of the Lord the spring.
Sincerity's the soul of ev'ry grace,
The quality of all the ransom'd race.
Of promis'd favor 'tis a fruit, a clause,
But no procuring term, no moving cause.

How unadvis'd the legal mind confounds
The marks of divine favor with the grounds,

And qualities of covenanted friends
With the condition of the cov'nant blends ?
Thus holding gospel truths with legal arms,
Mistakes new cov'nant fruits for fed'ral terms.
The joyful sound no change of terms allows,
But change of persons, or another spouse.
The nature same that sinn'd must do and die ;
No milder terms in gospel-offers lie.
For grace no other law abatement shows,
But how law-debtors may restore its dues ;
Restore, yea, through a Surety in their place,
With double int'rest and a better grace.
Here we of no new terms of life are told,
But of a husband to fulfil the old ;
With Him alone by faith we 're call'd to wed,
And let no rival bruik* the marriage bed.

SECTION V.

MEN'S VAIN ATTEMPT TO SEEK LIFE BY CHRIST'S RIGHTEOUSNESS JOINED WITH THEIR OWN; AND LEGAL HOPES NATURAL TO ALL.

But still the bride reluctant disallows
The junior suit, and hugs the senior spouse.

* Enjoy.

Such the old selfish folly of her mind,
So bent to lick the dust, and grasp the wind,
Alledging works and duties of her own
May for her criminal offence atone ;
She will her antic dirty robe provide,
Which vain she hopes will all pollutions hide.
The filthy rags that saints away have flung,
She holding, wraps and rolls herself in dung.
Thus maugre all the light the gospel gives,
Unto her nat'ral consort fondly cleaves.
Though mercy set the royal match in view,
She's loth to bid her ancient mate adieu.
When light of Scripture, reason, common sense,
Can hardly mortify her vain pretence
To legal righteousness ; yet if at last
Her conscience rous'd begins to stand aghast,
Press'd with the dread of hell, she'll rashly patch,
And halve a bargain with the proffer'd match ;
In hopes his help, together with her own,
Will turn to peaceful smiles the wrathful frown.
Though grace the rising Sun delightful sings,
With full salvation in his golden wings.
And righteousness complete ; the faithless soul,
Receiving half the light, rejects the whole ;

Revolves the sacred page, but reads purblind
The gospel message with the legal mind.
Men dream their state, ah! too, too slightly view'd,
Needs only be amended, not renew'd ;
Scorn to be wholly debtors unto grace,
Hopeful their works may meliorate their case.
They fancy present prayers, and future pains
Will for their former failings make amends :
To legal yokes they bow their servile necks
And, lest foul slips their false repose perplex,
Think Jesus' merits make up all defects.
They patch his glorious robe with filthy rags,
And burn but incense to their proper drags,*
Disdain to use his righteousness alone,
But as an aiding stirr'p to mount their own ;
Thus in Christ's room his rival self enthrone,
And vainly would, dress'd up in legal trim,
Divide salvation 'tween themselves and him.
But know, vain man, that to his share must fall
The glory of the whole, or none at all.
In him all wisdom's hidden treasures lie,†
And all the fulness of the Deity.‡

* Hab. i. 16.

† Col. ii. 3.

‡ Col. ii. 9.

This store alone, immense, and never spent,
Might poor insolvent debtors well content ;
But to hell-prison justly Heav'n will doom
Proud fools that on their petty stock presume.
The softest couch that gilded nature knows,
Can give the waken'd conscience no repose.
When God arraigns, what mortal pow'r can stand
Beneath the terror of his lifted hand !
Our safety lies beyond the nat'ral line,
Beneath a purple covert all divine.
Yet how is precious Christ, the way, despis'd,
And high the way of life by doing priz'd !
But can its vot'ries all its levy show ?
They prize it most, who least its burden know :
Who by the law in part would save his soul,
Becomes a debtor to fulfil the whole.*
Its pris'ner heremains, and without bail,
Till ev'ry mite be paid ; and if he fail,
(As sure he must, since, by our sinful breach, Perfection far surmounts all mortal reach),
Then curs'd for ever must his soul remain :
And all the folk of God must say, AMEN.†

* Gal. v. 3.

† Deut. xxvii. 26.

Why, seeking that the law should help afford,
In honoring the law, he slights its Lord.
Who gives his law fulfilling righteousness
To be the naked sinner's perfect dress,
In which he might with spotless beauty shine
Before the face of majesty divine :
Yet, lo ! the sinner works with mighty pains
A garment of his own to hide his stains ;
Ungrateful, overlooks the gifts of God,
The robe wrought by his hand, dy'd in his blood.

In vain the Son of God this web did weave,
Could our vile rags sufficient shelter give.
In vain he ev'ry thread of it did draw,
Could sinners be o'ermantled by the law.
Can men's salvation on their works be built,
Whose fairest actions nothing are but guilt ?
Or can the law suppress th' avenging flame,
When now its only office is to damn ?
Did life come by the law in part or whole,
Blest Jesus died in vain to save a soul.
Those then who life by legal means expect,
To them is Christ become of no effect ;*

* Gal. ii. 21 ; v. 2, 4.

Because their legal mixtures do in fact
Wisdom's grand project plainly counteract.
How close proud carnal reasonings combine,
To frustrate sov'reign grace's great design !
Man's heart by nature weds the law alone,
Nor will another paramour enthrone.

True, many seem by course of life profane,
No favor for the law to entertain :
But break the bands, and cast the cords away,
That would their raging lusts and passions stay.
Yet ev'n this reigning madness may declare,
How strictly wedded to the law they are ;
For now (however rich they seem'd before)
Hopeless to pay law-debt, they give it o'er,
Like desp'rate debtors mad, still run themselves more.

Despair of success shows their strong desires,
Till legal hopes are parch'd in lustful fires.
" Let's give, say they, our lawless will free scope,
And live at random, for there is no hope."*
The law, that can't them help, they stab with hate,
Yet scorn to beg, or court another mate.

* Jer. xviii. 12.

Her lusts most opposite their hearts divide,
Their beastly passion, and their bankrupt pride.
In passion they their native mate deface,
In pride disdain to be oblig'd to grace.
Hence plainly as a rule 'gainst law they live,
Yet closely to it as a cov'nant cleave.
Thus legal pride lies hid beneath the patch,
And strong aversion to the gospel-match.

CHAPTER II.

THE MANNER OF A SINNER'S DIVORCE FROM THE LAW IN A WORK OF HUMILIATION, AND OF HIS MARRIAGE TO THE LORD JESUS CHRIST ; OR, THE WAY HOW A SINNER COMES TO BE A BELIEVER.

SECTION I.

OF A LAW-WORK, AND THE WORKINGS OF LEGAL PRIDE UNDER IT.

So proud 's the bride, so backwardly dispos'd ;
How then shall e'er the happy match be clos'd ?
Kind grace the tumults of her heart must quell,
And draw her heav'nward by the gates of hell.
The Bridegroom's Father makes, by 's holy Sp'rit,
His stern command with her stiff conscience meet ;
To dash her pride, and show her utmost need,
Pursues for double debt with awful dread.
He makes her former husband's frightful ghost
Appear and damn her, as a bankrupt lost ;
With curses, threats, and Sinai thunder-claps
Her lofty tow'r of legal boasting saps.
These humbling storms, in high or low degrees,
Heav'n's Majesty will measure as he please ;

But still he makes the fiery law at least
Pronounce its awful sentence in her breast,
Till through the law* convict of being lost.
She hopeless to the law gives up the ghost:
Which now in rigor comes full debt to crave
And in close prison cast; but not to save.
For now 'tis weak and can't (through our default)
Its greatest votaries to life exalt.
But well it can command with fire and flame,
And to the lowest pit of ruin damn.
Thus doth it, by commission from above,
Deal with the bride, when Heav'n would court her love.
Lo! now she startles at the Sinai trump,
Which throws her soul into a dismal dump,
Conscious another husband she must have,
Else die forever in destruction's grave.
While in conviction's jail she's thus inclos'd,
Glad news are heard, the royal Mate's propos'd.
And now the scornful bride's inverted stir
Is racking fear, he scorns to match with her.
She dreads his fury, and despairs that he Will ever wed so vile a wretch as she.

* Gal. ii. 19.

And here the legal humor stirs again
To her prodigious loss, and grievous pain :
For when the Prince presents himself to be
Her husband, then she deems : Ah ! is not he Too fair a match for such a filthy bride ?
Unconscious that the thought bewrays her pride,
Ev'n pride of merit, pride of righteousness,
Expecting Heav'n should love her for her dress ;
Unmindful how the fall her face did stain,
And made her but a black unlovely swain ;
Her whole primeval beauty quite defac'd,
And to the rank of fiends her form debas'd ;
Without disfigur'd, and defil'd within,
Uncapable of anything but sin.
Heav'n courts not any for their comely face,
But for the glorious praise of sov'reign grace,
Else ne'er had courted one of Adam's race,
Which all as children of corruption be,
Heirs rightful of immortal misery.
Yet here the bride employs her foolish wit,
For this bright match her ugly form to fit ;
To daub her features o'er with legal paint,
That with a grace she may herself present.

Hopeful the Prince with credit might her wed,
If once some comely qualities she had.
In humble pride, her haughty spirit flags ;
She cannot think of coming all in rags.
Were she a humble, faithful penitent,
She dreams he 'd then contract with full content :
Base varlet ! thinks she 'd be a match for him,
Did she but deck herself in handsome trim.
Ah ! foolish thoughts ! in legal deeps that plod,
Ah ! sorry notions of a sov'reign God !
Will God expose his great, his glorious Son,
For our vile baggage to be sold and won ?
Should sinful modesty the match decline,
Until its garb be brisk and superfine ;
Alas ! when should we see the marriage-day ?
The happy bargain must flee up for ay.
Presumptuous souls in surly modesty,
Half-saviours themselves would fondly be.
Then hopeful th' other half their due will fall,
Disdain to be in Jesus' debt for all.
Vainly the first would wash themselves, and then
Address the fountain to be wash'd more clean ;
First heal themselves, and then expect the balm :
Ah ! many slightly cure their sudden qualm.

They heal their conscience with a tear or pray'r ;
And seek no other Christ, but perish there.
O sinner ! search the house, and see the thief
That spoils thy Saviour's crown, thy soul's relief,
The hid, but heinous sin of unbelief.
Who can possess a quality that 's good,
Till first he come to Jesus' cleansing blood ?
The pow'r that draws the bride, will also show
Unto her by the way her hellish hue,
As void of ev'ry virtue to commend,
And full of ev'ry vice that will offend.
'Till sov'reign grace the sullen bride shall catch,
She'll never fit herself for such a match.
Most qualifi'd they are in heav'n to dwell,
Who see themselves most qualifi'd for hell ;
And, ere the bride can drink salvation's cup,
Kind Heav'n must reach to hell and lift her up :
For no decorum e'er about her found
Is she belov'd ; but on a nobler ground.
JEHOVAH'S love is like his nature free,
Nor must his creature challenge his decree ;
But low at sov'reign grace's footstool creep,
Whose ways are searchless, and whose judgment deep.

Yet grace's suit meets with resistance rude
From haughty souls; for lack of innate good
To recommend them. Thus the backward bride
Affronts her suitor with her modest pride.
Black hatred for his offer'd love repays,
Pride under mask of modesty displays:
In part would save herself; hence, saucy soul!
Rejects the matchless Mate would save in whole.

SECTION II.

CONVICTION OF SIN AND WRATH, CARRIED ON MORE DEEPLY AND EFFECTUALLY IN THE HEART.

So proudly forward is the bride, and now
Stern Heav'n begins to stare with cloudier brow;
Law-curses come with more condemning pow'r,
To scorch her conscience with a fiery show'r.
And more refulgent flashes darted in;
For by the law the knowledge is of sin.*
Black Sinai, thund'ring louder than before,
Does awful in her lofty bosom roar.
Heav'n's furious storms now rise from ev'ry airth, †
In ways more terrible to shake the earth, ‡

* Rom. iii. 20.

† Wind, or quarter.

‡ Isa. ii. 17, 19.

Till haughtiness of men be sunk thereby,
That Christ alone may be exalted high.
Now stable earth seems from her centre tost,
And lofty mountains in the ocean lost.
Hard rocks of flint, and haughty hills of pride,
Are torn in pieces by the roaring tide.
Each flash of new conviction's lucid rays
Heart-errors, undiscern'd till now, displays :
Wrath's massy cloud upon the conscience breaks :
And thus menacing Heav'n, in thunder speaks :
" Black wretch, thou madly under foot hast trode
Th' authority of a commanding God ;
Thou, like thy kindred that in Adam fell,
Art but a law-renversing lump of hell,
And there by law and justice doom'd to dwell."
Now, now, the daunted bride her state bewails,
And downward furls her self-exalting sails ;
With pungent fear, and piercing terror brought
To mortify her loftly legal thought.
Why, the commandment comes, sin is reviv'd,*
That lay so hid, while to the law she liv'd ;
Infinite majesty in God is seen,
And infinite malignity in sin ;

* Rom. vii. 9.

That to its expiation must amount
A sacrifice of infinite account.
Justice its dire severity displays,
The law its vast dimensions open lays.
She sees for this broad standard nothing meet,
Save an obedience sinless and complete.
Her cobweb righteousness, once in renown,
Is with a happy vengeance now swept down.
She who of daily faults could once but prate,
Sees now her sinful, miserable state.
Her heart, where once she thought some good to dwell,
The devil's cabinet fill'd with trash of hell.
Her boasted features now unmasked bare,
Her vaunted hopes are plung'd in deep despair.
Her haunted shelter-house in by-past years,
Comes tumbling down about her frightened ears.
Her former rotten faith, love, penitence,
She sees a bowing wall, and tott'ring fence.
Excellencies of thought, and word, and deed,
All swimming, drowning in a sea of dread ;
Her beauty now deformity she deems,
Her heart much blacker than the devil seems.
With ready lips she can herself declare
The vilest ever breath'd in vital air.

Her former hopes, as refuges of lies,
Are swept away, and all her boasting dies.
She once imagin'd Heav'n would be unjust
To damn so many lumps of human dust
Form'd by himself; but now she owns it true,
Damnation surely is the sinner's due:
Yea, now applauds the law's just doom so well,
That justly she condemns herself to hell;
Does herein divine equity acquit,
Herself adjudging to the lowest pit.
Her language, "Oh! if God condemn, I must
From bottom of my soul declare him just:
But if his great salvation me embrace,
How loudly will I sing surprising grace!
If from the pit he to the throne me raise,
I'll rival angels in his endless praise.
If hell-deserving me to heav'n he bring,
No heart so glad, no tongue so loud shall sing.
If wisdom has not laid the saving plan,
I nothing have to claim, I nothing can.
My works but sin, my merit death I see;
Oh! mercy, mercy, mercy! pity me."
Thus all self-justifying pleas are dropp'd,
Most guilty she becomes, her mouth is stopp'd.

Pungent remorse does her past conduct blame,
And flush her conscious cheek with spreading shame.
Her self-conceited heart is self-convict,
With barbed arrows of compunction prick'd :
Wonders, how justice spares her vital breath,
How patient Heav'n adjourns the day of wrath ;
How pliant earth does not with open jaws
Devour her, Korah-like, for equal cause ;
How yawning hell, that gapes for such a prey,
Is frustrate with a further hour's delay.
She that could once her mighty works exalt,
And boast devotion fram'd without a fault.
Extol her nat'ral pow'rs, is now brought down,
Her former madness, not her pow'rs, to own.
Her present beggar'd state, most void of grace,
Unable even to wail her woful case,
Quite pow'rless to believe, repent, or pray ;
Thus pride of duties flies and dies away.
She, like a harden'd wretch, a stupid stone,
Lies in the dust, and cries, Undone, undone,

SECTION III.

THE DEEPLY HUMBLED SOUL RELIEVED WITH SOME DISCOVERIES OF CHRIST THE REDEEMER.

WHEN thus the wounded bride perceives full
Herself the vilest sinner out of hell,
The blackest monster in the universe ;
Pensive if clouds of woe shall e'er disperse.
When in her breast Heav'n's wrath so fiercely ;
'Twixt fear and guilt her bones have no repose.
When flowing billows of amazing dread
Swell to a deluge o'er her sinking head ;
When nothing in her heart is found to dwell,
But horrid Atheism, enmity, and hell ;
When endless death and ruin seems at hand,
And yet she cannot for her soul command
A sigh to ease it, or a gracious thought,
Though heav'n could at this petty rate be boug
When darkness and confusion overcloud.
And unto black despair temptations crowd ;
When wholly without strength to move or stir,
And not a star by night appears to her :
But she, while to the brim her troubles flow,
Stands trembling on the utmost brink of woe.

! weary case! But, lo! in this sad plight in arises with surprising light.
darkest midnight is his usual time ing and appearing in his prime.
ow the hills from whence salvation springs,
hase the gloomy shades with golden wings,
lorious Husband now unveils his face,

Each golden letter of his glorious name
Bears full deliv'rance both from sin and shame.
Yea, not privation bare from sin and wo,
But thence all positive salvations flow,
To make her wise, just, holy, happy too.
He now appears a match exactly meet
To make her ev'ry way in him complete,
In whom the fulness of the Godhead dwells,†
That she may boast in him, and nothing else.
In gospel lines she now perceives the dawn
Of Jesus' love with bloody pencil drawn;
How God in him is infinitely pleas'd,
And Heav'n's avenging fury whole appeas'd:
Law-precepts magnifi'd by her belov'd,
And ev'ry let to stop the match remov'd.
Now in her view her prison-gates break ope,
Wide to the walls flies up the door of hope;
And now she sees with pleasure unexpress'd
For shatter'd barks a happy shore of rest.

SECTION IV.

ING OF THE SPIRIT OF FAITH IN SEPARATING THE HEART
SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS, AND DRAWING OUT ITS CONSENT
SIRE AFTER CHRIST ALONE AND WHOLLY.

de at Sinai little understood, law-humblings were design'd for good,
the value of her Husband's blood.
of tott'ring pride thus batter'd down,
r for Christ alone to wear the crown.
's arrows pierc'd her heart, that so from his pierc'd heart, to hers might flow.
sharp plough tears up the fallow ground,
a grain of grace was to be found,
t perhaps behind the plough is sown
a seed of faith, as yet unknown.
the once reluctant bride's inclin'd
e gospel an assenting mind,
) take, would grace the pow'r impart, ffer with a free consenting heart.
in the gospel chariot rides, his loving heart to draw the bride's ;
in clouds his drawing pow'r he hides.

His love in gracious offers to her bears,
In kindly answers to her doubts and fears,
Resolving all objections more or less
From former sins, or present worthlessness.
Persuades her mind of 's conjugal consent,
And then impow'rs her heart to say, Content :
Content to be divorced from the law,
No more the yoke of legal terms to draw :
Content that he dissolve the former match,
And to himself alone her heart attach :
Content to join with Christ at any rate,
And wed him as her everlasting mate :
Content that he should ever wear the bays,
And of her whole salvation have the praise :
Content that he should rise, though she should fall,
And to be nothing, that he may be all.
Content that he, because she nought can do,
Do for her all her work, and in her too.
Here she a peremptory mind displays,
That he do all the work, get all the praise.
And now she is, which ne'er till now took place,
Content entirely to be sav'd by grace,
She owns that her damnation just would be,
And therefore her salvation must be free :

That nothing being hers but sin and thrall,
She must be debtor unto grace for all.

Hence comes she to him in her naked case,
To be invested with his righteousness.

She comes, as guilty, to a pardon free ;

As vile and filthy, to a cleansing sea :

As poor and empty, to the richest stock ;

As weak and feeble, to the strongest rock :

As perishing, unto a shield from thrall ;

As worse than nothing, to an all in all.

She as a blinded mole, an ign'rant fool,

Comes for instruction to the Prophet's school.

She, with a hell-deserving conscious breast,

Flees for atonement to the worthy Priest.

She, as a slave to sin and Satan, wings

Her flight for help unto the King of kings.

She all her maladies and plagues brings forth

To this Physician of eternal worth.

She spreads before his throne her filthy sore ;

And lays her broken bones down at his door.

No mite she has to buy a crumb of bliss,

And therefore comes impov'rish'd, as she is.

By sin and Satan of all good bereft,

Comes e'en as bare as they her soul have left.

To sense, as free of holiness within,
As Christ, the spotless Lamb, was free of sin.
She comes by faith, true ; but it shows her want,
And brings her as a sinner, not a saint ;
A wretched sinner flying for her good
To justifying, sanctifying blood.
Strong faith no strength, nor pow'r of acti
vaunts,
But acts in sense of weakness and of wants.
Drain'd now of ev'rything that men may call
Terms and conditions of relief from thrall ;
Except this one, that Jesus be her all.
When to the bride he gives espousing faith,
It finds her under sin, and guilt, and wrath,
And makes her as a plagued wretch to fall
At Jesus' footstool for the cure of all.
Her whole salvation now in him she seeks,
And musing thus perhaps in secret speaks :
"Lo ! all my burdens may in him be eas'd ;
The justice I offended he has pleas'd ;
The bliss that I have forfeit he procur'd ;
The curse that I deserved he endur'd ;
The law that I have broken he obey'd ;
The debt that I contracted he has paid :

ough a match unfit for him I be,
him ev'ry way most fit for me.
weet Lord, I think, would thou thyself impart, elcome thee with open hand and heart.
ou that sav'st by price, must save by pow'r ;
l thy Spirit in a fiery show'r, old and frozen heart of mine to thaw, ought, save cords of burning love, can draw.
r me, Lord, then will I run to thee, lad into thy glowing bosom flee.
myself a mass of sin and hell,
; that can do nothing but rebel :
dst thou not, as sacred pages show,*
rising up to spoil the hellish crew, ad by thousands, sinners captive made, adst in conqu'ring chains them captive led) natives, not for thy proper gain, yal bounties for rebellious men,
graces, and the Spirit without bounds, od's new house with man on firmer grounds ?
let me a rebel now come speed,
oly Spirit is the gift I need.

* Psalm lxxviii. 18.

His precious graces too, the glorious grant,
 Thou kindly promis'd, and I greatly want.
 Thou art exalted to the highest place,
 To give repentance forth, and ev'ry grace.*
 O Giver of spiritual life and breath,
 The Author and the Finisher of faith; †
 Thou, husband-like, must ev'rything provide,
 If e'er the like of me become thy bride."

SECTION V.

FAITH'S VIEW OF THE FREEDOM OF GRACE, CORDIAL RENUNCIATION
 OF ALL ITS OWN RAGGED RIGHTEOUSNESS, AND FORMAL ACCURSION OF AND CLOSING WITH THE PERSON OF GLORIOUS CHRIST

THE bride with open eyes, that once were dim,
 Sees now her whole salvation lies in him,
 The Prince, who is not in dispensing nice,
 But freely gives without her pains or price.
 This magnifies the wonder in her eye,
 Who not a farthing has wherewith to buy;
 For now her humbled mind can disavow
 Her boasted beauty and assuming brow;

* Acts v. 31.

† Heb. xii. 2.

With conscious eye discern her emptiness,
With candid lips her poverty confess.
"O glory to the Lord, that grace is free,
Else never would it light on guilty me.
I nothing have with me to be its price,
But hellish blackness, enmity, and vice."
In former times she durst presuming come
To grace's market with a petty sum
Of duties, prayers, tears, a boasted set,
Expecting Heav'n would thus be in her debt.
These were the price, at least she did suppose She'd be the welcomer because of those :
But now she sees the vileness of her vogue,
The dung that close doth ev'ry duty clog ;
The sin that doth her holiness reprove,
The enmity that close attends her love ;
The great heart-hardness of her penitence,
The stupid dulness of her vaunted sense ;
The unbelief of former blazed faith,
The utter nothingness of all she hath.
The blackness of her beauty she can see,
The pompous pride of strain'd humility,
The naughtiness of all her tears and pray'rs,
And now renounces all as worthless wares ;

And finding nothing to commend herself,
But what might damn her, her embezzled pelf,
At sov'reign grace's feet does prostrate fall,
Content to be in Jesus' debt for all.
Her noised virtues vanish out of sight,
As starry tapers at meridian light ;
While sweetly, humbly, she beholds at length
Christ, as her only righteousness and strength.
He with the view throws down his loving dart,
Imprest with pow'r into her tender heart.
The deeper that the law's fierce dart was thrown,
The deeper now the dart of love goes down :
Hence, sweetly pain'd, her cries to heav'n do flee :
" O none but Jesus, none but Christ for me : "
O glorious Christ, O beauty, beauty rare,
Ten thousand thousand heav'ns are not so fair.
In him at once all beauties meet and shine,
The white and ruddy, human and divine.
As in his low, he's in his high abode,
The brightest image of the unseen God.*
How justly do the harpers sing above,
His doing, dying, rising, reigning love ?

* Heb. i. 3.

How justly does he, when his work is done,
Possess the centre of his Father's throne ?
How justly does his awful throne before
Seraphic armies prostrate him adore ;
That's both by nature and donation crown'd,
With all the grandeur of the Godhead round ?

“ But wilt thou, Lord, in very deed come dwell
With me, that was a burning brand of hell ?
With me, so justly reckon'd worse and less
Than insect, mite, or atom can express ?
Wilt thou debase thy high imperial form,
To match with such a mortal, crawling worm ?
Yea, sure thine errand to our earthly coast,
Was in deep love to seek and save the lost ; *
And since thou deign'st the like of me to wed,
O come and make my heart thy marriage-bed.
Fair Jesus, wilt thou marry filthy me ?
Amen, amen, amen ; so let it be.”

* Luke xix. 10.

CHAPTER III.

THE FRUITS OF THE BELIEVER'S MARRIAGE WITH CHRIST PARTICULARLY GOSPEL HOLINESS AND OBEDIENCE TO LAW AS A RULE.

SECTION I.

THE SWEET SOLEMNITY OF THE MARRIAGE NOW OVER, AND SAD EFFECTS OF THE REMAINS OF A LEGAL SPIRIT.

THE match is made, with little din 't is done,
But with great power, unequal prizes won.
The Lamb has fairly won his worthless bride ;
She her great Lord, and all his store beside.
He made the poorest bargain, though most wise ;
And she, the fool, has won the worthy prize.

Deep floods of everlasting love and grace,
That under ground ran an eternal space,
Now rise aloft 'bove banks of sin and hell,
And o'er the tops of massy mountains swell.
In streams of blood are tow'rs of guilt o'erflown,
Down with the rapid purple current thrown.

The bride now as her all can Jesus own,
And prostrate at his footstool cast her crown,

Disclaiming all her former groundless hope,
While in the dark her soul did weary grope.
Down tumble all the hills of self-conceit,
In him alone she sees herself complete ;
Does his fair person with fond arms embrace,
And all her hopes on his full merit place ;
Discard her former mate, and henceforth draw
No hope, no expectation from the law.

Though thus her new-created nature soars,
And lives aloft on Jesus' heav'nly stores ;
Yet apt to stray, her old adult'rous heart
Oft takes her old renounced husband's part :
A legal cov'nant is so deep ingrain'd,
Upon the human nature laps'd and stain'd,
That, till her spirit mount the purest clime,
She's never totally divorc'd in time.
Hid in her corrupt part's proud bosom, lurks
Some hope of life still by the law of works.

Hence flow the following evils more or less ;
Preferring oft her partial holy dress,
Before her Husband's perfect righteousness.

Hence joying more in grace already giv'n
Than in her Head and stock that's all in Heav'n.

Hence grieving more the want of frames and gr
Than of himself the spring of all solace.

Hence guilt her soul imprisons, lusts prevail,
While to the law her rents insolvent fail,
And yet her faithless heart rejects her Husband

Hence foul disorders rise, and racking fears,
While doubtful of his clearing past arrears ;
Vain dreaming, since her own obedience fails,
His likewise little for her help avails.

Hence duties are a task, while all in view
Is heavy yoke of laws, or old or new :
Whereas, were once her legal bias broke,
She 'd find her Lord's commands an easy yoke.
No galling precepts on her neck he lays,
Nor any debt demands, save what he pays
By promis'd aid ; but, lo ! the grievous law,
Demanding brick, wont aid her with a straw.

Hence also fretful, grudging, discontent,
Crav'd by the law, finding her treasure spent,
And doubting if her Lord will pay the rent.

Hence pride of duties too does often swell,
Presuming she perform'd so very well.

Hence pride of graces and inherent worth
Springs from her corrupt legal bias forth ;

And boasting more a present with'ring frame,
Than her exalted Lord's unfading name.

Hence many falls and plunges in the mire,
As many new conversions do require :
Because her faithless heart sad follies breed,
Much lewd departure from her living Head,
Who, to reprove her aggravated crimes,
Leaves her abandon'd to herself at times ;
That, falling into frightful deeps, she may
From sad experience learn more stress to lay,
Not on her native efforts, but at length
On Christ alone, her righteousness and strength :
Conscious while in her works she seeks repose,
Her legal spirit breeds her many woes.

SECTION II.

FAITH'S VICTORIES OVER SIN AND SATAN, THROUGH NEW AND FURTHER DISCOVERIES OF CHRIST, MAKING BELIEVERS MORE FRUITFUL IN HOLINESS THAN ALL OTHER PRETENDERS TO WORKS.

THE gospel path leads heav'nward ; hence the fray,
Hell pow'rs still push the bride the legal way.

So hot the war, her life 's a troubled flood,
A field of battle, and a scene of blood.
But he that once commenc'd the work in her,
Whose working fingers drop the sweetest myrrh,
Will still advance it by alluring force,
And, from her ancient mate, more clean divorce :
Since 't is her antiquated spouse the law,
The strength of sin and hell did on her draw.
Piecemeal she finds hell's mighty force abate,
By new recruits from her almighty Mate.
Fresh armor sent from grace's magazine,
Makes her proclaim eternal war with sin.
The shield of faith, dipt in the Surety's blood,
Drowns fiery darts, as in a crimson flood.
The Captain's ruddy banner, lifted high,
Makes hell retire, and all the furies fly.
Yea, of his glory every recent glance
Makes sin decay, and holiness advance.
In kindness therefore does her heav'nly Lord
Renew'd discov'ries of his love afford.
That her enamor'd soul may with the view
Be cast into his holy mould anew :
For when he manifests his glorious grace,
The charming favor of his smiling face,

Into his image fair transforms her soul,*
And wafts her upward to the heav'nly pole,
From glory unto glory by degrees,
Till vision and fruition shall suffice.
And thus in holy beauty Jesus' bride
Shines far beyond the painted sons of pride,
Vain merit-vouchers, and their subtle apes,
In all their most refin'd, delusive shapes.
No lawful child is ere the marriage born ;
Though therefore virtues feign'd their life adorn.
The fruit they bear is but a spurious brood,
Before this happy marriage be made good.
And 't is not strange ; for, from a corrupt tree
No fruit divinely good produc'd can be.†
But, lo ! the bride, graft in the living Root,
Brings forth most precious aromatic fruit.
When her new heart and her new Husband meet,
Her fruitful womb is like a heap of wheat,
Beset with fragrant lilies round about, ‡
All divine graces, in a comely rout,
Burning within, and shining bright without.

* 2 Cor. iii. 18.

† Matt. vii. 17, 18.

‡ Cant. vii. 2.

And thus the bride, as sacred scripture saith,
When dead unto the law through Jesus' death,*
And match'd with him, bears to her God and Lord
Accepted fruit, with incense pure decor'd.
Freed from law debt, and bless'd with gospel ease,
Her work is now her dearest Lord to please,
By living on him as her ample stock,
And leaning to him as her potent rock.
The fruit, that each law-wedded mortal brings
To self accresces, as from self it springs.
So base a rise must have a base recourse,
The stream can mount no higher than its source.
But Jesus can his bride's sweet fruit commend,
As brought from him the root, to him the end.
She does by such an offspring him avow
To be her Alpha and Omega too.
The work and warfare he begins, he crowns,
Though maugre various conflicts, ups and downs.
Thus through the darksome vale she makes her way
Until the morning-dawn of glory's day.

* Rom. vii. 4.

SECTION III.

TRUE SAVING FAITH MAGNIFYING THE LAW, BOTH AS A COVENANT
AND AS A RULE.—FALSE FAITH UNFRUITFUL AND RUINING.

PROUD nature may reject this gospel theme,
And curse it as an Antinomian scheme.
Let slander bark, let envy grin and fight,
The curse that is so causeless shall not light.*
If they that fain would make by holy force
'Twixt sinners and the law a clean divorce,
And court the Lamb a virgin chaste to wife,
Be charg'd as foes to holiness of life,
Well may they suffer gladly on this score,
Apostles great were so malign'd before.
Do we make void the law through faith ?† nay, why,
We do it more fulfil and magnify
Than fiery seraphs can with holiest flash ;
Avaunt, vain legalists, unworthy trash.

When as a cov'nant stern the law commands,
Faith puts her Lamb's obedience in its hands ;
And when its threats gush out a fiery flood,
Faith stops the current with her victim's blood.

* Prov. xxvi. 2.

† Rom. iii. 31.

The law can crave no more, yet craves no less,
Than active, passive, perfect righteousness.
Yet here is all, yea, more than its demand,
All render'd to it by a divine hand.
Mankind is bound law-service still to pay,
Yea, angel-kind is also bound t' obey.
It may by human and angelic blaze
Have honor, but in finite, partial ways.
These natures have its lustre once defac'd,
'T will be by part of both for ay disgrac'd,
Yet, had they all obsequious stood and true,
They 'd giv'n the law no more than homage due.
But faith gives 't honor yet more great, more odd,
The high, the humble service of its God.

Again to view the holy law's command,
As lodged in a Mediator's hand ;
Faith gives it honor, as a rule of life,
And makes the bride the Lamb's obedient wife.
Due homage to the law those never did,
To whom th' obedience pure of faith is hid.
Faith works by love,* and purifies the heart,†
And truth advances in the inward part ;

* Eph. ii. 10.

† Gal. v. 9.

On carnal hearts impresses divine stamps,
And sullied lives inverts to shining lamps.
From Abram's seed that are most strong in faith,
The law most honor, God most glory hath.
But due respect to neither can be found,
Where unbelief ne'er got a mortal wound,
To still the virtue-vaunter's empty sound.
Good works he boasts, a path he never trod,
Who is not yet the workmanship of God,*
In Jesus thereunto created new ;
Nois'd works that spring not hence are but a show,
True faith, that 's of a noble divine race,
Is still a holy sanctifying grace :
And greater honor to the law does share,
Than boasters all that breathe the vital air.
Ev'n heathen morals vastly may outshine
The works that flow not from a faith divine.
Pretensions high to faith a number have,
But, ah ! it is a faith that cannot save :
We trust, say they, in Christ, we hope in God :
Nor blush to blaze their rotten faith abroad.

* Eph. ii. 9.

Nor try the trust of which they make a show,
If of a saving or a damning hue.
They own their sins are ill; true, but 't is sad
They never thought their faith and hope were bad.
How evident 's their home-bred nat'ral blaze,
Who dream they have believ'd well all their days;
Yet never felt their unbelief, nor knew
The need of pow'r their nature to renew!
Blind souls that boast of faith, yet live in sin,
May hence conclude their faith is to begin;
Or know they shall, by such an airy faith,
Believe themselves to everlasting wrath.
Faith that nor leads to good, nor keeps from ill,
Will never lead to heav'n, nor keep from hell.
The body without breath is dead;* no less
Is faith without the works of holiness.†
How rare is saving faith, when earth is cramm'd
With such as will believe, and yet be damn'd;
Believe the gospel, yet with dread and awe
Have never truly first believ'd the law!
That matters shall be well, they hope too soon
Who never yet have seen they were undone.

* James ii. 26.

† James ii. 17, 20.

Can of salvation their belief be true,
Who never yet believ'd damnation due?
Can these of endless life have solid faith,
Who never fear'd law-threats of endless death?
Nay, sail'd they ha'nt yet to the healing shore,
Who never felt their sinful, woful sore.

Imaginary faith is but a blind,
That bears no fruit but of a deadly kind:
Nor can from such a wild unwholesome root
The least production rise of living fruit,
But saving faith can such an offspring breed,
Her native product is a holy seed.
The fairest issues of the vital breath
Spring from the fertile womb of heav'n-born faith;
Yet boasts she nothing of her own, but brings
Auxiliaries from the King of kings,
Who graves his royal law in rocky hearts,
And gracious aid in softening show'rs imparts:
This gives prolific virtue to the faith,
Inspir'd at first by his almighty breath.
Hence, fetching all her succors from abroad,
She still employs this mighty pow'r of God:
Drain'd clean of native pow'rs and legal aims,
No strength but in and from JEHOVAH claims:

And thus her service to the law o'ertops
The tow'ring zeal of Pharisaic fops.

SECTION IV.

THE BELIEVER ONLY, BEING MARRIED TO CHRIST, IS JUSTI AND SANCTIFIED: AND THE MORE GOSPEL FREEDOM FROM LAW AS A COVENANT, THE MORE HOLY CONFORMITY TO I A RULE.

Thus doth the Husband by his Father's will Both for and in his bride the law fulfil:
For her, as 't is a covenant, and then
In her, as 't is a rule of life to men.
First, all law debt he most completely pays,
Then of law duties all the charge defrays.
Does first assume her guilt, and loose her chains,
And then with living water wash her stains;
Her fund restore, and then her form repair,
And make his filthy bride a beauty fair;
His perfect righteousness most freely grant,
And then his holy image deep implant;
Into her heart his precious seed indrop,
Which in his time will yield a glorious crop.
But by alternate turns his plants he brings
Through robbing winters and repairing springs.

Hence, pining oft, they suffer sad decays
By dint of shady nights and stormy days.
But blest with sap, and influence from above,
They live and grow anew in faith and love ;
Until transplanted to the higher soil,
Where furies tread no more, nor foxes spoil.
While Christ the living root remains on high,
The noble plant of grace can never die ;
Nature decays, and so will all the fruit
That merely rises on a mortal root.
Their works, however splendid, are but dead,
That from a living fountain don't proceed ;
Their fairest fruit is but a garnish'd shrine,
That are not grafted in the glorious Vine.
Devoutest hypocrites are rank'd in rolls
Of painted puppets, not of living souls.
No offspring but of Christ's fair bride is good,
This happy marriage has a holy brood.
Let sinners learn this mystery to read,
We bear to glorious Christ no precious seed,
Till through the law, we to the law be dead.*
No true obedience to the law, but forc'd,
Can any yield, till from the law divorc'd.

* Gal. ii. 19.

Nor to it, as a rule, is homage giv'n,
 Till from it, as a cov'nant, men be driv'n.
 Yea more, till once they this divorce attain,
 Divorce from sin they but attempt in vain ;
 The cursed yoke of sin they basely draw,
 Till once unyoked from the cursing law.
 Sin's full dominion keeps its native place,
 While men are under law, not under grace.*
 For mighty hills of enmity wont move,
 Till touch'd by conqu'ring grace and mighty love.

Were but the gospel-secret understood ;
 How God can pardon where he sees no good ;
 How grace and mercy free, that can't be bought,
 Reign through a righteousness already wrought :
 Were woful reigning unbelief depos'd,
 Mysterious grace to blinded minds disclos'd :
 Did Heav'n with gospel news its pow'r convey,
 And sinners hear a faithful God but say,
 " No more law debt remains for you to pay ;
 Lo, by the loving Surety all 's discharg'd,"
 Their hearts behov'd with love to be enlarg'd :
 Love, the succinct fulfilling of the law, †
 Were then the easy yoke they 'd sweetly draw ;

* Rom. vi. 14.

† Rom. xiii. 10.

Love would constrain and to his service move,
Who left them nothing else to do but love.
Slight now his loving precepts if they can ;
No, no ; his conqu'ring kindness leads the van.
When everlasting love exerts the sway,
They judge themselves more kindly bound t' obey,
Bound by redeeming grace in stricter sense
Than ever Adam was in innocence.
Why now, they are not bound, as formerly,
To do and live, nor yet to do or die ;
Both life and death are put in Jesus' hands,
Who urges neither in his kind commands.
Not servile work their life and heav'n to win,
Nor slavish labor death and hell to shun.
Their aims are purer, since they understood,
Their heav'n was bought, their hell was quench'd, with blood.

The oars of gospel service now they steer,
Without or legal hope or slavish fear.

The bride in sweet security can dwell,
Nor bound to purchase heav'n, nor vanquish hell :
But bound for him the race of love to run,
Whose love to her left none of these undone ;

She's bound to be the Lamb's obedient wife,
 And in his strength to serve him during life;
 To glorify his loving name for ay,
 Who left her not a single mite to pay
 Of legal debt, but wrote for her at large,
 In characters of blood, a full discharge.
 Henceforth no servile task her labors prove,
 But grateful fruits of reverential love.

SECTION V.

GOSPEL GRACE GIVING NO LIBERTY NOR FREEDOM TO SIN, BUT TO HOLY SERVICE AND PURE OBEDIENCE.

THE glorious Husband's love can't lead the wife
 To whoredom or licentiousness of life:
 Nay, nay; she finds his warmest love within;
 The hottest fire to melt her heart for sin.
 His kind embrace is still the strongest cord
 To bind her to the service of her Lord.
 The more her faith insures this love of his,
 The more his law her delectation is.
 Some dream she might, who this assurance win,
 Take latitude and liberty to sin.

such bewray their ignorance, and prove want the lively sense of drawing love ;
how its sweet constraining force can move.
ark of grace came never in to dwell,
Dagon lusts before it headlong fell.
basely can unto lasciviousness
e the doctrine, not the work of grace.
ers of divine love in vice's path,
but the fancy of it, not the faith.
never soar'd aloft on grace's wing, knew not grace to be a holy thing:
regnant she the pow'rs of hell appals, sin's dominion in the ruin falls.
l is the crew whose Antinomian dress
s grace a cover to their idleness.
ride of Christ will sure be very loth ake his love a pillow for her sloth.
mayn't she sin the more that grace abounds !
hod forbid ! the very thought confounds.
dead unto the law, she's dead to sin ;
can she any longer live therein ?*
ither of them is she now a slave, hares the conquest of the great, the brave,

* Rom. vi. 1, 2.

The mighty Gen'ral, her victorious Head,
Who broke the double chain to free the bride.
Hence, prompted now with gratitude and love,
Her cheerful feet in swift obedience move.
More strong the cords of love to duty draw,
Than hell, and all the curses of the law.
When with seraphic love the breast 's inspir'd,
By that are all the other graces fir'd ;
These kindling round, the burning heart and frame
In life and walk send forth a holy flame.

CHAPTER IV.

A CAUTION TO ALL AGAINST A LEGAL SPIRIT; ESPECIALLY TO THOSE THAT HAVE A PROFESSION WITHOUT POWER AND LEARNING WITHOUT GRACE.

“WHY,” says the haughty heart of legalists,
Bound to the law of works by nat’ral twists,
“Why such ado about a law divorce?
Men’s lives are bad, and would you have them worse?
Such Antinomian stuff with labor’d toil
Would human beauty’s native lustre spoil.
What wickedness beneath the cov’ring lurks,
That lewdly would divorce us all from works!
Why such a stir about the law and grace?
We know that merit cannot now take place.
And what needs more?” Well, to let slander crop,
Be merit for a little here the scope.

Ah! many learn to lisp in gospel terms,
Who yet embrace the law with legal arms.
By wholesome education some are taught,
To own that human merit now is naught;

Who faintly but renounce proud merit's name,
And cleave refin'dly to the Popish scheme.
For graceful works expecting divine bliss,
And, when they fail, trust Christ for what 's amiss.
Thus to his righteousness profess to flee,
Yet by it still would their own saviours be.
They seem to works of merit bloody foes,
Yet seek salvation as it were* by those.
Blind Gentiles found, who did nor seek nor know ;
But Isr'el lost it whole, who sought it so.

Let all that love to wear the legal dress,
Know that as sin, so bastard righteousness
Has slain its thousands, who in tow'ring pride
The righteousness of Jesus Christ deride ;
A robe divinely wrought, divinely won,
Yet cast by men for rags that are their own.
But some to legal works seem whole deny'd,
Yet would by gospel works be justify'd,
By faith, repentance, love, and other such :
These dreamers being righteous overmuch,
Like Uzza, give the ark a wrongful touch.
By legal deeds however gospeliz'd,
Can e'er tremendous justice be appeas'd

* Rom. ix. 32.

Or sinners justify'd before that God,
 Whose law is perfect, and exceeding broad ?
 Nay, faith itself, that leading gospel grace,
 Holds as a work no justifying place.
 Just Heav'n to man for righteousness imputes
 Not faith itself, or in its acts or fruits ;
 But Jesus' meritorious life and death,
 Faith's proper object, all the honor hath.
 From this doth faith derive its glorious fame,
 Its great renown and justifying name ;
 Receiving all things, but deserving nought ;
 By faith all 's begg'd and taken, nothing bought.
 Its highest name is from the wedding vote,
 So instrumental in the marriage knot.
 JEHOVAH lends the bride in that blest hour,
 Th' exceeding greatness of his mighty pow'r :*
 Which sweetly does her heart-consent command,
 To reach the wealthy Prince her naked hand.
 For close to his embrace she 'd never stir,
 If first his loving arms embrac'd not her :
 But this he does by kindly gradual chase,
 Of rousing, raising, teaching, drawing grace,

* Eph. vii. 16.

He shows her, in his sweetest love-address,
His glory as the Sun of righteousness ;
At which all dying glories earth adorn,
Shrink like the sick moon at the wholesome morn.
This glorious Sun arising with a grace,
Dark shade of creature-righteousness to chase,
Faith now disclaims itself, and all the train
Of virtues formerly accounted gain ;
And counts them dung,* with holy, meek disdain.
For now appears the height, the depth immense
Of divine bounty and benevolence ;
Amazing mercy ! ignorant of bounds !
Which most enlarged faculties confounds.
How vain, how void now seem the vulgar charms,
The monarch's pomp of courts, and pride of arms !
The boasted beauties of the human kind,
The pow'rs of body, and the gifts of mind !
Lo ! in the grandeur of Immanuel's train,
All's swallow'd up as rivers in the main.
He's seen, when gospel light and sight is giv'n,
Encompass'd round with all the pomp of heav'n.

The soul, now taught of God, sees human schools
Make Christless rabbis only lit'rate fools ;

* Phil. iii. 7, 8.

And that, till divine teaching pow'rful draw,
 No learning will divorce them from the law.
 Mere argument may clear the head, and force
 A verbal, not a cordial clean divorce.

Hence many, taught the wholesome terms of art,
 Have gospel heads, but still a legal heart.

Till sov'reign grace and pow'r the sinner catch,
 He takes not Jesus for his only match.

Nay, works complete! ah! true, however odd,
 Dead works are rivals with the living God.

Till Heav'n's preventing mercy clear the sight,
 Confound the pride with supernat'ral light:

No haughty soul of human kind is brought
 To mortify her self-exalting thought.

Yet holiest creatures in clay tents that lodge,
 Be but their lives scann'd by the dreadful Judge,

How shall they e'er his awful search endure,
 Before whose purest eyes heav'n is not pure?

How must their black indictment be enlarg'd,
 When by him angels are with folly charg'd?

What human worth shall stand, when he shall scan?
 O may his glory stain the pride of man.

How wond'rous are the tracks of divine grace!
 How searchless are his ways, how vast th' abyss!

Let haughty reason stoop, and fear to leap ;
Angelic plummet cannot sound the deep.
With scorn he turns his eyes from haughty kings,
With pleasure looks on low and worthless things ;
Deep are his judgments, sov'reign is his will,
Let ev'ry mortal worm be dumb, be still.
In vain proud reason swells beyond its bound ;
God and his counsels are a gulf profound,
An ocean wherein all our thoughts are drown'd.

CHAPTER V.

ARGUMENTS AND ENCOURAGEMENTS TO GOSPEL MINISTERS TO AVOID A LEGAL STRAIN OF DOCTRINE, AND ENDEAVOR THE SINNER'S MATCH WITH CHRIST BY GOSPEL MEANS.

SECTION I.

A LEGAL SPIRIT THE ROOT OF DAMNABLE ERRORS.

Ye heralds great, that blow in name of God
The silver trump of gospel grace abroad ;
And sound by warrant from the great I AM,
The nuptial treaty with the worthy Lamb :
Might ye but stoop th' unpolished muse to brook,
And from a shrub a wholesome berry pluck ;
Ye 'd take encouragement from what is said,
By gospel means to make the marriage bed.
And to your glorious Lord a virgin chaste to wed.
The more proud nature bears a legal sway,
The more should preachers bend the gospel way :
Oft in the church arise destructive schisms
From anti-evangelic aphorisms ;
A legal spirit may be justly nam'd
The fertile womb of ev'ry error damn'd.

Hence Pop'ry, so connat'ral since the fall,
Makes legal works like saviours merit all ;
Yea, more than merit on their shoulder loads,
To supererogate like demi-gods.

Hence proud Socinians seat their reason high,
'Bove ev'ry precious gospel mystery,
Its divine Author stab, and without fear
The purple covert of his chariot tear.

With these run Arian monsters in a line,
All gospel truth at once to undermine !
To darken and delete, like hellish foes,
The brightest color of the Sharon Rose.
At best its human red they but decry,
That blot the divine white, the native dye.

Hence dare Arminians too, with brazen face,
Give man's free-will the throne of God's free grace ;
Whose self-exalting tenets clearly show
Great ignorance of law and gospel too.

Hence Neonomians spring, as sundry call
The new law-makers, to redress our fall.
The law of works into repentance, faith,
Is chang'd, as their Baxterian Bible saith.
Shaping the gospel to an easy law,
They build their tott'ring house with hay and straw ;

Yet hide, like Rachel's idols in the stuff,
Their legal hands within a gospel muff.

Yea, hence springs Antinomian vile refuse,
Whose gross abettors gospel grace abuse ;
Unskill'd how grace's silken latchet binds
Her captives to the law with willing minds.

SECTION II.

A LEGAL STRAIN OF DOCTRINE DISCOVERED AND DISCARDED.

No wonder Paul the legal spirit curse,
Of fatal errors such a feeding nurse.
He, in JEHOVAH's great tremendous name,
Condemns perverters of the gospel scheme.
He damn'd the sophist rude, the babbling priest
Would venture to corrupt it in the least ;
Yea, curs'd the heav'nly angel down to hell,
That daring would another gospel tell.*
Which crime is charg'd on these that dare dispense
The self-same gospel in another sense.

Christ is not preach'd in truth, but in disguise,
If his bright glory half absconded lies.

* Gal. i. 7, 8.

When gospel soldiers, that divide the word,
Scarce brandish any but the legal sword.
While Christ the author of the law they press,
More than the end of it for righteousness ;
Christ as a seeker of our service trace,
More than a giver of enabling grace.
The King commanding holiness they show,
More than the Prince exalted to bestow ;
Yea, more on Christ the sin-revenger dwell,
Than Christ Redeemer both from sin and hell.

With legal spade the gospel field he delves,
Who thus drives sinners in unto themselves ;
Halving the truth that should be all reveal'd,
The sweetest part of Christ is oft conceal'd,
We bid men turn from sin, but seldom say,
Behold the Lamb that takes all sin away !*

Christ, by the gospel rightly understood,
Not only treats a peace, but makes it good.
Those suitors, therefore, of the bride, who hope
By force to drag her with the legal rope,
Nor use the drawing cord of conqu'ring grace,
Pursue with flaming zeal a fruitless chase ;

* John i. 29.

In vain lame doings urge, with solemn awe,
 To bribe the fury of the fiery law :
 With equal success to the fool that aims
 By paper walls to bound devouring flames.
 The law 's but mock'd by their most graceful deed,
 That wed not first the law-fulfilling Head ;
 It values neither how they wrought nor wept,
 That slight the ark wherein alone 't is kept.
 Yet legalists, Do, do, with ardor press,
 And with prepost'rous zeal and warm address
 Would seem the greatest friends to holiness :
 But vainly (could such opposites accord)
 Respect the law, and yet reject the Lord.
 They show not Jesus as the way to bliss,
 But Judas-like betray him with a kiss
 Of boasted works, or mere profession puft,
 Law-boasters proving but law-breakers oft.

SECTION III.

THE HURTFULNESS OF NOT PREACHING CHRIST, AND DISTINGUISHING DULY BETWEEN LAW AND GOSPEL.

HELL cares not how crude holiness be preach'd,
 If sinners' match with Christ be never reach'd ;

Knowing their holiness is but a sham,
Who ne'er are married to the holy Lamb.
Let words have never such a pious show,
And blaze aloft in rude professor's view,
With sacred aromatics richly spic'd,
If they but drown in silence glorious Christ ;
Or, if he may some vacant room supply,
Make him a subject only by the by ;
They mar true holiness with tickling chat,
To breed a bastard Pharisaic brat.
They wofully the gospel message broke,
Make fearful havoc of the Master's flock ;
Yet please themselves, and the blind multitude,
By whom the gospel's little understood.

Rude souls perhaps imagine little odds,
Between the legal and the gospel roads :
But vainly men attempt to blend the two ;
They differ more than Christ and Moses do.
Moses, evangelizing in a shade,
By types the news of light approaching spread :
But from the law of works by him proclaim'd,
No ray of gospel grace or mercy gleam'd.
By nature's light the law to all is known,
But lightsome news of gospel grace to none.

The doing cov'nant now, in part or whole,
Is strong to damn, but weak to save a soul.
It hurts, and cannot help, but as it tends
Through mercy to subserve some gospel ends.
Law thunder roughly to the gospel tames,
The gospel mildly to the law reclaims.
The fiery law, as 't is a covenant,
Schools men to see the gospel aid they want ;
Then gospel aid does sweetly them incline
Back to the law as 't is a rule divine.
Heav'n's healing work is oft commenc'd with wounds,
Terror begins what loving kindness crowns.
Preachers may therefore press the fiery law,
To strike the Christless man with dreadful awe.
Law threats which for his sins to hell depress,
Yea, damn him for his rotten righteousness ;
That while he views the law exceeding broad,
He fain may wed the righteousness of God.
But, ah ! to press law works as terms of life,
Was ne'er the way to court the Lamb a wife.
To urge conditions in the legal frame,
Is to renew the vain old cov'nant game

The law is good, when lawfully 't is us'd,*
 But most destructive when it is abus'd.
 They set no duties in their proper sphere,
 Who duly law and gospel do n't sever;
 But under massy chains let sinners lie,
 As tributaries, or to do or die.
 Nor make the law a squaring rule of life,
 But in the gospel throat a bloody knife.

SECTION IV.

DAMNABLE PRIDE AND SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS, SO NATURAL
 ALL MEN, HAS LITTLE NEED TO BE ENCOURAGED BY L' PREACHING.

THE legal path proud nature loves so well,
 (Though yet 't is but the cleanest road to hell
 That lo! e'en these that take the foulest ways,
 Whose lewdness no controlling bridle stays :
 If but their drowsy conscience raise its voice,
 'T will speak the law of works their native choice.
 And echo to the rousing sound, " Ah, true !
 I cannot hope to live, unless I do."

* 1 Tim. i. 8.

No conscious breast of mortal kind can trace
The myst'ry deep of being sav'd by grace.
Of this nor is the nat'ral conscience skill'd,
Nor will admit it when it is reveal'd ;
But pushes at the gospel like a ram,
As proxy for the law, against the Lamb.
The proud self-righteous, Pharisaic strain
Is, "Blest be God, I'm not like other men ;
I read and pray, give alms, I mourn and fast ;*
And therefore hope I'll get to heav'n at last :
For, though from every sin I be not free,
Great multitudes of men are worse than me,
I'm none of those that swear, cheat, drink, and whore."
Thus on the law he builds his Babel tow'r.

Yea, ev'n the vilest cursed debauchee
Will make the law of works his very plea.
"Why, (says the rake,) what take you me to be ?
A Turk or infidel ; (you lie,) I can't
Be term'd so base, but by a sycophant ;
Only I hate to act the whining saint.
I am a Christian true ; and therefore bode,
It shall be well with me, I hope in God.

* Luke xviii. 11, 12.

A'n't I an honest man? yea, I defy
The tongue that dare assert black to mine eye."
Perhaps, when the reprover turns his back,
He'll vend the viler wares of 's open'd pack,
And with his fellows, in a strain more big,
"Bid damn the base uncharitable whig.
These scoundrel hypocrites (he'll proudly say)
Think none shall ever merit heav'n but they,
And yet we may compete with them; for see,
The best have blemishes as well as we.
We have as good a heart (we trust) as these,
Tho' not their vain superfluous show and blaze.
Bigotted zealots, whose sole crimes are hid,
Would damn us all to hell; but God forbid.
Whatever such a whining sect profess,
'T is but a nice, morose, affected dress.
And though we do n't pretend so much as they,
We hope to compass heav'n a shorter way;
We seek God's mercy, and are all along
Most free of malice, and do no man wrong.
But whims fantastic shan't our heads annoy,
That would our social liberties destroy.
Sure, right religion never was design'd
To mar the native mirth of human kind.

How weak are those that would be thought nonsuch !
How mad, that would be righteous overmuch !
We have sufficient, though we be not cramm'd ;
We'll therefore hope the best, let them be damn'd."

 Ah, horrid talk ! yet so the legal strain
Lards e'en the language of the most profane.
Thus dev'lish pride o'erlooks a thousand faults,
And on a legal ground itself exalts.
This do and live, though doing pow'r be lost,
In ev'ry mortal is proud nature's boast.
How does a vain conceit of goodness swell,
And feed false hope, amidst the shades of hell ?
Shall we, who should by gospel methods draw,
Send sinners to their nat'ral spouse the law ;
And harp upon the doing string to such,
Who ignorantly dream they do so much ?
Why, thus, instead of courting Christ a bride,
We harden rebels in their native pride.

 Much rather ought we in God's name to place
His great artill'ry straight against their face ;
And throw hot Sinai thunderbolts around,
To burn their tow'ring hopes down to the ground,
To make the pillars of their pride to shake,
And damn their doings to the burning lake.

To curse the doers unto endless thrall,
That never did continue to do all.*
To scorch their conscience with the flaming air,
And sink their haughty hopes in deep despair ;
Denouncing Ebal's black revenging doom,
To blast their expectation in the bloom ;
Till once vain hope of life by works give place
Unto a solid hope of life by grace.
The vig'rous use of means is safely urg'd,
When pressing calls from legal dregs are purg'd ;
But most unsafely in a fed'ral dress,
Confounding terms of life with means of grace.
Oh ! dang'rous is th' attempt proud flesh to please
Or send a sinner to the law for ease,
Who rather needs to feel its piercing dart,
Till dreadful pangs invade his trembling heart ;
And thither should be only sent for flames
Of fire to burn his rotten hopes and claims ;
That thus disarm'd, he gladly may embrace,
And grasp with eagerness the news of grace.

* Gal. iii. 10.

SECTION V.

THE GOSPEL OF DIVINE GRACE THE ONLY MEANS OF CONVERTING SINNERS, AND SHOULD BE PREACHED THEREFORE MOST CLEARLY, FULLY, AND FREELY.

THEY ought, who royal grace's heralds be,
To trumpet loud salvation, full and free :
Nor safely can, to humor mortal pride,
In silence evangelic myst'ries hide.
What Heav'n is pleas'd to give, dare we refuse,
Or under ground conceal, lest men abuse ?
Suppress the gospel flow'r, upon pretence
That some vile spiders may suck poison thence ?
Christ is a stumbling-block,* shall we neglect
To preach him, lest the blind should break their neck ?
That high he 's for the fall of many set,
As well as for the rise,† must prove no let.
No grain of precious truth must be suppress,
Though reprobates should to their ruin wrest.
Shall Heav'n's coruscant lamp be dimm'd, that pays
Its daily tribute down in golden rays,
Because some, blinded with the blazing gleams,
Share not the pleasure of the lightning beams ?

* 1 Cor. i. 23.

† Luke ii. 34.

Let those be hard'ned, petrify'd and harm'd,
The rest are mollify'd and kindly warm'd.
A various savor,* flowers in grace's field,
Of life to some, of death to others, yield.
Must then the rose be vail'd, the lily hid,
The fragrant savor stifled ? God forbid.

The revelation of the gospel flow'r,
Is still the organ fam'd of saving pow'r ;
Most justly then are legal minds condemn'd,
That of the glorious gospel are asham'd :
For this the divine arm, and only this,
The pow'r of God unto salvation is.
For therein is reveal'd, to screen from wrath,
The righteousness of God from faith to faith.†
The happy change in guilty sinners' case
They owe to free displays of sov'reign grace ;
Whose joyful tidings of amazing love
The ministration of the Spirit prove.
The glorious vent the gospel news express,
Of God's free grace, thro' Christ's full righteou
Is Heav'n's gay chariot where the Spirit bides,
And in his conqu'ring pow'r triumphant rides.

* 2 Cor. ii. 16.

† Rom. i. 26,

The gospel field is still the Spirit's soil,
The golden pipe that bears the holy oil ;
The orb where he outshines the radiant sun,
The silver channel where his graces run.
Within the gospel banks his flowing tide
Of lightning, quick'ning motions, sweetly glide.
Received ye the Spirit, scripture saith,*
By legal works, or by the word of faith ?
If by the gospel only, then let none
Dare to be wiser than the wisest One.

We must, who freely get, as freely give
The vital word that makes the dead to live.
For ev'n to sinners dead within our reach
We in his living name may most successful preach.

The Spirit and the scripture both agree
Jointly, (says Christ), to testify of me.†
The preacher then will from his text decline,
That scorns to harmonize with this design.
Press moral duties to the last degree ;
Why not ? but mind, lest we successful be.
No light, no hope, no strength for duties spring,
Where Jesus is not Prophet, Priest, and King :

* Gal. iii. 2

† John xv. 26 ; v. 39.

No light to see the way, unless he teach,
 No joyful hope save in his blood we reach,
 No strength unless his royal arm he stretch.
 Then from our leading scope how gross we fall,
 If, like his name, in ev'ry gospel call,
 We make not him the First, the Last, the All !

Our office is to bear the radiant torch
 Of gospel light into the dark'ned porch
 Of human understandings, and display
 The joyful dawn of everlasting day ;
 To draw the golden chariot of free grace,
 The dark'ned shades with shining rays to chase,
 Till Heav'n's bright lamp on circling wheels be hur
 With sparkling grandeur round the dusky world ;
 And thus to bring, in dying mortals' sight,
 New life and immortality to light.*

We're charg'd to preach the gospel, unconfin'd,
 To ev'ry creature † of the human kind ;
 To call, with tenders of salvation free,
 All corners of the earth to come and see : ‡
 And ev'ry sinner must excuseless make,
 By urging rich and poor to come and take. §

* 2 Tim. i. 10.

† Isa. xlv. 22; John i. 39, 46.

‡ Mark xvi. 15.

§ Rev. xxii. 17.

Ho, ev'ry one that thirsts,* is grace's call
Direct to needy sinners great and small ;
Not meaning those alone, whose holy thirst
Denominates their souls already blest.
If only those were call'd, then none but saints ;
Nor would the gospel suit the sinner's wants.
But here the call does signally import
Sinners and thirsty souls of ev'ry sort ;
And mainly to their door the message brings,
Who yet are thirsting after empty things ;
Who spend their means no living bread to buy,
And pains for that which cannot satisfy.
Such thirsty sinners here invited are,
Who vainly spend their money, thought, and care,
On passing shades, vile lusts, and trash so base
As yield immortal souls no true solace.
The call directs them, as they would be blest,
To choose a purer object of their thirst.
All are invited by the joyful sound
To drink who need, as does the parched ground,
Whose wide-mouth'd clefts speak to the brazen sky
Its passive thirst, without an active cry.

* Isa. lv. 1, 2.

The gospel preacher, then, with holy skill,
Must offer Christ to whosoever will,
To sinners of all sorts that can be nam'd ;
The blind, the lame, the poor, the halt, the maim'd
Not daring to restrict th' extensive call,
But op'ning wide the net to catch 'em all.
No soul must be excluded that will come,
Nor right of access be confin'd to some.
Though none will come till conscious of their want,
Yet right to come they have by sov'reign grant ;
Such right to Christ, his promise and his grace,
That all are damn'd who hear and do n't embrace.
So freely is th' unbounded call dispens'd,
We therein find ev'n sinners unconvinc'd ;
Who know not they are naked, blind, and poor,†
Counsell'd to buy or beg at Jesus' door,
And take the glorious robe, eye-salve, and golden st
This prize they are oblig'd by faith to win,
Else unbelief would never be their sin.
Yea, gospel offers but a sham we make,
If ev'ry sinner has not right to take.
Be gospel heralds fortified from this,
To trumpet grace, howe'er the serpent hiss.

* Luke xiv. 21.

† Rev. iii. 17, 18.

Did hell's malicious mouth in dreadful shape
Gainst innocence itself malignant gape ?
Then sacred truth's devoted vouchers may
For dire reproach their measures constant lay.
With cruel calumny of old commenc'd,
This sect will ev'rywhere be spoke against ;*
While to and fro he runs the earth across,
Whose name is ADELPHON KATEGOROS.†
In spite of hell be then our constant strife
To win the glorious Lamb a virgin wife.

CHAPTER VI.

AN EXHORTATION TO ALL THAT ARE OUT OF THE ORDER TO THEIR CLOSING THE MATCH WITH HU-MANS, CONTAINING ALSO MOTIVES AND DIRECTIONS.

READER, into thine hands these lines are giv'n
But not without the providence of Heav'n ;
Or to advance thy bliss, if thou art wise,
Or aggravate thy wo, if thou despise.
For thee, for thee, perhaps th' omniscient ken
Has form'd the counsel here, and led the pen.
The writer then does thy attention plead,
In his great name that gave thee eyes to read.

SECTION I.

CONVICTION OFFERED TO SINNERS, ESPECIALLY SUCH AS ARE DEDICATED STRICTLY TO THE LAW, OR SELF-RIGHTEOUS, THAT MAY SEE THE NEED OF CHRIST'S RIGHTEOUSNESS.

IF never yet thou didst fair Jesus wed,
Nor yield thy heart to be his marriage bed,
But hitherto art wedded to the law,
Which never could thy chain'd affections draw

From brutish lusts and sordid lover's charms ;
Lo ! thou art yet in Satan's folded arms :
Hell's pow'r invisible thy soul retains
His captive slave, lock'd up in massy chains.
O ! sinner, then, as thou regard'st thy life,
Seek, seek, with ardent care and earnest strife,
To be the glorious Lamb's betrothed wife.
For base co-rivals never let him lose
Thy heart, his bed of conjugal repose.
Wed Christ alone, and with severe remorse
From other mates pursue a clean divorce ;
For they thy ruin seek by fraud or force.
As lurking serpents in the shady bow'rs
Conceal their malice under spreading flow'rs ;
So thy deceitful lusts with cruel spite
Hide ghastly danger under gay delight.
Art thou a legal zealot, soft or rude,
Renounce thy nat'ral and acquired good.
As base deceitful lusts may work thy smart,
So may deceitful frames upon thy heart.
Seeming good motions may in some be found,
Much joy in hearing, like the stony ground ;*

* Luke viii. 13.

Much sorrow too in praying, as appears
 In Esau's careful suit with rueful tears.*
 Touching the law, they blameless may appear,†
 From spurious views most specious virtues bear :
 Nor merely be devout in men's esteem,
 But prove to be sincerely what they seem,
 Friends to the holy law in heart and life,
 Suers of heav'n with utmost legal strife ;
 Yet still with innate pride so rankly spic'd,
 Converted but to duties, not to Christ,
 That publicans and harlots heav'n obtain‡
 Before a crew so righteous and so vain.
 Sooner will those shake off their vicious dress
 Than these blind zealots will their righteousness,
 Who judge they have (which fortifies their pride)
 The law of God itself upon their side.
 Old nature, new brush'd up with legal pains,
 Such strict attachment to the law retains,
 No means, no motives can to Jesus draw
 Vain souls so doubly wedded to the law.
 But wouldst the glorious Prince in marriage have Know that thy nat'ral husband cannot save.

* Heb. xii. 17.

+ Phil. iii. 9.

‡ Matt. xxi. 31.

Thy best essays to pay the legal rent
Can never in the least the law content.
Didst thou in pray'rs employ the morning light,
In tears and groans the watches of the night,
Pass thy whole life in close devotion o'er ;
'T is nothing to the law still craving more.
There 's no proportion 'twixt its high commands,
And puny works from thy polluted hands ;
Perfection is the least that it demands.
Wouldst enter into life, then keep the law ;*
But keep it perfectly without a flaw.
It wont have less, nor will abate at last
A drop of vengeance for the sin that 's past.
Tell, sinful mortal, is thy stock so large
As duly can defray this double charge ?
"Why, these are mere impossibles," (say'st thou.)
Yea, truly so they are ; and therefore now,
That down thy legal confidence may fall,
The law's black doom home to thy bosom call.
"Lo ! I (the divine law) demand no less Than perfect everlasting righteousness ;
But thou hast fail'd, and lost thy strength to do :
Therefore I doom thee to eternal wo ;

* Matt. xxi. 17.

In prison close to be shut up for ay,
Ere I be baffled with thy partial pay.
Thou always didst and dost my precepts break,
I therefore curse thee to the burning lake.
In God the great Lawgiver's glorious name,
I judge thy soul to everlasting shame."
No flesh can by the law be justified ; †
Yet darest thou thy legal duties plead ?
As Paul appeal'd to Cæsar, wilt thou so
Unto the law ? then to it shalt thou go,
And find it doom thee to eternal wo.

What! would ye have us plung'd in deep de
Amen ; yea, God himself would have you ther
His will it is that you despair of life,
And safety by the law, or legal strife ;
That cleanly thence divorc'd at any rate,
His fairest Son may have a faithful mate.
Till this law-sentence pass within your breast,
You 'll never wed the law-discharging Priest.
You prize not heav'n till he through hell you c
Nor love the gospel till you know the law.

Know then, the divine law, most perfect, ca
For none of thy imperfect legal wares ;

* Rom. iii. 20.

Dooms thee to vengeance for thy sinful state,
As well as sinful actions small or great.
If any sin can be accounted small,
To hell it dooms thy soul for one and all.
For sins of nature, practice, heart, and way,
Damnation rent it summons thee to pay.
Yea, not for sin alone, which is thy shame,
But for thy boasted service, too, so lame,
The law adjudges thee and hell to meet,
Because thy righteousness is incomplete.
As tow'ring flames burn up the wither'd flags,
So will the fiery law thy filthy rags.

SECTION II.

DIRECTION GIVEN WITH REFERENCE TO THE RIGHT USE OF THE MEANS, THAT WE REST NOT ON THESE INSTEAD OF CHRIST THE GLORIOUS HUSBAND, IN WHOM OUR HELP LIES.

ADAM, where art thou ?* Soul, where art thou now ?
Oh! art thou saying, Sir, what shall I do ?†
I dare not use that proud self-raising strain,
Go help yourself, and God will help you then.

* Gen. iii. 9.

† Mark x. 17.

Nay, rather know, O Isr'el, that thou hast
Destroy'd thyself, and canst not in the least,
From sin nor wrath thyself the captive free,
Thy help (says Jesus) only lies in me.*
Heav'n's oracles direct to him alone ;
Full help is laid upon this mighty One.
In him, in him complete salvation dwells ;
He's God the helper, and there is none else.†
Fig-leaves wont hide thee from the fiery show'r ;
'Tis he alone that saves by price and pow'r.

Must we do nothing, then, (will mockers say)
But rest in sloth till Heav'n the help convey ?
Pray, stop a little, sinner ; do n't abuse
God's awful word, that charges thee to use
Means, ordinances, which he's pleas'd to place
As precious channels of his pow'rful grace.
Restless improve all these, until from heav'n
The whole salvation needful thus be giv'n.
Wait in this path, according to his call,
On him whose pow'r alone affecteth all.
Wouldst thou him wed, in duties wait, I say,
But marry not thy duties by the way.

§ Mott. vii. 7.

Their nat'ral poor essays they judge wont miss
In justice to infer eternal bliss.

Thus commentaries on the word they make
Which to their ruin are a grand mistake ;
For through the legal bias in their breast,
They scripture to their own destruction wrest.
Why, if we seek we get, they gather hence :
Which is not truth, save in the scripture sense.
There Jesus deals with friends, and elsewhere saith
Those seekers only speed that ask in faith.*
The prayer of the wicked is abhorr'd,
As an abomination to the Lord,†
Their suits are sins, but their neglects no less,
Which can't their guilt diminish, but increase.
They ought, like beggars, lie in grace's way ;
Hence Peter taught the sorcerer to pray :‡
For though mere nat'ral men's address or prayers
Can no acceptance gain as works of theirs,
Nor have, as their performance, any sway,
Yet as a divine ordinance they may.
But spotless truth has bound itself to grant
The suit of none but the believing saint.

* James i. 6.

† Prov. xv. 9 ; xxviii. 9.

‡ Acts viii. 22.

In Jesus, persons once accepted, do
Acceptance find in him for duties too.
For he, whose Son they do in marriage take,
Is bound to hear them for their Husband's sake.

But let no Christless soul at pray'r appear,
As if JEHOVAH were oblig'd to hear :
But use the means, because a sov'reign God
May come with alms, in this his wonted road.
He wills thee to frequent kind wisdom's gate,
To read, hear, meditate, to pray and wait ;
Thy spirit then be on these duties bent,
As gospel means, but not as legal rent.
From these do n't thy salvation hope nor claim,
But from JEHOVAH in the use of them.
The beggar's spirit never was so dull,
While waiting at the gate call'd Beautiful,
To hope for succor from the temple gate,
At which he daily did so careful wait ;
But from the rich and charitable sort,
Who to the temple daily made resort.
Means, ordinances, are the comely gate,
At which kind Heav'n has bid us constant wait :
Not that from these we have our alms, but from
The lib'ral God who there is wont to come.

If either we these means shall dare neglect,
Or yet from these enriching bliss expect,
We from the glory of the King defalk,
Who in the galleries is wont to walk :
We move not regular in duty's road,
But base invert them to an idol god.

Seek then, if gospel means you would essay,
Through grace to use them in a gospel way :
Not deeming that your duties are the price
Of divine favor, or of paradise ;
Nor that your best efforts employed in these
Are fit exploits your awful Judge to please.
Why, thus you basely idolize your trash,
And make it with the blood of Jesus clash.
You 'd buy the blessing with your vile refuse,
And so his precious righteousness abuse.
What ! buy his gifts with filthy lumber ? nay ;
Whoever offers this must hear him say,
Thy money perish with thy soul for ay.*

Duties are means, which to the marriage bed
Should chastely lead us like a chamber-maid ;
But if with her instead of Christ we match,
We not our safety, but our ruin hatch.

SECTION III.

A CALL TO BELIEVE IN JESUS CHRIST, WITH SOME HINTS
THE ACT AND OBJECT OF FAITH.

FRIEND, is the question on thy heart engraved,
What shall I do to be forever sav'd ?*
Lo ! here 's a living rock to build upon ;
Believe in Jesus ; † and on him alone
For righteousness and strength thine anchor drop,
Renouncing all thy former legal hope.
“ Believe ! (say you ?) I can no more believe,
Than keep the law of works, the do and live.”
True ; and it were thy mercy, didst thou see
Thine utter want of all ability.
New cov'nant graces he alone can grant,
Whom God has given to be the covenant ; ‡
Ev'n Jesus, whom the sacred letters call
Faith's object, author, finisher, and all ;
In him alone, not in thy act of faith,
Thy soul believing, full salvation hath.
In this new cov'nant judge not faith to hold
The room of perfect doing in the old.

* Acts xvi. 30.

† Acts xvi. 31.

‡ Isa. xlii. (

Faith is not giv'n to be the fed'ral price
Of other blessings, or of paradise ;
But Heav'n, by giving this, strikes out a door
At which is carried in still more and more.
No sinner must upon his faith lay stress,
As if it were a perfect righteousness.
God ne'er assign'd unto it such a place ;
'Tis, but at best, a bankrupt, begging grace.
Its object makes its fame to fly abroad,
So close it gripes the righteousness of God ;
Which righteousness receiv'd, is (without strife)
The true condition of eternal life.

But still, say you, pow'r to believe I miss.
You may ; but know you what believing is ?
Faith lies not in your building up a tow'r
Of some great action by your proper pow'r,
For Heav'n well knows, that by the killing fall
No pow'r, no will remains in man at all
For acts divinely good, 'till sov'reign grace
By pow'rful drawing virtue turn the chase.
Hence none believe in Jesus as they ought,
Till once they first believe they can do nought,
Nor are sufficient e'en to form a thought.*

* 2 Cor. iii. 5.

They're conscious, in the right believing hour,
Of human weakness, and of divine pow'r.
Faith acts not in the sense of strength and might
But in the sense of weakness acts outright.
It is (no boasting arm of pow'r or length,)
But weakness acting on almighty strength.*
It is the pow'rless, helpless sinner's flight
Into the open arms of saving might:
'Tis an employing Jesus to do all
That can within salvation's compass fall;
To be the agent kind in ev'rything
Belonging to a prophet, priest, and king;
To teach, to pardon, sanctify, and save,
And nothing to the creature's pow'r to leave.
Faith makes us joyfully content that he
Our head, our husband, and our all should be;
Our righteousness and strength, our stock and store
Our fund for food and raiment, grace and glore.
It makes the creature down to nothing fall,
Content that Christ alone be all in all.

The plan of grace is faith's delightful view,
With which it closes both as good and true.

* 2 Cor. xii. 9.

Unto the truth, the mind's assent is full,
Unto the good, a free consenting will.
The Holy Spirit, here the agent chief,
Creates this faith, and dashes unbelief.
That very God who calls us to believe,
The very faith he seeks must also give.
Why calls he then? say you. Pray, man, be wise;
Why did he call dead Lazarus to rise?
Because the orders in their bosom bear
Almighty pow'r to make the carcase hear.

But Heav'n may not this mighty pow'r display.
Most true; yet still thou art obliged t' obey.
But God is not at all oblig'd to stretch
His saving arm to such a sinful wretch.
All who within salvation rolls have place,
Are sav'd by a prerogative of grace;
But vessels all that shall with wrath be cramm'd,
Are by an act of holy justice damn'd.
Take, then, dear soul, as from a friendly heart,
The counsel which the foll'wing lines impart.

SECTION IV.

AN ADVICE TO SINNERS TO APPLY TO THE SOVEREIGN MERCY OF GOD, AS IT IS DISCOVERED THROUGH CHRIST, TO THE HIGHEST HONOR OF JUSTICE, AND OTHER DIVINE ATTRIBUTES, IN ORDER TO FURTHER THEIR FAITH IN HIM UNTO SALVATION.

Go, friend, and at JEHOVAH'S footstool bow ;
Thou know'st not what a sov'reign God may do.
Confess, if he commiserate thy case,
'T will be an act of pow'rful sov'reign grace.
Sequestrate carefully some solemn hours,
To show thy grand concern in secret pow'rs.
Then in th' ensuing strain to God impart,
And pour into his bosom all thy heart :—
“O glorious, gracious, pow'rful, sov'reign Lord,
Thy help unto a sinful worm afford ;
Who from my wretched birth to this sad hour
Have still been destitute of will and pow'r
To close with glorious Christ ; yea, fill'd with spite
At thy fair darling, and thy saints' delight,
Resisting all his grace with all my might.
Come, Lord, and sap my enmity's strong tow'r ;
O haste the marriage day, the day of pow'r :
That sweetly, by resistless grace inclin'd,
My once reluctant be a willing mind.

Thou spak'st to being ev'rything we see,
When thy almighty will said, Let it be.
Nothings to being in a moment pass :
Let there be light, thou said'st ; and so it was.*
A pow'rful word like this, a mighty call,
Must say, Let there be faith, and then it shall.
Thou seek'st my faith and flight from sin and guilt ;
Give what thou seek'st, Lord ; then seek what thou wilt.

What good can issue from a root so ill !
This heart of mine 's a wicked lump of hell ;
'T will all thy common motions still resist,
Unless with special drawing virtue blest.
Thou call'st, but with the call thy pow'r convey ;
Command me to believe, and I 'll obey,
Nor any more thy gracious call gainsay.
Command, O Lord, effectually command,
And grant I be not able to withstand ;
Then pow'rless I will stretch the wither'd hand.

“ I to thy favor can pretend no claim,
But what is borrow'd from thy glorious name ;
Which though most justly thou may'st glorify,
In damning such a guilty wretch as me ;

* Gen. i. 3.

A faggot fitted for the burning fire
Of thine incensed everlasting ire ;
Yet, Lord, since now I hear thy glorious Son,
In favor of a race that was undone,
Did in thy name, by thy authority,
Once to the full stern justice satisfy ;
And paid more glorious tribute thereunto
Than hell and all its torments e'er can do ;
Since my salvation through his blood can raise
A revenue to justice' highest praise,
Higher than rents, which hell forever pays :
These to tremendous justice never bring
A satisfaction equal and condign :
But Jesus our once dying God performs,
What never could by ever-dying worms :
Since thus thy threat'ning law is honor'd more
Than e'er my sins affronted it before :
Since justice stern may greater glory win,
By justifying in thy darling Son,
Than by condemning ev'n the rebel me ;
To this device of wisdom, lo ! I flee.
Let justice, Lord, according to thy will,
Be glorifi'd with glory great and full ;
Not now in hell where justice' petty pay sorted parcels minc'd for ay ; fi'd in Christ, who down has told sum at once in liquid gold.

hell low praise is only won,
e has the highest in thy Son ;
of righteousness that set in red,
the glorious morning would succeed.
en save thou me from sin and shame,
e highest glorify thy name.
this bright scene thy glories all express,
e as empress reigns through righteousness ;
cy fair runs in a crimson flood,
s through justice-satisfying blood :
then for mercy's sake I sue,
e glory of thy justice too.
each letter of thy name divine
r Jesus' face the brightest shine, ous Husband be forever mine.
is strong argument, so sweet, so blest, allowance, Lord, I must insist.
d, since thou allow'st unworthy me
hy glorious name my humble plea, worthy of it wilt thou gain,
g me into the burning main.

My feeble back can never suit the load,
That speaks thy name a sin-revenging God.
Scarce would that name seem a consuming fire
Upon a worm unworthy of thine ire.
But see the worthy Lamb, thy chosen Priest,
With justice' burning-glass against his breast,
Contracting all the beams of 'venging wrath,
As in their centre, till he burn to death.
Vengeance can never be so much proclaim'd,
By scatter'd beams among the millions damn'd.
Then, Lord, in him, me to the utmost save,
And thou shalt glory to the highest have :
Glory to wisdom, that contrived so well !
Glory to power, that bore and buried hell !
Glory to holiness, which sin defac'd, .
With sinless service now divinely grac'd !
Glory to justice' sword, that flaming stood,
Now drunk to pleasure with atoning blood !
Glory to truth, that now in scarlet clad,
Has seal'd both threats and promises with red !
Glory to mercy, now in purple streams,
So sweetly gliding through the divine flames
Of other once offended, now exalted names !

attribute conspires with joint embrace,
 show its sparkling rays in Jesus' face ;
 thus to deck the crown of matchless grace.
 thy name in hell ne'er can accrue thousandth part of this great revenue.
 ravishing contrivance ! light that blinds bic gazers, and seraphic minds.
 pry into the deep, and love to learn yet should vastly more be my concern.
 once my hope most reasonless could dream av'n, without regard to thy great name :
 ere is laid my lasting hope to found,
 hly rational, a divine ground.
 easonable, I expect thou 'lt take ray that most wilt for thine honor make.
 s the plan ? Lord, let me build my claim
 e, on this high glory of thy name.
 et my faithless heart or think or say,
 all this glory shall be thrown away r perdition ; which will never raise y great name so vast a rent of praise.
 n a rebel into favor take :
 shield and save me for thy glory's sake.

My endless ruin is not worth the cost,
That so much glory be forever lost.
I 'll of the greatest sinner bear the shame,
To bring the greatest honor to thy name.
Small loss, though I should perish endless days,
But thousand pities grace should lose the praise.
O hear, JEHOVAH; get the glory then,
And to my supplication say, Amen."

SECTION V.

THE TERRIBLE DOOM OF UNBELIEVERS AND REJECTERS OF CHRIST, OR DESPISERS OF THE GOSPEL.

THUS, sinner, into Jesus' bosom flee,
Then there is hope in Isr'el sure for thee.
Slight not the call, as running by in rhyme,
Lest thou repent for ay, if not in time.
'T is most unlawful to contemn and shun
All wholesome counsels that in metre run ;
Since the prime fountains of the sacred writ
Much heav'nly truth in holy rhymes transmit.
If this do n't please, yet hence it is no crime
To verify the word, and preach in rhyme.

Whatever mould the doctrine lies,
Whom minds will gospel truth despise
Remend, till Heav'n anoint their eyes.
Who pretend no conqu'ring art nor skill,
Who, in weak attempts, a strong good-will Forget all native legal pride,
To the Lamb of God a virgin bride.
Whom conjunct match be never giv'n,
Who, doomed to hell, as sure as God's in Heav'n.
Who, by grace and goodness do n't thee draw,
Who, condemn'd already by the law,
Whom the damnation deep will doubly brace,
Who, by heart contemn redeeming grace.
Who, without consent from fear or hope will move,
Who, by thy heart, if not the bond of love :
Who, by the joys, nor flaming terrors chase
Who, without the hav'n, without the gales of grace.
Who, then, of grace's joyful sound,
Who, driven over to the wrathful ocean bound.
Who, if thou 'lt sink into the gulf of woes,
Who, if thy wasting hours are at a close :
Who, if thy old legal hope will then be lost,
Who, if thy wretched soul give up the ghost.

Then farewell God and Christ, and grace and glo
Undone thou art, undone for evermore,
Forever sinking underneath the load
And pressure of a sin-revenging God.
The sacred awful text asserts, to fall
Into his living hands is fearful thrall ;
When no more sacrifice for sin remains,*
But ever-living wrath, and lasting chains :
Heav'n still upholding life in dreadful death,
Still throwing down hot thunderbolts of wrath,
As full of terror, and as manifold,
As finite vessels of his wrath can hold.

“Then,” then we may suppose the wretch to c
“Oh! if this damning God would let me die,
And not torment me to eternity!
Why from the silent womb of stupid earth,
Did Heav'n awake, and push me into birth?
Curs'd be the day that ever gave me life ;
Curs'd be the cruel parents, man and wife,
Means of my being instruments of wo ;
For now I 'm damn'd, I 'm damn'd, and always s
Curs'd be the day that ever made me hear
The gospel call, which brought salvation near ;

* Heb. x. 29, 31.

The endless sound of slighted mercy's bell,
Has in mine ears the most tormenting knell.
Of offer'd grace I vain repent the loss,
The joyful sound with horror recognosce.
The hollow vault reverberates the sound :
This killing echo strikes the deepest wound,
And with too late remorse does now confound.
Into the dungeon of despair I 'm lock'd,
Th' once open door of hope forever block'd :
Hopeless, I sink into the dark abyss,
Banish'd forever from eternal bliss.
In boiling waves of vengeance must I lie ?
O could I curse this dreadful God, and die !
Infinite years in torment shall I spend,
And never, never, never, at an end !
Ah ! must I live in torturing despair
As many years as atoms in the air ?
When these are spent, as many thousands more
As grains of sand that crowd the ebbing shore ?
When these are done, as many yet behind
As leaves of forest shaken with the wind ?
When these are gone, as many to ensue
As stems of grass on hills and dales that grew ?

When these run out, as many on the march
As starry lamps that gild the spangled arch ?
When these expire, as many millions more
As moments in the millions past before ?
When all these doleful years are spent in pain,
And multipli'd by myriads again,
Till numbers drown the thought ; could I suppose
That then my wretched years were at a close,
This would afford some ease : but, ah ! I shiver
To think upon the dreadful sound, forever !
The burning gulf, where I blaspheming lie,
Is time no more, but vast eternity.
The growing torment I endure for sin,
Through ages all is always to begin.
How did I but a grain of pleasure sow,
To reap a harvest of immortal wo !
Bound to the bottom of the burning main,
Gnawing my chains, I wish for death in vain.
Just doom ! since I that bear the eternal load
Contemn'd the death of an eternal God.
Oh ! if the God that curs'd me to the lash,
Would bless me back to nothing with a dash !
But hopeless I the just Avenger hate,
Blaspheme the wrathful God, and curse my fate."

To these this word of terror I direct,
Who now the great salvation dare neglect :*
To all the Christ-despising multitude,
That trample on the great Redeemer's blood ;
That see no beauty in his glorious face,
But slight his offers, and refuse his grace.
A messenger of wrath to none I am,
But those that hate to wed the worthy Lamb.
For though the smallest sins, if small can be,
Will plunge the Christless soul in misery,
Yet, lo! the greatest that to mortals cleave,
Shan't damn the souls in Jesus that believe ;
Because they on the very method fall
That well can make amends to God for all.
Whereas proud souls, through unbelief, wont let
The glorious God a reparation get
Of all his honor, in his darling Son,
For all the great dishonors they have done.
A faithless soul the glorious God bereaves
Of all the satisfaction that he craves ;
Hence under divine hottest fury lies,
And with a double vengeance justly dies.

* Heb. ii. 3.

The blackest part of Tophet is their place,
Who slight the tenders of redeeming grace.
That sacrilegious monster, Unbelief,
So harden'd 'gainst remorse and pious grief,
Robs God of all the glory of his names,
And ev'ry divine attribute defames.
It loudly calls the truth of God a lie ;
The God of truth a liar ;* horrid cry !
Doubts and denies his precious words of grace,
Spits venom in the royal Suitor's face.
This monster cannot cease all sin to hatch,
Because it proudly mars the happy match.
As each law-wedded soul is join'd to sin,
And destitute of holiness within ;
So all that wed the law must wed the curse,
Which rent they scorn to pay with Christ's full purse.
They clear may read their dreadful doom in brief,
Whose fester'd sore is final unbelief :
Though to the law their life exactly fram'd,
For zealous acts and passions too were fam'd :
Yet, lo ! He that believes not shall be damn'd.†

* John v. 10.

† John iii. 18.

But now 't is proper, on the other side,
With words of comfort to address the bride,
She in her glorious Husband does possess
Adorning grace, acquitting righteousness:
And hence to her pertain the golden mines
Of comfort opened in the foll'wing lines.

PART II.

THE BELIEVER'S JOINTURE;

OR,

"THY MAKER IS THY HUSBAND."

N. B. The following lines being primarily intended for the use and edification of piously-exercised souls, and especially those of a more common and ordinary capacity, the author thought fit, through the whole of this second part of the book, to continue as in the former editions, to repeat that part of the text, "Thy Husband," in the last line of every verse; because, however it tended to limit him, and restrict his liberty of words in the composition, yet, having ground to judge that this appropriating compellation still resumed has rendered these lines formerly the more savory to some exercised Christians, to whom the name of CHRIST (particularly as their Head and Husband) is as ointment poured forth, he chose rather to subject himself to that restriction, than to withhold what may tend to the satisfaction and comfort of those to whom CHRIST is all in all; and to whom his name, as their Husband, so many various ways applied, will be no nauseous repetition.

CHAPTER I.

CONTAINING THE PRIVILEGES OF THE BELIEVER THAT IS ESPOUSED TO CHRIST BY FAITH OF DIVINE OPERATION.

SECTION I.

THE BELIEVER'S PERFECT BEAUTY, FREE ACCEPTANCE, AND FULL SECURITY, THROUGH THE IMPUTATION OF CHRIST'S PERFECT RIGHTEOUSNESS, THOUGH IMPARTED GRACE BE IMPERFECT.

O HAPPY soul, JEHOVAH's bride,
The Lamb's beloved spouse;

Strong consolation's flowing tide,
Thy Husband thee allows.

In thee, though like thy father's race,
By nature black as hell ;
Yet now so beautified by grace,
Thy Husband loves to dwell.

Fair as the moon thy robes appear,
While graces are in dress :
Clear as the sun,* while found to wear
Thy Husband's righteousness.

Thy moon-like graces, changing much,
Have here and there a spot ;
Thy sun-like glory is not such,
Thy Husband changes not.

Thy white and ruddy vesture fair
Outvies the rosy leaf ;
For 'mong ten thousand beauties rare
Thy Husband is the chief.

Cloth'd with the sun, thy robes of light
The morning rays outshine ;

The lamps of heav'n are not so bright,
Thy Husband decks thee fine.

Though hellish smoke thy duties stain
And sin deforms thee quite ;
Thy Surety's merit makes thee clean,
Thy Husband's beauty white.

Thy pray'rs and tears, nor pure, nor good,
But vile and loathsome seem ;
Yet gain, by dipping in his blood,
Thy Husband's high esteem.

No fear thou starve, though wants be great,
In him thou art complete :*
Thy hungry soul may hopeful wait,
Thy Husband gives thee meat.

Thy money, merit, pow'r, and pelf,
Were squander'd by thy fall ;
Yet, having nothing in thyself,
Thy Husband is thy all.

Law-precepts, threats, may both beset
To crave of thee their due ;

* Col. ii. 10.

But justice for thy double debt
Thy Husband did pursue.

Though justice stern as much belong
As mercy to a God ;
Yet justice suffer'd here no wrong,
Thy Husband's back was broad.

He bore the load of wrath alone,
That mercy might take vent ;
Heav'n's pointed arrows all upon
Thy Husband's heart were spent.

No partial pay could justice still,
No farthing was retrench'd ;
Vengeance exacted all, until Thy Husband all advanc'd.

He paid in liquid golden red
Each mite the law requir'd,
Till with a loud 'T is finished,*
Thy Husband's breath expir'd.

No process more the law can tent ;
Thou stand'st within its verge,

* John xix. 30.

And mayst at pleasure now present
Thy Husband's full discharge.

Though new-contracted guilt beget
New fears of divine ire,
Yet fear thou not ; though drown'd in debt,
Thy Husband is the payer.

God might in rigor thee indite
Of highest crimes and flaws ;
But on thy head no curse can light ;
Thy Husband is the cause.

SECTION II.

CHRIST THE BELIEVER'S FRIEND, PROPHET, PRIEST, KIN DEFENCE, GUIDE, GUARD, HELP, AND HEALER.

DEAR soul, when all the human race
Lay welt'ring in their gore,
Vast numbers in that dismal case
Thy Husband passed o'er.

But pray, why did he thousands pass,
And set his heart on thee ?
The deep, the searchless reason was,
Thy Husband's love is free.

The forms of favor, names of grace,
And offices of love,
He bears for thee, with open face,
Thy Husband's kindness prove.

'Gainst darkness black, and error blind,
Thou hast a sun and shield :*
And, to reveal the Father's mind,
Thy Husband's prophet seal'd.

He likewise to procure thy peace,
And save from sin's arrest,
Resign'd himself a sacrifice ;
Thy Husband is thy priest.

And that he might thy will subject,
And sweetly captive bring,
Thy sins subdue, his throne erect,
Thy Husband is thy King.

Though num'rous and assaulting foes
Thy joyful peace may mar,
And thou a thousand battles lose,
Thy Husband wins the war.

* Psalm lxxxiv. 11.

Hell's forces, which thy mind appall,
His arm can soon dispatch ;
How strong soe'er, yet for them all
Thy Husband 's more than match.

Though secret lusts with hid contest,
By heavy groans reveal'd,
And devils rage ; yet, do their best,
Thy Husband keeps the field.

When, in desertion's evening dark,
Thy steps are apt to slide,
His conduct seek, his counsel mark,
Thy Husband is thy guide.

In doubts, renouncing self-conceit,
His word and Spirit prize :
He never counsell'd wrong as yet,
Thy Husband is so wise.

When weak, thy refuge seest at hand,
Yet cannot run the length :
'T is present pow'r to understand
Thy Husband is thy strength.

When shaking storms annoy thy heart,
His word commands a calm ;

When bleeding wounds, to ease thy smart,
Thy Husband's blood is balm.

Trust creatures, nor to help thy thrall,
Nor to assuage thy grief :
Use means, but look beyond them all,
Thy Husband's thy relief.

If Heav'n prescribe a bitter drug,
Fret not with froward will :
This carriage may thy cure prorogue ;
Thy Husband wants not skill.

He sees the sore, he knows the cure
Will most adapted be ;
'T is then most reasonable, sure,
Thy Husband choose for thee.

Friendship is in his chastisements,
And favor in his frowns ;
Thence judge not then in heavy plaints,
Thy Husband thee disowns.

The deeper his sharp lancet go,
In ripping up thy wound,
The more thy healing shall unto Thy Husband's praise redound.

SECTION III.

CHRIST THE BELIEVER'S WONDERFUL PHYSICIAN, AND WEALTHY FRIEND.

KIND Jesus empties whom he 'll fill,
Casts down whom he will raise ;
He quickens whom he seems to kill ;
Thy Husband thus gets praise.

When awful rods are in his hand,
There 's mercy in his mind ;
When clouds upon his brow do stand,
Thy Husband's heart is kind.

In various changes to and fro,
He 'll ever constant prove ;
Nor can his kindness come and go,
Thy Husband's name is Love.

His friends in most afflicted lot
His favor most have felt ;
For when they 're tried in furnace hot,
Thy Husband's bowels melt.

When he his bride or wounds or heals,
Heart-kindness does him move ;

And wraps in frowns as well as smiles,
Thy Husband's lasting love.

In 's hand no cure could ever fail
Though of a hopeless state,
He can in desp'rate cases heal,
Thy Husband's art 's so great.

The medicine he did prepare,
Can't fail to work for good :
O balsam pow'rful, precious, rare,
Thy Husband's sacred blood :

Which freely from his broached breast
Gush'd out like pent-up fire.
His cures are best, his wages least,
Thy Husband takes no hire.

Thou hast no worth, no might, no good,
His favor to procure :
But see his store, his pow'r, his blood !
Thy Husband 's never poor.

Himself he humbled wond'rously
Once to the lowest pitch,
That bankrupts through his poverty
Thy Husband might enrich.

His treasure is more excellent
Than hills of Ophir gold :
In telling stores were ages spent ;
Thy Husband's can't be told.

All things that fly on wings of fame,
Compar'd with this are dross ;
Thy searchless riches in his name
Thy Husband doth engross.

The great IMMANUEL, God-man,
Includes such store divine ;
Angels and saints will never scan
Thy Husband's golden mine.

He's full of grace and truth* indeed,
Of Spirit, † merit, might ;
Of all the wealth that bankrupts need,
Thy Husband's heir by right.

Though heaven's his throne, ‡ he came from thence,
To seek and save the lost ; §
Whatever be the vast expense,
Thy Husband's at the cost.

* John i. 14.

† Isa. lxvi. 1.

‡ John iii. 34.

§ Luke xix. 10.

Pleas'd to expend each drop of blood
That fill'd his royal veins,
He frank the sacred victim stood ;
Thy Husband spared no pains.

His cost immense was in thy place :
Thy freedom cost his thrall ;
Thy glory cost him deep disgrace,
Thy Husband paid for all.

SECTION IV.

THE BELIEVER'S SAFETY UNDER THE COVERT OF CHRIST'S ATONING BLOOD, AND POWERFUL INTERCESSION.

WHEN Heav'n proclaimed hot war and wrath,
And sin increased the strife ;
By rich obedience unto death,
Thy Husband bought thy life.

The charges could not be abridg'd,
But on these noble terms ;
Which all that prize, are hugg'd amidst Thy Husband's folded arms.

When law condemns, and justice too
To prison would thee hale ;

As sureties kind for bankrupts do,
Thy Husband offers bail.

God on these terms is reconcil'd,
And thou his heart hast won ;
In Christ thou art his favor'd child,
Thy Husband is his Son.

Vindictive wrath is whole appeas'd,
Thou need'st not then be mov'd ;
In JESUS always he's well pleas'd,
Thy Husband's his Belov'd.*

What can be laid unto thy charge,
When God does not condemn ?
Bills of complaint, though foes enlarge,
Thy Husband answers them.

When fear thy guilty mind confounds,
Full comfort this may yield ;
Thy ransom-bill with blood and wounds
Thy Husband kind has seal'd.

His promise is the fair extract
Thou hast at hand to show ;

* Matt. iii. 17.

Stern justice can no more exact ;
Thy Husband paid its due.

No terms he left thee to fulfil,
No clog to mar thy faith ;
His bond is sign'd, his latter will
Thy Husband seal'd by death.

The great condition of the band
Of promise and of bliss,
Is wrought by him, and brought to hand,
Thy Husband's righteousness.

When therefore press'd in time of need,
To sue the promis'd good,
Thou hast no more to do but plead
Thy Husband's sealing blood.

This can thee more to God commend,
And cloudy wrath dispel,
Than e'er thy sinning could offend ;
Thy Husband vanquish'd hell.

When vengeance seems, for broken laws,
To light on thee with dread ;
Let Christ be umpire of thy cause,
Thy Husband well can plead.

He pleads his righteousness that brought,
All rents the law could crave ;
Whate'er its precepts, threat'nings sought,
Thy Husband fully gave.

Did holiness in precepts stand,
And for perfection call,
Justice in threat'nings death demand ?
Thy Husband gave it all.

His blood the fiery law did quench,
Its summons need not scar :
Tho 't cite thee to Heav'n's awful bench,
Thy Husband 's at the bar.

This Advocate has much to say,
His clients need not fear :
For God the Father hears him ay,
Thy Husband hath his ear.

A cause fail'd never in his hand.
So strong his pleading is,
His Father grants his whole demand,
Thy Husband's will is his.

Hell-forces all may rendezvous ;
Accusers may combine ;

Yet fear thou not who art his spouse,
Thy Husband's cause is thine.

By solemn oath JEHOVAH did
His priesthood ratify ;
Let earth and hell then counterplead,
Thy Husband gains the plea.

SECTION V..

THE BELIEVER'S FAITH AND HOPE ENCOURAGED, EVEN IN THE DARKEST NIGHTS OF DESERTION AND DISTRESS.

THE cunning serpent may accuse,
But never shall succeed ;
The God of peace will Satan bruise,
Thy Husband broke his head.*

Hell-furies threaten to devour,
Like lions robb'd of whelps :
But, lo ! in ev'ry per'lous hour,
Thy Husband always helps.

That feeble faith may never fail,
Thine Advocate has pray'd ;

* Rom. xvi. 20.

Though winnowing tempest may assail,
Thy Husband's near to aid.

Though grievous trials grow apace,
And put thee to a stand ;
Thou mayst rejoice in ev'ry case,
Thy Husband's help's at hand.

Trust, though, when in desertion dark,
No twinkling star by night,
No ray appear, no glim'ring spark ;
Thy Husband is thy light.

His beams anon the clouds can rent,
And through the vapors run ;
For of the brightest firmament
Thy Husband is the sun.

Without the sun who mourning go,
And scarce the way can find,
He brings through paths they do not know ;*
Thy Husband leads the blind.

Through fire and water he with skill
Brings to a wealthy land ;

* Isa. xliii. 16.

Rude flames and roaring floods, Be still,
Thy Husband can command.

When sin disorders heavy brings,
That press thy soul with weight ;
Then mind how many crooked things
Thy Husband has made straight.

Still look to him with longing eyes,
Though both thine eyes should fail ;
Cry, and at length, though not thy cries,
Thy Husband shall prevail.

Still hope for favor at his hand,
Though favor do n't appear ;
When help seems most aloof to stand,
Thy Husband 's then most near.

In cases hopeless-like, faint hopes
May fail, and fears annoy ;
But most when stript of earthly props,
Thy Husband thou 'lt enjoy.

If providence the promise thwart,
And yet thy humbled mind
'Gainst hope believes in hope,* thou art
Thy Husband's dearest friend.

* Rom. vi. 18.

Art thou a weakling, poor and faint,
In jeopardy each hour ?
Let not thy weakness move thy plaint,
Thy Husband has the pow'r.

Dread not the foes that foil'd thee long
Will ruin thee at length :
When thou art weak, then art thou strong ;
Thy Husband is thy strength.

When foes are mighty, many too,
Do n't fear, nor quit the field ;
'T is not with thee they have to do,
Thy Husband is thy shield.

'T is hard to fight against a host,
Or strive against the stream ;
But lo! when all seems to be lost,
Thy Husband will redeem.

SECTION VI.

BENEFITS ACCRUING TO BELIEVERS, FROM THE OFFICES, P
NATURES, AND SUFFERINGS OF CHRIST.

ART thou by lusts a captive led,
Which breeds thy deepest grief ?

To ransom captives is his trade,
Thy Husband's thy relief.

His precious name is JESUS, why?
Because he saves from sin.*
Redemption right he wont deny,
Thy Husband's near of kin.

His wounds have sav'd thee once from woes,
His blood from vengeance screen'd ;
When heav'n, and earth, and hell were foes,
Thy Husband was a friend :

And will thy Captain now look on,
And see thee trampled down?
When, lo! thy Champion has the throne,
Thy Husband wears the crown.

Yield not, though cunning Satan bribe,
Or like a lion roar ;
The Lion strong of Judah's tribe,
Thy Husband's to the fore.

And that he never will forsake,†
His credit fair he pawn'd ;

* Matt. i. 21.

† Heb. xiii. 5.

In hottest broils, then, courage take,
Thy Husband's at thy hand.

No storm needs drive thee to a strait,
Who dost his aid invoke :
Fierce winds may blow, proud waves may b
Thy Husband is the rock.

Renounce thine own ability,
Lean to his promis'd might ;
The Strength of Isr'el cannot lie,
Thy Husband's pow'r is plight.

An awful truth does here present,
Whoever think it odd ;
In him thou art omnipotent,
Thy Husband is a God.

J E H O V A H ' s strength is in thy Head,
Which faith may boldly scan ;
God in thy nature does reside,
Thy Husband is a man.

Thy flesh is his, his Spirit thine ;
And that you both are one,
One body, spirit, temple, vine,
Thy Husband deigns to own.

Kind he assum'd thy flesh and blood
This union to pursue ;
And without shame his brotherhood
Thy Husband does avow.

He bore the cross thy crown to win,
His blood he freely spilt ;
The holy One assuming sin,
Thy Husband bore the guilt.

Lo ! what a blest exchange is this !
What wisdom shines therein !
That thou mightst be made righteousness
Thy Husband was made sin :*

The God of joy a man of grief,
Thy sorrows to discuss ;
Pure innocence hang'd as a thief :
Thy Husband lov'd thee thus.

Bright beauty had his visage marr'd
His comely form abus'd.
True rest was from all rest debarr'd,
Thy Husband's heel was bruis'd.

* 2 Cor. v. 21.

The God of blessings was a curse,
The Lord of lords a drudge,
The heir of all things poor in purse :
Thy Husband did not grudge.

The Judge of all condemned was,
The God immortal slain ;
No favor in thy woful cause
Thy Husband did obtain.

SECTION VII.

CHRIST'S SUFFERINGS FURTHER IMPROVED; AND BELIEV.
CALLED TO LIVE BY FAITH, BOTH WHEN THEY HAVE AND W.
SENSIBLE INFLUENCES.

LOUD praises sing, without surcease,
To him that frankly came,
And gave his soul a sacrifice ;
Thy Husband was the Lamb.

What waken'd vengeance could denounce,
All round him did beset ;
And never left his soul till once
Thy Husband paid the debt.

And though new debt thou still contract,
And run in deep arrears ;

Yet all thy burdens on his back
Thy Husband always bears.

Thy Judge will ne'er demand of thee
Two payments for one debt ;
Thee with one victim wholly free
Thy Husband kindly set.

That no grim vengeance might thee meet,
Thy Husband met with all ;
And, that thy soul might drink the sweet,
Thy Husband drank the gall.

Full breasts of joy he loves t' extend
Like to a kindly nurse ;
And, that thy bliss might full be gain'd,
Thy Husband was a curse.

Thy sins he glu'd unto the tree,
His blood this virtue hath ;
For, that thy heart to sin might die,
Thy Husband suffer'd death.

To purchase fully all thy good,
All evil him befell ;
To win thy heav'n with streams of blood,
Thy Husband quenched hell.

That this kind DAYS-MAN in one band
Might God and man betroth,
He on both parties lays his hand,
Thy Husband pleases both.

The blood that could stern justice please,
And law-demands fulfil,
Can also guilty conscience ease ;
Thy Husband clears the bill.

Thy highest glory is obtain'd
By his abasement deep ;
And that thy tears might all be drain'd,
Thy Husband chose to weep.

His bondage all thy freedom bought,
He stoop'd so lowly down ;
His grappling all thy grandeur brought,
Thy Husband's cross thy crown.

'T is by his shock thy sceptre sways,
His warfare ends thy strife ;
His poverty thy wealth conveys,
Thy Husband's death thy life.

Do mortal damps invade thy heart,
And deadness seize thee sore ?

Rejoice in this, that life t' impart

Thy Husband has in store.

And when new life imparted seems

Establish'd as a rock,

Boast in the fountain, not the streams ;

Thy Husband is thy stock.

The streams may take a various turn,

The fountain never moves :

Cease then, o'er failing streams to mourn,

Thy Husband thus thee proves.

That glad thou mayst, when drops are gone,

Joy in the spacious sea :

When incomes fail, then still upon

Thy Husband keep thine eye.

But can't thou look, nor moan thy strait,

So dark 's the dismal hour ?

Yet, as thou 'rt able, cry and wait

Thy Husband's day of pow'r.

Tell him though sin prolong the term,

Yet love can scarce delay :

Thy want, his promise, all affirm

Thy Husband must not stay.

SECTION VIII.CHRIST THE BELIEVER'S ENRICHING TREASURE.

KIND Jesus lives, thy life to be
Who mak'st him thy refuge ;
And, when he comes, thou 'lt joy to see
Thy Husband shall be judge.

Should passing troubles thee annoy,
Without, within, or both ?
Since endless life thou 'lt then enjoy,
Thy Husband pledg'd his troth.

What wont he, ev'n in time, impart
That 's for thy real good ?
He gave his love, he gave his heart,
Thy Husband gave his blood.

He gives himself, and what should more ?
What can he then refuse ?
If this wont please thee, ah ! how sore
Thy Husband dost abuse !

Earth's fruit, heav'n's dew, he wont deny,
Whose eyes thy need behold :

Nought under or above the sky
Thy Husband will withhold.

Do losses grieve ? Since all is thine,
What loss can thee befall ?
All things for good to thee combine,*
Thy Husband orders all.

Thou 'rt not put off with barren leaves,
Or dung of earthly pelf ;
More wealth than heaven and earth he gives,
Thy Husband 's thine himself.

Thou hast enough to stay thy plaint,
Else thou complain'st of ease ;
For, having all, do n't speak of want,
Thy Husband may suffice.

From this thy store, believing, take
Wealth to the utmost pitch :
The gold of Ophir cannot make,
Thy Husband makes thee rich.

Some flying gains acquire by pains
And some by plund'ring toil

* Rom. viii. 28.

Such treasures fade, but thine remains,
Thy Husband's cannot spoil.

SECTION IX.

CHRIST THE BELIEVER'S ADORNING GARMENT

YEA, thou excell'st in rich attire
The lamp that lights the globe,
Thy sparkling garment heav'ns admire,
Thy Husband is thy robe.

This raiment never waxes old,
'T is always new and clean ;
From summer heat, and winter cold,
Thy Husband can thee screen.

All who the name of worthies bore,
Since Adam was undrest,
No worth acquired, but as they wore
Thy Husband's purple vest.

This linen fine can beautify
The soul with sin begirt :
O bless his name that e'er on thee
Thy Husband spread his skirt.

Are dunghills deck'd with flow'ry glore,
Which Solomon's outvie ?
Sure thine is infinitely more,
Thy Husband decks the sky.

Thy hands could never work the dress,
By grace alone thou 'rt gay :
Grace vents and reigns thro' righteousness,
Thy Husband's bright array.

To spin thy robe no more dost need
Than lilies toil for theirs ;
Out of his bowels ev'ry thread
Thy Husband thine prepares.

SECTION X.CHRIST THE BELIEVER'S SWEET NOURISHMENT.

Thy food, conform to thine array,
Is heav'nly and divine ;
On pastures green, where angels play,
Thy Husband feeds thee fine.

Angelic food may make thee fair,
And look with cheerful face ;

The bread of life, the double share ;
Thy Husband's love and grace.

What can he give or thou desire,
More than his flesh and blood ?
Let angels wonder, saints admire,
Thy Husband is thy food.

His flesh the incarnation bears
From whence thy feeding flows ;
His blood the satisfaction clears
Thy Husband both bestows.

'Th' incarnate God a sacrifice
To turn the wrathful tide,
Is food for faith ; that may suffice
Thy Husband's guilty bride.

This strength'ning food may fit and fence
For work and war to come ;
Till thro' the crowd, some moments hence,
Thy Husband bring thee home :

Where plenteous feasting will succeed
To scanty feeding here :
And joyful at the table-head
Thy Husband fair appear.

The crumbs to banquets will give place,
And drops to rivers new ;
While heart and eye will face to face
Thy Husband ever view.

CHAPTER II.

CONTAINING THE MARKS AND CHARACTERS OF THE BELIEVER
IN CHRIST; TOGETHER WITH SOME FURTHER PRIVILEGES AND GROUNDS OF COMFORT TO THE SAINT.

SECTION I.

DOUBTING BELIEVERS CALLED TO EXAMINE, BY MARKS DRAWN FROM THEIR LOVE TO HIM AND HIS PRESENCE, THEIR VIEW OF HIS GLORY, AND THEIR BEING EMPTIED OF SELF-RIGHTEOUS-NESS, ETC.

Good news! but, says the drooping bride,
Ah! what 's all this to me?
Thou doubt'st thy right when shadows hide
Thy Husband's face from thee.

Through sin and guilt thy spirit faints,
And trembling fears thy fate;
But harbor not thy groundless plaints,
Thy Husband's advent wait.

Thou sobb'st, "O were I sure he 's mine,
This would give glad'ning ease;
And say'st, tho' wants and woes combine,
Thy Husband would thee please.

But up and down, and seldom clear,
Inclos'd with hellish routs ;
Yet yield thou not, nor foster fear :
Thy Husband hates thy doubts.

Thy cries and tears may slighted seem,
And barr'd from present ease ;
Yet blame thyself, but never dream
Thy Husband 's ill to please.

Thy jealous unbelieving heart
Still droops, and knows not why ;
Then prove thyself, to ease thy smart,
Thy Husband bids thee try.

The foll'wing questions put to thee,
As scripture-marks, may tell
And show, whate'er thy failings be,
Thy Husband loves thee well.

MARKS.

ART thou content when he 's away ?
Can earth allay thy pants ?
If conscience witness, wont it say,
Thy Husband 's all thou wants ?

When he is near, (though in a cross),
And thee with comfort feeds ;
Dost thou not count the earth as dross,
Thy Husband all thou needs ?

In duties art thou pleas'd or pain'd,
When far he 's out of view ?
And finding him, think'st all regain'd,
Thy Husband always new ?

Tho' once thou thought'st, while Sinai mist
And darkness compass'd thee,
Thou wast undone ; and glorious Christ
Thy Husband ne'er would be :

Yet know'st thou not a fairer place,
Of which it may be told,
That there the glory of his grace,
Thy Husband did unfold ?

Where heav'nly beams inflam'd thy soul,
And love's seraphic art,
With hallelujahs, did extol
Thy Husband in thy heart.

Could'st then have wish'd all Adam's race
Had join'd with thee to gaze ;

That viewing fond his comely face,
Thy Husband might get praise ?

Art thou disjoin'd from other lords ?
Divorc'd from fed'ral laws ?

While with most loving gospel cords
Thy Husband kindly draws ?

A' n't thou enlighten'd now to see
Thy righteousness is naught
But rags,* that cannot cover thee ?
Thy Husband so has taught.

Dost see thy best performances
Deserve but hell indeed ?
And hence art led, renouncing these,
Thy Husband's blood to plead ?

When strengthen'd boldly to address
That gracious throne of his,
Dost find thy strength and righteousness,
Thy Husband only is ?

Canst thou thy most exalted frame
Renounce, as with'ring grass,

* Isa. lxiv. 6.

And firmly hold thine only claim,
 Thy Husband's worthiness ?

Canst pray with utmost holy pith,*
 And yet renounce thy good ?

And wash, not with thy tears, but with Thy Husband's precious blood ?

SECTION II.

BELIEVERS DESCRIBED FROM THEIR FAITH ACTING BY AID, AND FLEEING QUITE OUT OF THEMSELVES TO CH

CAN nothing less thy conscience ease,
 And please thy heart ; no less
 Than that which justice satisfies,
 Thy Husband's righteousness ?

Dost see thy works so stain'd with sin,
 That thou through grace are mov'd
 To seek acceptance only in Thy Husband, the Belov'd ?

Dost thou remind, that once a day
 Free grace did strengthen thee,

* Vigor or strength.

To gift thy guilty soul away,
Thy Husband's bride to be?

Or dost thou mind the day of pow'r,
Wherein he broke thy pride,
And gained thy heart? O happy hour!
Thy Husband caught the bride!

He did thy enmity subdue,
Thy bondage sad recall,
Made thee to choose, and close pursue
Thy Husband as thy all.

What rest, and peace, and joy ensu'd
Upon this noble choice?
Thy heart, with flow'rs of pleasure strew'd,
Thy Husband made rejoice.

Dost know thou ne'er could'st him embrace,
Till he embraced thee?
Nor ever see him, till his face
Thy Husband opened free?

And findest to this very hour,
That this is still the charm;
Thou canst do nothing, till with pow'r
Thy Husband show his arm?

Canst thou do nought by nature, art,
Or any strength of thine,
Until thy wicked, froward heart,
Thy Husband shall incline ?

But art thou, though without a wing
Of pow'r aloft to flee,
Yet able to do ev'rything,
Thy Husband strength'ning thee ?

Dost not alone at duties fork,*
But foreign aid enjoy ?
And still in ev'ry piece of work
Thy Husband's strength employ ?

Thy motion heav'nly is indeed,
While thou by faith dost move
And still in ev'ry time of need
Thy Husband's grace improve.

No common, nat'ral faith can show
Its divine brood like this ;
Whose object, author, feeder too,
Thy Husband only is.

* Labor, wrestle, or toll.

Dost thou by faith on him rely ?

On him, not on thy faith ?

If faith shall with its object vie,

Thy Husband 's set beneath.

Their hands' receiving faculty

Poor beggars never view ;

But hold the royal gift in eye :

Thy Husband so wilt thou.

Faith, like a gazing eye, ne'er waits

To boast in seeing pow'rs ;

Its object views, itself forgets ;

Thy Husband it adores.

It humbly still itself denies,

Nor brags its acts at all ;

Deep plung'd into its object lies,

Thy Husband is its all.

No strength but his it has, and vaunts,

No store but his can show :

Hence nothing has, yet nothing wants,

Thy Husband trains it so.

Faith, of its own, no might can show,

Else would itself destroy ;

But will for all it has to do,
Thy Husband still employ.

Self-saviours none could ever be
By faith or grace of theirs ;
Their fruitless toil, so high that flee,
Thy Husband's praise impairs.

The seemingly devoutest deed,
That would with shameless brow
His saving trade take o'er his head,
Thy Husband wont allow.

Dost therefore thou to him alone
Commit thy sinful soul ?
Knowing of thy salvation
Thy Husband is the whole ?

SECTION III.

BELIEVERS CHARACTERIZED BY THE OBJECTS AND PURI THEIR DESIRE, DELIGHT, JOY, HATRED, AND LOVE, DISC
ING THEY HAVE THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST.

Dost thou his Spirit's conduct wait ?
And, when compar'd to this,
All worldly wisdom underrate ?
Thy Husband waits to bless.

Tak'st thou his Spirit for thy guide

Through Baca's valley dry,

Whose streams of influences glide

Thy Husband's garden by ?

In digging wells here by his pow'r,

Dost find it not in vain,

While here a drop, and there a show'r

Thy Husband makes to rain ?

Hence dost thou through each weary case

From strength to strength go on,

From faith to faith, while grace for grace

Thy Husband gives anon ?

The good, the gracious work begun,

And further'd by his strength,

Shall prosp'rous, though with wrestling, win

Thy Husband's crown at length.

Sin's pow'r and presence canst thou own

Is thy most grievous smart,

That makes thee sob, and weep alone ?

Thy Husband knows thy heart.

Does love to him make thee distaste

Thy lusts with all their charms ?

And most them loath'st, when most thou hast
Thy Husband in thine arms ?

Are cords of love the sweetest ties
To bind thee duty-ways ?

And best thou serv'st when most thou spies
Thy Husband's beauteous rays ?

Didst ever thou thy pardon read
In tears of unfold joy ?

When mercy made thy heart to bleed,
Thy Husband was not coy.

Do pardons sweetly melt thy heart ?
And most imbitter sin ?

And make thee long with dross to part,
Thy Husband's throne to win ?

When he arises lust to kill,
Corruptions to destroy,
Does gladness then thy spirit fill ?
Thy Husband is thy joy.

Dost thou his person fair embrace
Beyond his blessings all ?
Sure, then, thou boldly mayst through grace
Thy Husband JESUS call.

What company dost thou prefer ?

What friends above the rest ?

Of all relations everywhere,

Thy Husband is the best.

Whom in the earth or heav'n dost thou

Most ardently desire ?

Is love's ascending spark unto

Thy Husband set on fire ?

Hast thou a hatred to his foes,

And dost their course decline ?

Lov'st thou his saints, and dar'st suppose

Thy Husband's friends are thine ?

Dost thou their talk and walk esteem,

When most divinely grave ?

And favor'st best when most they seem

Thy Husband's Sp'rit to have ?

SECTION IV.

BELIEVERS IN CHRIST AFFECT HIS COUNSEL, WORD, ORDINANCES, APPEARANCE, FULL ENJOYMENT IN HEAVEN, AND SWEET PRE-SENCE HERE.

WHERE go'st thou first when in a strait,

Or when with grief opprest ?

Fleest thou to him ? O happy gate !
Thy Husband is thy rest.

His counsel seek'st thou still prepar'd,
Nor canst without him live ?
Wisdom to guide, and strength to guard,
Thy Husband hath to give.

Canst thou produce no pleasant pawn,
Or token of his love ?
Wont signets, bracelets, from his hand,
Thy Husband's kindness prove ?

Mind'st when he sent his healing word,
Which, darting from on high,
Did light, and life, and joy afford ?
Thy Husband then was nigh.

Canst thou the promise sweet forget,
He dropt into thy heart ?
Such glad'ning pow'r, and love with it,
Thy Husband did impart.

Dost thou affect his dwelling-place,
And mak'st it thy repair ;
Because thine eyes have seen through grace,
Thy Husband's glory there ?

Dost love his great appearing day,
And thereon muse with joy ;
When dusky shades will fly away,
Thy Husband death destroy ?

Dost long to see his glorious face
Within the higher orb,
Where humid sorrows, losing place,
Thy Husband's rays absorb.

Long'st to be free of ev'ry fault,
To bid all sin adieu ;
And mount the hill, where glad thou shalt
Thy Husband's glory view ?

Life where it lives, love where it loves,
Will most desire to be :
Such love-sick longing plainly proves
Thy Husband's love to thee.

What is it best can ease thy plaint,
Spread morning o'er thine ev'n ?
Is his approach thy heart's content,
Thy Husband's presence heav'n ?

And when denied this sweet relief,
Canst thou assert full well,

His hiding is thy greatest grief,
Thy Husband's absence hell ?

Let thy experience be disclos'd ;
If conscience answer Yea
To all the queries here propos'd,
Thy Husband 's thine for ay.

Pertain these characters to thee ?
Then, soul, begin and praise
His glorious worthy name, for he Thy Husband is always.

SECTION V.

THE TRUE BELIEVER'S HUMILITY, DEPENDENCE, ZEAL, GROWTH, ADMIRATION OF FREE GRACE, AND KNOWLEDGE OF CHRIST'S VOICE.

PERHAPS a saint may sigh and say,
"I fear I 'm yet to learn
These marks of marriage love." Yet stay,
Thy Husband's bowels yearn.

Though darkness may the light obscure,
And storms surmount thy calms,
Day yield to night, and thou be poor,
Thy Husband yet has alma.

Dost see thyself an empty brat,
A poor, unworthy thing,
With heart upon the dust laid flat?
Thy Husband there does reign.

Art in thine own esteem a beast,
And dost thyself abhor?
The more thou hast of self-distaste,
Thy Husband loves thee more.

Can hell breed no such wicked elf,
As thou in thine own sight?
Thou 'st got, to see thy filthy self,
Thy Husband's purest light.

Canst find no name so black, so vile,
With which thou wouldst compare
But call'st thyself a lump of hell?
Thy Husband calls thee fair.

When his kind visits make thee see
He's precious, thou art vile,
Then mark the hand of God with thee,
Thy Husband gives a smile.

He knows what visits suit thy state,
And though most rare they be,

It sets thee well on him to wait,
Thy Husband waits on thee.

Dost see thou art both poor and weak,
And he both full and strong ?
O do n't his kind delays mistake,
Thy Husband comes ere long.

Though during Sinai's stormy day,
Thou dread'st the dismal blast,
And fear'st thou art a castaway,
Thy Husband comes at last.

The glorious Sun will rise apace,
And spread his healing wings,
In sparkling pomp of sov'reign grace,
Thy Husband gladness brings.

Canst thou, whate'er should come of thee,
Yet wish his Zion well,
And joy in her prosperity ?
Thy Husband loves thy zeal.

Dost thou admire his love to some,
Though thou shouldst never share ?
Mercy to thee will also come,
Thy Husband hath to spare.

Poor soul! dost grieve for want of grace,
And weep for want of love,
And Jesus seek'st? O hopeful case!
Thy Husband lives above.

Regretting much thy falling short,
Dost after more aspire?
There's hope in Isr'el for thy sort,
Thy Husband's thy desire.

Art thou well pleas'd that sov'reign grace
Through Christ exalted be?
This frame denotes no hopeless case:
Thy Husband's pleas'd with thee.

Couldst love to be the footstool low,
On which his throne might rise,
Its pompous grace around to show?
Thy Husband does thee prize.

If but a glance of his fair face,
Can cheer thee more than wine;
Thou in his loving heart has place
Thy Husband place in thine.

Dost make his blood thy daily bath?
His word and oath thy stay?

His law of love thy lightsome path ?

Thy Husband is thy way.

All things within earth's spacious womb

Dost count but loss and dung,

F'or one sweet word in season from

Thy Husband's learned tongue ?

Skill to discern and know his voice,

From words of wit and art,

Will clearly prove thou art his choice,

Thy Husband thine in heart.

The pompous words that fops admire,

May vagrant fancy feast ;

But with seraphic, harmless fire

Thy Husband's burn the breast.

SECTION VI.

TRUE BELIEVERS ARE WILLING TO BE TRIED AND EXAMINED.—
COMFORTS ARISING TO THEM FROM CHRIST'S READY SUPPLY, REAL SYMPATHY, AND RELIEVING NAMES, SUITING THEIR NEEDS.

Dost thou upon thy trait'rous heart

Still keep a jealous eye ?

Most willing that thy inward part,

Thy Husband strictly try ?

The thieving crowd will hate the light,
Lest stol'n effects be shown ;
But truth desires what 's wrong or right
Thy Husband would make known.

Dost then his trying word await,
His searching doctrine love ?
Fond, lest thou err through self-deceit,
Thy Husband would thee prove ?

Does oft thy mind with inward smart
Bewail thy unbelief ?
And conscious sue, from plagues of heart,
Thy Husband for relief ?

Why doubt'st his love ? and yet, behold,
With him thou wouldst not part
For thousand thousand earths of gold ;
Thy Husband has thy heart.

'Though darkness, deadness, unbelief,
May all thy soul attend ;
Light, life, and faith's mature relief,
Thy Husband has to send.

Of wants annoying, why complain ?
Supply arises hence ;

What gifts he has receiv'd for men,*

Thy Husband will dispense.

He got them in 's exalted state

For rebels such as thou ;

All, then, that 's needful, good, or great,

Thy Husband will allow.

Thy wants he sees, thy cries he hears :

And, marking all thy moans,

He in his bottle keeps thy tears ;

Thy Husband notes thy groans.

All thine infirmities him touch,

They strike his feeling heart ;

His kindly sympathy is such,

Thy Husband finds the smart.

Whatever touches thee affects

The apple of his eye ;

Whatever harms he therefore checks ;

Thy Husband's aid is nigh.

If foes are spar'd, thy need is such,

He slays them but in part :

* Psalm lxxviii. 18.

He can do all, and will do much ;
Thy Husband acts by art.

He often for the saddest hour
Reserves the sweetest aid :
See how such banners heretofore
Thy Husband has display'd.

Mind where he vouched his good-will,
Sometimes at Hermon* mount,
In Jordan land, at Mizar hill ;
Thy Husband keeps the count.

At sundry times and divers ways,
To suit thy various frames,
Hast seen like rising golden rays,
Thy Husband's various names ?

When guilty conscience ghastly stared,
JEHOVAH-TSIDKENU,†
The Lord thy righteousness, appear'd,
Thy Husband in thy view.

When in thy straits or wants extreme,
Help fail'd on every side,

* Psalm xlii. 6.

† Jer. xxiii. 6.

JEHOVAH-JIRAH* was his name,
Thy Husband did provide.

When thy long-absent Lord didst moan,
And to his courts repair ;
Then was JEHOVAH SHAMMAH† known,
Thy Husband present there.

When thy assaulting foes appear'd
In robes of terror clad,
JEHOVAH-NISSI‡ then was rear'd,
Thy Husband's banner spread.

When furies, arm'd with fright'ning guilt,
Dunn'd war without surcease ;
JEHOVAH-SHALOM§ then was built,
Thy Husband sent thee peace.

When thy diseases death proclaim'd,
And creature-balsams fail'd,
JEHOVAH-ROPHI|| then was named ;
Thy Husband kindly heal'd.

Thus, as thy various needs require,
In various modes like these,

* Gen. xxii. 14. † Ezek. xlvi. 35. ‡ Exod. xvii. 1!
§ Judg. vi. 24. || Exod. xv. 26.

The help that suits thy heart's desire,
Thy Husband's name conveys.

To th' little flock, as cases vary,
The great JEHOVAH shows
Himself a little sanctuary,*
Thy Husband gives the views.

SECTION VII.

THE BELIEVER'S EXPERIENCE OF CHRIST'S COMFORTABLE PRESENCE, OR OF FORMER COMFORTS TO BE IMPROVED FOR HIS ENCOURAGEMENT AND SUPPORT UNDER DARKNESS AND HIDINGS.

Dost mind the place, the spot of land,
Where Jesus did thee meet?
And how he got thy heart and hand?
Thy Husband then was sweet.

Dost mind the garden, chamber, bank,
A vale of vision seem'd?
Thy joy was full, thy heart was frank,
Thy Husband much esteem'd.

Let thy experience sweet declare,
If able to remind;

* Ezek. xi. 16.

A Bochim here, a Bethel there,
Thy Husband made thee find.

Was such a corner, such a place,
A paradise to thee,
A Peniel, where face to face
Thy Husband fair didst see ?

There did he clear thy cloudy cause,
Thy doubts and fears destroy ;
And on thy spirit seal'd he was,
Thy Husband with great joy ?

Couldst thou have said it boldly then,
And seal'd it with thy blood ?
Yea, welcome death with pleasure, when Thy Husband by thee stood ?

That earth again should thee insnare,
O how thy heart was pain'd !
For all its fading glory there
Thy Husband's beauty stain'd.

The thoughts of living more in sin
Were then like hell to thee ;
The life of heav'n did thus begin,
Thy Husband set thee free.

Whate'er thou found'st him at thy best,
He 's at thy worst the same,
And in his love will ever rest ;
Thy Husband holds his claim.

Let faith these visits keep in store,
Though sense the pleasure miss ;
The God of Bethel, as before,
Thy Husband always is.

In meas'ring his approaches kind,
And timing his descents,
In free and sov'reign ways thou 'lt find
Thy Husband thee prevents.

Prescribe not to him in thy heart,
He 's infinitely wise :
How oft he throws his loving dart,
Thy Husband does surprise.

Perhaps a sudden gale thee blest,
While walking in thy road ;
Or on a journey, e'er thou wist,
Thy Husband look'd thee broad.

Thus was the eunuch fam'd (his stage
A-riding on the way,

As he revolved the sacred page)*

Thy Husband's happy prey.

In hearing, reading, singing, pray'r,

When darkness compass'd thee,

Thou found'st, or e'er thou wast aware,

Thy Husband's light'ning free.

Of heav'nly gales do n't meanly think :

For, though thy soul complains,

They 're but a short and passing blink ;

Thy Husband's love remains.

Think not, though breezes haste away,

Thou dost his favor lose ;

But learn to know his sov'reign way

Thy Husband comes and goes.

Do n't say he 's gone forever, though.

His visits he adjourn,

For yet a little while, and lo,

Thy Husband will return.

In worship social, or retir'd,

Dost thou his absence wail ?

* Acts viii. 27—39.

Wait at his shore, and be not fear'd,
Thy Husband's ship's a-sail.

Yea, though in duties sense may miss
Thy soul's beloved One,
Yet do not faint, for never is Thy Husband wholly gone.

Though Satan, sin, earth, hell, at once,
Would thee of joy bereave,
Mind what he said, he wont renounce ;
Thy Husband will not leave.

Though foes assail, and friendship fail,
Thou hast a friend at court :
The gates of hell shall ne'er prevail,
Thy Husband is thy fort.

SECTION VIII.

COMFORT TO BELIEVERS FROM THE STABILITY OF THE PROMISE, NOTWITHSTANDING HEAVY CHASTISEMENTS FOR SIN.

TAKE well, howe'er kind Wisdom may
Dispose thy present lot ;
Tho' heav'n and earth should pass away,
Thy Husband's love will not.

All needful help he will afford,
Thou hast his vow and oath ;
And once to violate his word
Thy Husband will be loath.

To fire and floods with thee he 'll down,
His promise this insures,
Whose credit cannot burn nor drown :
Thy Husband's truth endures.

Dost thou no more his word believe,
Than mortal man's, forsooth ?
O do not thus his Spirit grieve !
Thy Husband is the Truth.

Though thou both wicked art and weak,
His word he 'll never rue ;
Though heav'n and earth should blend and break
Thy Husband will be true.

I 'll never leave thee,* is his vow,
If Truth has said the word.
While Truth is truth, this word is true,
Thy Husband is the Lord.

* Heb. xiii. 5.

Thy covenant of duties may Prove daily most unsure :
His covenant of grace for ay
Thy Husband does secure.

Dost thou to him thy promise break,
And fear he break to thee ?
Nay, not thy thousand crimes can make
Thy Husband once to lie.

He visit will thy sins with strokes,
And lift his heavy hand ;
But never once his word revokes,
Thy Husband's truth will stand.

Then dream not he is chang'd in love,
When thou art chang'd in frame ;
Thou mayst by turns unnumber'd move,
Thy Husband's ay the same.

He for thy follies may thee bind
With cords of great distress ;
To make thee moan thy sins, and mind
Thy Husband's holiness.

By wounds he makes thee seek his cure ;
By frowns his favor prize ;

By falls affrighting, stand more sure ;
Thy Husband is so wise.

Proud Peter in the dirt of vice
Fell down exceeding low ;
His tow'ring pride, by tumbling thrice,
Thy Husband cured so.

Before he suffer pride that swells,
He'll drag thee through the mire
Of sins, temptations, little hells ;
Thy Husband saves by fire.

He in affliction's mortar may
Squeeze out old Adam's juice,
Till thou return to him, and say,
Thy Husband is thy choice.

Fierce billows may thy vessel toss,
And crosses curses seem ;
But that the curse has fled the cross,
Thy Husband bids thee deem.

Conclude not he in wrath disowns,
When trouble thee surrounds ;
These are his favorable frowns,
Thy Husband's healing wounds.

Yea, when he gives the deepest lash,
Love leads the wounding hand :
His stroke, when sin has got a dash,
Thy Husband will remand.

SECTION IX.

COMFORT TO BELIEVERS, IN CHRIST'S RELATIONS, IN HIS DYING LOVE, HIS GLORY IN HEAVEN, TO WHICH HE WILL LEAD THEM THROUGH DEATH, AND SUPPLY WITH ALL NECESSARIES BY THE WAY.

BEHOLD the patrimony broad
That falls to thee by line ;
In Him thou art an heir of God,
Thy Husband's Father's thine.

He is of relatives a store ;
Thy Friend will help in thrall :
Thy Brother much, thy Father more,
Thy Husband most of all.

All these he does amass and share,
In ways that most excel :
'Mong all the husbands ever were,
Thy Husband bears the bell.

Whence run the streams of all thy good,
But from his pierced side ;

With liquid gold of precious blood
Thy Husband bought his bride.

His blood abundant value bore,
To make his purchase broad ;
'T was fair divinity in gore,
Thy Husband is thy God.

Who purchas'd at the highest price,
Be crown'd with highest praise ;
For in the highest paradise
Thy Husband wears the bays.

He is of heav'n the comely rose ;
His beauty makes it fair ;
Heav'n were but hell, couldst thou suppose
Thy Husband were not there.

He thither did in pomp ascend,
His spouse along to bring ;
That Hallelujahs without end
Thy Husband's bride may sing.

Ev'n there with him forever fix'd
His glory shalt thou see ;
And nought but death is now betwixt
Thy Husband's throne and thee.

He 'll order death, that porter rude,
To ope the gates of brass ;
For, lo ! with characters of blood
Thy Husband wrote thy pass.

At Jordan deep then be not scar'd,
Though dismal-like and broad ;
Thy sun will guide, thy shield will guard ;
Thy Husband pav'd the road.

He 'll lead thee safe, and bring thee home,
And still let blessings fall
Of grace while here, till glory come :
Thy Husband 's bound for all.

His store can answer ev'ry bill,
Thy food and raiment 's bought ;
Be at his will, thou 'lt have thy fill,
Thy Husband wants for nought.

What can thy soul conceive it lacks ?
His store, his pow'r is thine ;
His lib'ral heart to lib'ral acts
Thy Husband does incline.

Though on thy hand, that has no might,
He should thy task enlarge ;

Nor work nor warfare needs thee frigh
 Thy Husband bears the charge.

Thou wouldst (if left) thyself undo,
 So apt to fall and stray ;
 But he uplifts and leads thee too :
 Thy Husband knows the way.

SECTION X.

COMFORT TO BELIEVERS, FROM THE TEXT, " THY HUSBAND," INVERTED THUS, THY HUSBAND IS THY
 THE CONCLUSION OF THIS SUBJECT.

OF light and life, of grace and glore,
 In Christ thou art partaker ;
 Rejoice in him for evermore,
 Thy Husband is thy Maker.

He made thee, yea, made thee his brid
 Nor heeds thine ugly patch ;
 To what he made he 'll still abide,
 Thy Husband made the match.

He made all ; yea, he made all thine ;
 All to thee shall be giv'n.
 Who can thy kingdom undermine ?
 Thy Husband made the heav'n.

What earthly thing can thee annoy ?

He made the earth to be ;

The waters cannot thee destroy :

Thy Husband made the sea.

Do n't fear the flaming element

Thee hurt with burning ire ;

Or that the scorching heat torment :

Thy Husband made the fire.

Infectious streams shall ne'er destroy,

While he is pleas'd to spare ;

Thou shalt thy vital breath enjoy :

Thy Husband made the air.

The sun that guides the golden day,

The moon that rules the night,

The starry frame, the milky way,

Thy Husband made for light.

The bird that wings its airy path,

The fish that cuts the flood,

The creeping crowd that swarms beneath

Thy Husband made for good.

The grazing herd, the beasts of prey,

The creatures great and small,

For thy behoof their tribute pay ;
Thy Husband made them all.

Thine 's Paul, Apollos, life, and death,
Things present, things to be ;
And ev'rything that being hath,
Thy Husband made for thee.

In Tophet of the damn'd's resort
Thy soul shall never dwell,
Nor needs from thence imagine hurt ;
Thy Husband formed hell.

Satan, with instruments of his,
May rage ; yet dread no evil ;
So far as he a creature is,
Thy Husband made the devil.

His black temptations may afflict,
His fiery darts annoy ;
But all his works, and hellish trick,
Thy Husband will destroy.

Let armies strong of earthly gods
Combine with hellish ghosts,
They live, or languish, at his nods ;
Thy Husband 's Lord of hosts.

What can thee hurt ? whom dost thou fear ?

All things are at his call.

Thy Maker is thy Husband dear,

Thy Husband all in all.

What dost thou seek ? what dost thou want ?

He'll thy desires fulfil ?

He gave himself, what wont he grant ?

Thy Husband 's at thy will.

The more thou dost of him desire,

The more he loves to give :

High let thy mounting arms aspire,

Thy Husband gives thee leave.

The less thou seek'st, the less thou dost

His bounty set on high ;

But highest seekers here do most

Thy Husband glorify.

Wouldst thou have grace ? Well ; but 't is meet

He should more glory gain :

Wouldst thou have Father, Son, and Sp'rit ?

Thy Husband says, Amen.

He'll kindly act the lib'ral God,

Devising lib'ral things ;

With royal gifts his subjects load ;
Thy Husband 's King of kings.

No earthly monarchs have such store
As thou hast ev'n in hand ;
But, O how infinitely more
Thy Husband gives on band !

Thou hast indeed the better part,
The part will fail thee never :
Thy Husband's hand, thy Husband's heart,
Thy Husband's all forever.

PART III.

THE BELIEVER'S RIDDLE;

OR,

THE MYSTERY OF FAITH.

PREFACE,

SHOWING THE USE AND DESIGN OF THE RIDDLE.

READER, the foll'wing enigmatic song, es not to wisest nat'ralists belong :
eir wisdom is but folly on this head ;
ey here may ruminatè, but cannot read.
r though they glance the words, the meaning chokes, ey read the lines, but not the paradox.
e subject will, howe'er the phrase be blunt, eir most acute intelligence surmount, with the nat'ral and acquired sight
ey share not divine evangelic light.
reat wits may rouse their fancies, rack their brains,
d after all their labor lose their pains ;

Their wisest comments are but witless chat,
Unapt to frame an explication pat.
No unregen'rate mortal's best engines
Can right unriddle these few rugged lines ;
Nor any proper notions thereof reach,
Though sublimated to the highest stretch.
Masters of reason, plodding men of sense,
Who scorn to mortify their vain pretence,
In this mysterious deep might plod their fill ;
It overtops the top of all their skill.
The more they vainly huff, and scorn to read,
The more it does their foolish wit exceed.

Those sinners that are sanctified in part,
May read this riddle truly in their heart :
Yea, weakest saints may feel its truest sense,
Both in their sad and sweet experience.
Do n't overlook it with a rambling view,
And rash suppose it neither good nor true :
Let Heaven's pure oracles the truth decide,
Renounce it if it can't that test abide.
Noble Bereans soon the sense may hit,
Who sound the divine depth of sacred writ,
Not by what airy carnal reason saith,
But by the golden line of heaven-spun faith.

et not the naughty phrase make you disprove weighty matter which deserves your love :
h strains would spoil the riddle's grand intent,
each the weakest, most illit'rate saint,
: MAHANAIM is his proper name ;
whom two struggling hosts make bloody game :
: such may know, whose knowledge is but rude,
r good consists with ill, and ill with good :
: saints be neither at their worst nor best,
much exalted, or too much deprest.
his paradox is fitted to disclose skill of Zion's friends above her foes ;
fference by light that heav'n transmits,
e happy fools from miserable wits.
thus (if bless'd) it may in some degree
e fools their wit, and wits their folly see.
at not the riddle, then, like jargon vile, use not garnish'd with a pompous style.
d th' author act the lofty poets' part,
o make their sonnets soar on wings of art,
n this theme had blush'd to use his skill, either clipt his wings or broke his quill.
hy, this enigma climbs such divine heights corn to be adorn'd with human flights.

These gaudy strains would lovely truth disgrace,
As purest paint deforms a comely face.
Heav'n's mysteries are 'bove art's ornament,
Immensely brighter than its brightest paint.
No tow'ring lit'rator could e'er outwit
The plainest diction fetch'd from sacred writ ;
By which mere blazing rhet'ric is outdone,
As twinkling stars are by the radiant sun.
The soaring orators, who can with ease
Strain the quintessence of hyperboles,
And clothe the barest theme with purest dress,
Might here expatiate much, yet say the less,
If w' th' majestical simplicity
Of scripture orat'ry they disagree.

These lines pretend not to affect the sky,
Content among inglorious shades to lie,
Provided sacred truth be fitly clad,
Or glorious shine ev'n through the dusky shade.
Mark, then, though you should miss the gilded st
If they a store of golden truth contain :
Nor underrate a jewel rare and prime,
Though wrapt up in the rags of homely rhyme.

Though haughty Deists hardly stoop to say,
That nature's night has need of scripture day :

spel light alone will clearly show v'ry sentence here is just and true, the shades that may the mind involve,
on the seeming contradiction solve.
al errors in the world proceed want of skill such mysteries to read.
en the double branch of truth divide,
y the one, and slight the other side.
ce proud Arminians cannot reconcile m of grace with freedom of the will.
nded Papist wont discern nor see orks are good unless they justify.
egalists distinguish not the odds
n their home-bred righteousness and God's.
nists the saints' perfection plead,
ly sever 'tween them and their head.
ns wont these seeming odds agree,
eav'n is bought, and yet salvation free.
rians hate to reconcile or scan,
hrist is truly God and truly man :
g the one part of Immanuel's name, er part outrageously blaspheme.
nd in faith no part of truth control :
s own the half, but not the whole.

Keep then the sacred mystery still entire ;
To both the sides of truth do favor bear,
Not quitting one to hold the other branch ;
But passing judgment on an equal bench ;
The riddle has two feet, and were but one
Cut off, truth falling to the ground were gone.
'T is all a contradiction, yet all true,
And happy truth, if verifi'd in you.
Go forward then to read the lines, but stay
To read the riddle also by the way.

THE RIDDLE.

THEIR RELATION TO CHRIST'S WONDERFUL PERSON.

I will lay it down, that I may take it up again. No man taketh it [my life] from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it up again. This commandment have I received of my Father. Let me die for the people. And Jesus said unto them [Joseph and his mother], I go, and ye know not whither I go : but I know whither I go, and ye cannot come thither. That ye sought me, wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business ?

And not only so, but we also joy in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement. Heb. ix. 14. THE MYSTERY OF THE SAINTS' ADVERSARIES AND ADVERSITY

A LUMP of woe affliction is,
 Yet thence I borrow lumps of bliss : a
 Though few can see a blessing in 't,
 It is my furnace and my mint. b

Its sharpness does my lusts dispatch ; c
 Its suddenness alarms my watch ; d

Its bitterness refines my taste,
And weans me from the creature's breast. e

Its weightiness doth try my back,

It is a fanning wind, whereby
I am unchaff'd of vanity : g

I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless, I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me. Mark v. 36. As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe. Matt. viii. 26. And Jesus saith unto his disciples, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Chap. xiv. 31. And Jesus said unto Peter, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt?

'T'ween clearing faith and clouding sense,
 I walk in darkness and in light. q
 I'm certain oft, when in suspense,
 While sure by faith and not by sight. r

q Job xxix. 1—3. Moreover, Job continued his parable, and said, Oh that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me: when his candle shined upon my head, and when by his light I walked through darkness. Psalm cxii. 4. Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness.

r 1 Pet. i. 8. Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable, and full of glory. Rom. iv. 18—21. Abraham against hope believed in hope, that he might be the father of many nations; according to that which was spoken, so shall thy seed be. And being not weak in faith, he considered not his own body now dead, when he was about an hundred years old, neither yet the deadness of Sarah's womb. He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded, that what he promised, he was able also to perform. Psalm lxxxix. 36—39. His seed shall endure forever, and his throne as the sun before me. It shall be established forever as the moon, and as a faithful witness in heaven. Selah. But thou hast cast off and abhorred, thou hast been wroth with thine anointed. Thou hast made void the covenant of thy servant; thou hast profaned his crown, by casting it to the ground.

SECTION XVI.

THE MYSTERY OF FAITH AND WORKS, AND REWARDS OF GRACE AND DEBT.

I. OF FAITH AND WORKS.

HE that in word offendeth not,
Is call'd a perfect man I wot ; a
Yet he whose thoughts and deeds are bad,
The law perfection never had. b

I am design'd a perfect soul,
Ev'n though I never kept the whole,
Nor any precept ; c for 't is known,
He breaks them all, that breaks but one. d

a James iii. 2. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body.

b James ii. 10. For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.

c Rom. iv. 5, 6. To him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness. Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works. Job. i. 1. There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job, and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and shewed evil. Psalm lxxi. 16. I will go in the strength of the word of God ; I will make mention of thy righteousness, even of

By faith I do perfection claim, e
 By works I never grasp the name : f
 Yet without works my faith is nought, g
 And thereby no perfection brought.

Works without faith will never speed, h
 Faith without works is wholly dead : i thine only. Eccl. vii. 20. For there is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not.

d James ii. 10. See letter b.

e Phil. iii. 9. I count all things but dung, that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith.

f Gal. ii. 16. Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ : even we have believed in Jesus Christ ; that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law ; for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.

g James ii. 14. What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works ? can faith save him ?

h Heb. ix. 6. Without faith it is impossible to please God : for he that cometh to God, must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. Rom. xiv. 23. Whatsoever is not of faith, is sin.

i James ii. 17. Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Ver. 26. For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

Yet I am justifi'd by faith,
 Which no law-works adjutant hath. j
 Yea, gospel works no help can lend, k
 Though still they do my faith attend : l

j Rom. iii. 21, 22. But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all, and upon all them that believe; for there is no difference. Chap. iv. 4—6. Now to him that worketh, is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness. Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works.

k Phil. iii. 4—9. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, I more:—touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless. But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea, doubtless, and I count all things but loss, for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord; for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them dung, that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith. Isa. lxiv. 6. But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags. Hos. xiii. 9. O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thine help. Isa. xlv. 24, 25. Surely, shall one say, in the Lord I have righteousness and strength; even to him shall men come, and all that are incensed against him shall be ashamed.

Yet faith by works is perfect made,
And by their presence justifi'd. m

But works with faith could never vie,
And only faith can justify : n

In the Lord shall all the seed of Israel be justified glory.

l Titus iii. 8. This is a faithful saying, and these that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed might be careful to maintain good works; these things are profitable unto men. James ii. 18. Yea, a man saith, Thou hast faith, and I have works; show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works.

m James ii. 21, 22. Was not Abraham, our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac, his son, upon the altar? thou see how faith wrought with his works, and by works was made perfect? Ver. 24. Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only.

n Rom. iv. 16. Therefore it is of faith, that it might stand to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed. Gal. iii. 4—7. But after that the kindness and love of God toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost: which he shed on us abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Saviour, who justified us by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life. Acts x. 43. To him gave all witness, that through his name, whosoever believeth shall receive remission of sins.

Yet still my justifying faith
No justifying value hath. o

Lo, justifying grace from heav'n
Is foreign ware, and freely giv'n : p
And saving faith is well content
To be a mere recipient. q

Faith 's active in my sanctity : r
But here its act it will deny, s o Gal. iii. 21, 22. Is the law then against the promises of God ?

God forbid : for if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law. But the scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe. Luke xii. 31, 32. And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat : but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not ; and when thou art converted strengthen thy brethren. 2 Cor. iii. 5. Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think anything as of ourselves : but our sufficiency is of God. Chap. xii. 5. Of such an one will I glory :
not of myself I will not glory, but in mine infirmities.

p Rom. v. 16, 17. The free gift is of many offences unto justification.—They which receive abundance of grace, and of the gift of righteousness, shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ. Chap.
v. 24. Being justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Jesus Christ.

q Rom. v. 11. And not only so, but we also joy in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement. Ver. 17. See letter p.

And frankly own it never went Beyond a passive instrument. t

I labor much like holy Paul ;
And yet not I, but grace does all ; u

r Gal. v. 6. For in Jesus Christ, neither circumcision availeth anything, nor uncircumcision, but faith which worketh by love. Acts xv. 9. God put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith. Chap. xxvi. 18. To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me.

s Rom. iv. 16. Therefore it is of faith, that it might be by grace. Chap. xi. 6. And if by grace, then is it no more of works ; otherwise grace is no more grace.

t Eph. ii. 8, 9. For by grace are ye saved, through faith ; and that not of yourselves : it is the gift of God : not of works, lest any man should boast. 1 Cor. iv. 7. For who maketh thee to differ from another ? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive ? now, if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory as if thou hadst not received it ? Heb. xi. 11. Through faith also Sarah herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promised. Ver. 17. By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac : and he that had received the promises, offered up his only begotten son. Ver. 19. Accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead ; from whence also he received him in a figure. Ver. 35. Women received their dead raised to life again : and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance ; that they might obtain a better resurrection.

I try to spread my little sails,
And wait for pow'rful moving gales. v

When pow'r 's convey'd, I work ; but see,
'T is still his pow'r that works in me :
I am an agent at his call,
Yet nothing am, for grace is all. w

v 1 Cor. xv. 10. But by the grace of God I am what I am : and his grace which was bestowed upon me, was not in vain ; and I labored more abundantly than they all : yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me.

v Psalm lxxi. 16. I will go on in the strength of the Lord God : I will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.

v Song iv. 16. Awake, O north wind, and come, thou south ; blow upon my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out.

w Phil. ii. 12, 13. Wherefore my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence : work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.

v It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. Gal. ii. 20. I am crucified with Christ : nevertheless I live ; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me ; and the life which now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me. 2 Cor. xii. 9. And the Lord said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee ; for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me.

 II. OF REWARDS OF GRACE AND DEBT.

IN all my works I still regard
 The recompense of full reward ; x
 Yet such my working is withal,
 I look for no reward at all. y

God's my reward exceeding great,
 No lesser heav'n than this I wait : z

x Heb. xi. 24—26. By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter : choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season : esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt : for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward.

y 1 Tim. i. 9. God hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace which was given us in Christ Jesus, before the world began. Titus iii. 5. Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost.

z Gen. xv. 1. After these things the word of the Lord came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not, Abram : I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward. Psalm xxiii. 25, 26. Whom have I in heaven but thee ? and there is none upon earth that I desire besides thee. My flesh and my heart faileth : but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion forever.

But where 's the earning work so broad,
To set me up an heir of God? a

Rewards of debt, rewards of grace,
Are opposites in ev'ry case; b
Yet sure I am they 'll both agree
Most jointly in rewarding me. c

Though hell 's my just reward for sin, d
Heav'n as my just reward I 'll win, e a Ezek. xxxvi. 32. Not for your sakes do I this, saith the Lord, be it known unto you; be ashamed and confounded for your own ways, O house of Israel. Rom. viii. 16, 17. The Spirit himself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God. And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ.

b Rom. iv. 4. Now to him that worketh, is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt.

c Ps. lviii. 11. Verily there is a reward for the righteous; verily there is a God that judgeth in the earth. Isa. lxii. 11. Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed unto the end of the world, Say ye to the daughter of Sion, Behold, thy salvation cometh; behold, his reward is with him, and his work before him. And xl. 10. Behold the Lord God will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule him: behold his reward is with him, and his work before him.

d Rom. vi. 21. What fruit had ye then in those things, whereye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death. Rom. vi. 23. The wages of sin is death. Eph. v. 6. Let no man de-

Both these my just rewards I know,
Yet truly neither of them so.*

Hell can't in justice be my lot,
Since justice satisfaction got ; f

ceive you with vain words : for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience. Gal. iii. 10. For as many as are of the works of the law, are under the curse : for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them.

e Gal. iii. 13, 14. Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us : for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree : that the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ ; that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith. Eph. i. 13, 14. In Christ also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance, until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory. Rom. v. 21. Grace reigns through righteousness unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Lord. And vi. 23. The gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

f Rom. iii. 25, 26. Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation, through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God ; to declare, I say, at this time his righteousness ; that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.

* Through these opposite voices of law and gospel.

Nor heav'n in justice be my share,
Since mercy only brings me there. g

Yet heav'n is mine by solemn oath,
In justice and in mercy both : h

g Rom. ix. 15, 16. God saith to Moses, I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion. So then it is not of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth; but of God that showeth mercy. Titus iii. 4—7. But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost: which he shed on us abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

h Psalm lxxxix. 35, 36. Once have I sworn by my holiness, that I will not lie unto David. His seed shall endure forever, and his throne as the sun before me. Heb. vi. 17, 18. Wherein God willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath; that by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us. Psalm lxxxix. 14. Justice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne; mercy and truth shall go before thy face. Ver. 16. In thy name shall they rejoice all the day: and in thy righteousness shall they be exalted. Ver. 24. But my faithfulness and my mercy shall be with him [David my servant]: and in my name shall his horn be exalted. Ver. 28.

And God in Christ is all my trust,
Because he's merciful and just. i

CONCLUSION.

HERE is the riddle, where's the man
Of judgment to expound?
For masters fam'd that cannot scan,
In Israel may be found. a

We justly those in wisdom's list
Establish'd saints may call,
Whose bitter-sweet experience blest,
Can clearly grasp it all. b

My mercy will I keep for him for evermore, and my covenant shall stand fast with him.

i Heb. ii. 17. Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be like unto his brethren: that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest, in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. 1 John i. 7—9. If we walk in the light, as God is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth from all unrighteousness. If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

Yet aiming right succeed : c b Matt. xi. 25. At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. And xiii. 11. Jesus answered and said unto his disciples, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.

c 1 Cor. iii. 1, 2. And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able. Heb. v. 12—14. For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat. For every one that useth milk is unskilful in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe. But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who, by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil. And vi. 1. Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection: not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith towards God, &c. 1 John ii. 12, 13. I write unto you, little children, because your sins are forgiven you for his name's sake. I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.

PART IV.

THE BELIEVER'S LODGING AND INN WHILE ON EARTH;

OR, A

POEM AND PARAPHRASE UPON PSALM LXXXIV.

VERSE 1. How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts.

JEHOVAH, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
Sole Monarch of the universal host,
Whom the attendant armies still revere,
Which in bright robes surround the higher sphere;
Whose sov'reign empire sways the hellish band
Of ranked legions in th' infernal land;
Who hold'st the earth at thy unrivall'd beck,
And stay'st proud forces with a humbling check;
Ev'n thou whose name commands an awful dread,
Yet deigns to dwell with man in very deed:
O what refreshment fills the dwelling place
Of thine exuberant, unbounded grace!

Which with sweet pow'r does joy and praise ex
In Zion's tents, thine ever lov'd resort :
Where gladd'ning streams of mercy from above
Make souls brim-full of warm seraphic love.
Of sweetest odors all thy garment smells ;
Thy dismal absence proves a thousand hells,
But heav'ns of joy are where thine honor dwell

*VERSE 2. My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the con
Lord ; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living*

Therefore on thee I centre my desire,
Which veh'mently bursts out in ardent fire.
Deprived, ah ! I languish in my plaint,
My bones are feeble, and my spirit's faint.
My longing soul pants to behold again
Thy temple fill'd with thy majestic train ;
Those palaces with heav'nly odor strew'd,
And regal courts, where Zion's King is view'd
To see the beauty of the highest One,
Upon his holy mount, his lofty throne :
Whence virtue, running from the living Head,
Restores the dying, and revives the dead.
For him my heart with cries repeated sounds,
To which my flesh with echoes loud rebounds ;

For him, for him, whose life in death can give ;
For him, for him, whose sole prerogative
Is from and to eternity to live.

VERSE 3. Yea, the sparrow hath found an house, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even thine altars, O Lord of hosts, my King and my God.

Alas ! how from thy lovely dwellings I,
Long banish'd, do the happy birds envy ;
Which choosing thy high altars for their nest,
On rafters of thy tabernacle rest !
Here dwells the sparrow of a chirping tongue,
And here the swallow lays her tender young :
Faint sacrilege ! they seize the sacred spot,
And seem to glory o'er my absent lot.
Yet sure I have more special right to thee
Than all the brutal hosts of earth and sea ;
That Sov'reign, at whose government they bow,
Is wholly mine by his eternal vow ;
My King to rule my heart, and quell my foes,
My God t' extract my well from present woes
And crown with endless glory at the close.

VERSE 4. Blessed are they that dwell in thy house : they will be still praising thee.

O happy they that haunt thy house below,
And to thy royal sanctuary flow :
Not for itself, but for the glorious One,
Who there inhabits his erected throne !
Others pass by, but here their dwelling is !
O happy people crown'd with bays of bliss !
Bless'd with the splendid lustre of his face,
Bless'd with the high melodious sound of grace,
That wakens souls into a sweet amaze,
And turns their spirits to a harp of praise ;
Which loudly makes the lower temple ring
With hallelujahs to the mighty King :
And thus they antedate the nobler song
Of that celestial and triumphant throng,
Who warble notes of praise eternity along.

VERSE 5. Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee.

What weights of bliss their happy shoulders load,
Whose strength lies treasur'd in a potent God ?
Self-drained souls, yet flowing to the brim,
Because void in themselves, but full in him.

in the first discuss'd their stock of strength ;
second well retriev'd the sum at length,
he keeps 't himself, a surer hand indeed,
give not as they list, but as they need.
When raging furies threaten sudden harms,
then extends his everlasting arms ;
When Satan drives his pointed fiery darts, gives them courage and undaunted hearts
He quell his deadly force with divine skill,
He adds new strength to do their Sov'reign's will :
When sore harass'd by some outrageous lust, leveling its pow'r unto the dust,
As saints to own him worthy of their trust.

Ps. 6. In whose heart are the ways of them, who passing through valley of Baca, make it a well : the rain also filleth the pools.

Each heav'n-born souls are not to earth confin'd ;
His highway fills his elevated mind :
O, bound for Zion, press with forward aim,
Israel's males to old Jerusalem.
The holy path lies through a parched land,
Through oppositions numerous and grand.
Crossing scorched deserts, ragged rocks,
Baca's wither'd vale, like thirsty flocks :

Yet with unshaken vigor homeward go,
Not mov'd by all opposing harms below.
They digging wells on this Gilboa top,
The vale of Achor yields a door of hope :
For Heav'n in plenty does their labor crown
By making silver show'rs to trickle down ;
Till empty pools imbibe a pleasant fill,
And weary souls are heart'ned up the hill,
By massy drops of joy which down distil.

VERSE 7. They go from strength to strength, every one of them in Zion appeareth before God.

Thus they, refreshed by superior aid,
Are not defatigated nor dismay'd ;
Because they are, O truth of awful dread !
As potent as JEHOVAH in their Head.
Hence they shall travel with triumphant minds,
In spite of ragged paths and boist'rous winds.
The roughest ways their vigor ne'er abates,
Each new assault their strength redintegrates.
When they through mortal blows seem to give o'er,
Their strength by intermitting gathers more.
And thus they, with unweari'd zeal endu'd,
Still as they journey have their strength renew'd.

So glorious is the race, that once begun
Each one contends his fellow to outrun ;
Till all uniting in a glorious band,
Before the Lamb's high throne adoring stand,
And harp his lofty praise in Zion-land.

VERSE 8. O Lord God of hosts, hear my prayer : give ear, O God of Jacob.

Great God of num'rous hosts, who reigns alone
The sole possessor of th' imperial throne ;
Since mental tastes of thy delicious grace
So sweetly relish in thy holy place,
This is the subject of my tabled pray'r,
To have the vision of thy glory there.
O let my cry pierce the ethereal frame,
And mercy's echo follow down the same,
Omniscient Being, favor my desire,
Hide not thy goodness in paternal ire :
Why, thou hast giv'n in an eternal band
To Jacob and his seed thy royal hand,
And promis'd by thy sacred Deity,
His King and covenanted God to be :
Therefore my hopes are center'd all in thee.

VERSE 9. Behold, O God, our shield ; and look upon the face of thine Anointed.

Omnipotent, whose armor none can wield,
Zion's great buckler and defensive shield ;
Thy pure untainted eyes cannot behold
Deformed mortals in their sinful mould,
Unless their names be graven op the breast
Of Zion's holy, consecrated Priest.
When they his white and glorious garment wear,
Then sin and guilt both wholly disappear :
Because o'erwhelmed in the crimson flood,
And ocean of a dying Surety's blood,
They also, vested with his radiant grace,
Reflect the lustre of his holy face.
They're not themselves now, but divinely trim,
For wholly what they are, they are in him :
And hence JEHOVAH'S all-discerning eye
Cannot in them espy deformity.
Then look on him, Lord ; and in him on me.

VERSE 10. For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a door-keeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.

May I possess, as thy domestic child,
The house that by JEHOVAH'S name is styl'd :

yal glories deck those courts of thine,
with majestic rays so brightly shine,
should my mind present an earth of gold,
I of worldly joys as earth can hold, grace so fills thy house, I'd grudge to spare moment here, for thousand ages there.
thly object shall my love confine,
being which possesses all, is mine ;
irit therefore rather would embrace eanest office in his holy place, y the threshold of his house within,
sit in splendor on a throne of sin,
us' courts I'd choose the lowest place, saints' feet, so I might see his face.
ho' my lamp of outward peace should burn rightly, yet I would incessant mourn, in a wicked Mesech I sojourn.

1. For the Lord God is a sun and shield : the Lord will grace and glory ; no good thing will he withhold from them walk uprightly.

God the Lord, whose courts I love to haunt, ything that empty souls can want ;
for light, a shield for strength ; yea, more,
th he gives his grace, in heav'n his glore.

This radiant sun, of life and light the source,
Scatters the shades by circumambient course :
Yea, guides bemisted souls with heartsome beams,
And gloriously irradiating gleams.

This massy shield is polish'd bright with pow'r,
For helping weaklings in a per'lous hour.
Here 's all that weary travellers would have,
A sun to cherish, and a shield to save.

Grace also here is giv'n t' adorn the soul,
And yield to glory in the heav'nly pole.
All divine treasure to the saint is due ;
Nothing 's deny'd, if truth itself be true.

The treasure is so vast it can't be told ;
Nothing that God can give will God withhold.
To whom he doth his saving grace impart,
To them he gives himself, his hand, his heart :

Uprightness too of heart and life does fall
Unto their share, who having him, have all.
In them the grace he gives, he still regards ;
Gives holiness, and then his gift rewards.

For to his own upright and divine brood
He 's bound to grant ev'n all that 's great and good,
By 's own sure word, firm oath, and sacred blood.

12. O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

When, JEHOVAH, God of armies strong,
From the pow'rs of earth and heav'n belong;
Vastly blessed is the fixed man,
By a firm fiducial boldness can,
Whose grace and strength dispensed from above,
Sweetly scan the height of divine love
To derive his comfort wholly thence,
On this rock to found his confidence!
The faith has rear'd up for a firm abode
A ble building on a living God!
Spoil'd of human props both great and small,
Choose a triune Deity for all!
Whose scrolls of bliss are in this All inroll'd
Sublime for seraphs to unfold.
Human wisdom, in a deep amaze!
Whose rapid floods of life his glory raise,
Let me be drown'd in his eternal praise.

A FOURFOLD EXERCISE FOR THE BELIEVER IN HIS LODGING ON EARTH.

I. THE HOLY LAW;

OR, THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.—EXODUS XX. 3—17.

1. No God but me thou shalt adore.
2. No image frame to bow before.
3. My holy name take not in vain.
4. My sacred Sabbath do n't profane.
5. To parents render due respect.
6. All murder shun, and malice check.
7. From filth and whoredom base abstain :
8. From theft and all unlawful gain.
9. False witness flee, and sland'ring spite :
10. Nor covet what's thy neighbor's right.

II. THE UNHOLY HEART,

THE DIRECT OPPOSITE TO GOD'S HOLY AND RIGHTEOUS LAW, (MATTHEW VII. 14,) OR THE KNOWLEDGE OF SIN BY THE LAW, ROM. III. 20.

1. My heart's to many gods a slave :
2. Of imagery a hideous cave :
3. A hoard of God-dishon'ring crimes :
4. A waster base of holy times :

5. A throne of pride and self-conceit :
6. A slaughter-house of wrath and hate :
7. A cage of birds and thoughts unclean :
8. A den of thieves and frauds unseen :
9. A heap of calumnies unspent :
10. A gulf of greed and discontent.

III. THE GLORIOUS GOSPEL;

OR, CHRIST THE END OF THE LAW FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS, (ROM. X. 4,) AND THE ABSOLUTE NEED OF THIS REMEDY INFERRED FROM THESE PREMISES.

HENCE I conclude and clearly see,
There's by the law no life for me ;
Which damns each soul to endless thrall,
Whose heart and life fulfils not all.
What shall I do, unless for bail
I from the law to grace appeal ?
She reigns through Jesus' righteousness,
Which, giving justice full redress,
On grace's door, this motto grav'd,
Let sin be damn'd, and sinners sav'd.
O, wisdom's deep mysterious way !
Lo, at this door I'll waiting stay,
Till sin and hell both pass away.

But in this bliss to show my part,
Grant, through thy law grav'd in my heart,
My life may show thy graving art.

IV. THE PRAYER OF FAITH:

WHICH MAY BE CONCEIVED IN THE FOLLOWING WORDS OF CERTAIN AUTHOR.

SUM tuus in vita, tua sunt mea funera, Christe :

Da, precor, imperii sceptrā tenere tui.

Cur etenim, moriens, tot vulnera sæva tulisti,

Si non sum regni portio parva tui ?

Cur rigido latuit tua vita inclusa sepulchro,

Si non est mea mors morte fugata tua ?

Ergo mihi certam præstes, O Christe, salutem :

Meque tuo lotum sanguine, Christe, juva.

WHICH MAY BE THUS ENGLISHED :

Jesus, I'm thine in life and death,

Oh let me conqu'ring hold thy throne.

Why shar'd the cross thy vital breath,

If not to make me share thy crown ?

Why laid in jail of cruel grave,
If not thy death from death me free?
Then, Lord, insure the bliss I crave,
Seal'd with thy blood, and succor me.

PART V.

THE BELIEVER'S SOLILOQ

ESPECIALLY IN TIMES OF

DESERTION, TEMPTATION, AFFLICTION, &c

SECTION I.

THE DESERTED BELIEVER LONGING FOR PERFECT FRE
FROM SIN.

AH, mournful case! what can afford
Contentment, when an absent Lord
Will now his kindness neither prove
By smiles of grace, nor lines of love!

What heart can joy, what soul can sing,
While winter overruns the spring?
I die, yet can't my death condole;
Lord, save a dying, drooping soul.

In pain, yet unconcern'd I live,
And languish when I should believe.

Lord, if thou cease to come and stay,
My soul in sin will pine away.

In sin, whose ill no tongue can tell,
To live is death, to die is hell ;
O save if not from thrall's arrest,
Yet save me, Lord, from sin at least.

This for his merit's sake I seek,
Whose blood and wounds do mercy speak ;
Who left the rank of glorious choirs,
And heav'nly flow'rs for earthly briars.

Our Samson took a holy nap
Upon our feeble nature's lap :
He, wand'ring in a pilgrim's weed,
Did taste our griefs, to help our need.

Earth's fury did upon him light :
How black was Herod's cruel spite !
Who, to be sure of murd'ring one,
Lest he be spar'd did pity none !

Hell hunts the Babe a few days old,
That came to rifle Satan's fold ;
All hands pursu'd him ev'n to death,
That came to save from sin and wrath.

O mercy ! ignorant of bounds !
Which all created thought confounds ;
He ran outright a saving race
For them that unto death him chase.

O sin ! how heavy is thy weight,
That press'd the glorious God of might,
Till prostrate on the freezing ground,
He sweat his clotted blood around !

His hand the pond'rous globe does prop,
This weight ne'er made him sweat a drop :
But when sin's load upon him lies,
He falls and sweats, and groans and dies.

Alas ! if God sink under sin,
How shall the man that dies therein
How deeply down, when to the load
He adds the slighted blood of God ?

Lord let thy fall my rise obtain,
Thy grievous shame my glory gain ;
Thy cross my lasting crown procure,
Thy death my endless life insure.

O send me down a draught of love,
Or take me hence to drink above :

Here Marah's water fills my cup,
But there all griefs are swallow'd up.

Love here is scarce a faint desire ;
But there the spark 's a flaming fire.
Joys here are drops that passing flee,
But there an ever-flowing sea.

My faith, that sees so darkly here,
Will there resign to vision clear ;
My hope, that 's here a weary groan,
Will to fruition yield the throne.

Here fetters hamper freedom's wing,
But there the captive is a king :
And grace is like a buri'd seed,
But sinners there are saints indeed.

Thy portion 's here a crumb at best,
But there the Lamb's eternal feast :
My praise is now a smother'd fire,
But then I 'll sing and never tire.

Now dusky shadows cloud my day,
But then the shades will flee away :
My Lord will break the dimming glass,
And show his glory face to face.

My num'rous foes now beat me down,
But then I'll wear the victor's crown ;
Yet all the revenues I'll bring
To Zion's everlasting King.

SECTION II.

THE DESERTED BELIEVER'S PRAYER UNDER COMPLAINTS
BELIEF, DARKNESS, DEADNESS, AND HARDNESS.

WHAT means this wicked, wand'ring heart ?
This trembling ague of my soul ?
Would Jesus but a look impart,
One look from him would make me whole.

But will he turn to me his face,
From whom he justly did withdraw ?
To me who slighted all that grace
I in my past experience saw ?

Lord, for thy promise' sake, return,
Apply thy pard'ning, cleansing blood ;
Look down with pity on a worm,
With cov'nant mercy do me good.

When thy free Sp'rit the word applies,
And kindly tells me thou art mine,

My faithless sinking heart replies,
Ah, Lord! I wish I could be thine.

My faith's so 'nighted in my doubts,
I cast the offer'd good away;
And lose, by raising vain disputes,
The wonted blessings of the day.

Was e'er one press'd with such a load,
Or pierc'd with such an unseen dart:
To find at once an absent God,
And yet, alas! a careless heart?

Such grief as mine, a griefless grief,
Did ever any mortal share?
A hopeless hope, a lifeless life,
Or such unwonted careless care?

'T is sad, Lord! when for night's solace,
Nor moon, nor starry gleams appear:
Yet worse, when in this dismal case
My heart is harden'd from thy fear.

'T was not because no show'rs did flow
Of heav'nly manna at my door;
But by my folly I'm into
A worse condition than before.

Come, Lord, with greater pow'r ; for why,
Mine, sure, is not a common case ;
Thou offer'st to unvail ; yet I
Do scarce incline to see thy face.

Such languid, faint desires I feel
Within this wicked, stupid heart :
I should, I would, but that I will
I hardly dare with truth assert.

O to be free of that vile wrack
That basely keeps me from my God !
I flee from thee, Lord ; bring me back
By tender love, or by thy rod.

In paths of righteousness direct,
New proofs of thy remission give ;
Then of thy name I'll mention make
With grateful praises while I live.

On banks of mercy's boundless deep,
With sweeter ease I'll soar and sing,
Than kings of feather'd hosts, that sweep
The oozy shore with easy wing.

But if thy mind omniscient know
I'm for this absent bliss unfit,

Give grace to hate my sins, and to Their righteous punishment submit.

But let me ne'er thy Spirit lack,
That by his aid my pray'rs may come
Before him, who can wisely make
Ev'n distance lead his people home.

Deep wisdom can my soul prepare
By present woes for absent bliss.
By acid griefs that now I share,
He can convey the joys I miss.

Who all from nothing's womb disclos'd,
Can make th' amazing product cease ;
With him our order is confus'd,
By him confusion brings forth peace.

Then, Lord, ne'er let me basely spurn
Against thy searchless, unknown ways ;
But magnify thy work, and turn
My groans and murmurs into praise.

Let me submissive, while I live,
Thy awful justice own with fear :
Yet pensive let me never grieve
Thy tender mercy by despair.

Since though by sin I foully swerv'd,
And lewdly from my glory fell,
I'm chasten'd here and not reserv'd
To feel the weight of sin in hell.

Thy high right hand's once joyful days
In my distress I'll call to mind ;
And own that all thy darkest ways
Will clearly prove thee good and kind

SECTION III.

THE BELIEVER WADING THROUGH DEEPS OF DESER' CORRUPTION.

LOBD, when thy face thou hid'st,
And leav'st me long to plore,
I faithless doubt of all thou didst
And wrought'st for me before.

No marks of love I find,
No grains of grace, but wracks ;
No track of heav'n is left behind,
No groan, no smoking flax.

But say, if all the gusts
And grains of love be spent,

Say, Farewell Christ, and welcome lusts ;
Stop, stop ; I melt, I faint.

Lord, yet thou hast my heart,
This bargain black I hate ;
I dare not, cannot, will not part
With thee at such a rate.

Once like a father good,
Thou didst with grace perfume ;
Wast thou a father to conclude
With dreadful judge's doom ?

Confirm thy former deed,
Reform what is defil'd ;
I was, I am, I'll still abide
Thy choice, thy charge, thy child.

Love-seals thou didst impart,
Lock'd up in mind I have ;
Hell cannot rase out of my heart
What Heav'n did there ingrave.

Thou once didst make me whole
By thy almighty hand :
Thou mad'st me vow and gift my soul ;
Both vow and gift shall stand.

But, since my folly gross
My joyful cup did spill,
Make me the captive of thy cross,
Submissive to thy will.

Self in myself I hate.
That's matter of my groan ;
Nor can I rid me from the mate
That causes me to moan,

O frail, unconstant flesh !
Soon trapt in ev'ry gin ;
Soon turn'd, o'erturn'd, and so afresh
Plung'd in the gulf of sin,

Shall I be slave to sin,
My Lord's most bloody foe !
I feel its pow'rful sway within,
How long shall it be so ?

How long, Lord, shall I stay ?
How long in Mesech here ?
Dishon'ring thee from day to day,
Whose name's to me so dear ?

While sin, Lord, breeds my grief,
And makes me sadly pine ;

With blinks of grace, O grant relief,
Till beams of glory shine.

SECTION IV.

COMPLAINT OF SIN, SORROW, AND WANT OF LOVE.

If black doom by desert should go,
Then, Lord, my due desert is death ;
Which robs from souls immortal joy,
And from their bodies mortal breath.

But in so great a Saviour,
Can e'er so base a worm's annoy
Add any glory to thy pow'r,
Or any gladness to thy joy ?

Thou justly may'st me doom to death,
And everlasting flames of fire ;
But on a wretch to pour thy wrath
Can never, sure, be worth thine ire.

Since Jesus the atonement was,
Let tender mercy me release ;
Let him be umpire of my cause,
And pass the gladsome doom of peace.

Let grace forgive, and love forget
My base, my vile apostasy ;
And temper thy deserved hate
With love and mercy toward me.

The ruffling winds and raging blasts
Hold me in constant cruel chase ;
They break my anchors, sails, and masts,
Allowing no reposing place.

The boist'rous seas with swelling floods,
On ev'ry side against me fight.
Heav'n: overcast with stormy clouds,
Dims all the planets' guiding light.

The hellish furies lie in wait,
To win my soul into their pow'r ;
To make me bite at ev'ry bait,
And thus my killing bane devour.

I lie inchain'd in sin and thrall,
Next border unto black despair ;
Till grace restore, and of my fall
The doleful ruins all repair.

My hov'ring thoughts would flee to glore,
And nestle safe above the sky ;

Fain would my tumbling ship ashore
At that sure anchor quiet lie.

But mounting thoughts are haled down
With heavy poise of corrupt load ;
And blust'ring storms deny with frown
A harbor of secure abode.

To drown the wight that wakes the blast,
Thy sin-subduing grace afford ;
The storm might cease, could I but cast
This troublous Jonah overboard.

Base flesh, with fleshly pleasures gain'd,
Sweet grace's kindly suit declines ;
When mercy courts me for its friend,
Anon my sordid flesh repines.

Soar up, my soul, to Tabor hill,
Cast off this loathsome pressing load ;
Long is the date of thine exile,
While absent from the Lord, thy God.

Dote not on earthly weeds and toys,
Which do not, cannot suit thy taste :
The flow'rs of everlasting joys
Grow up apace for thy repast.

Sith that the glorious God above
In Jesus bears a love to thee ;
How base, how brutish is thy love
Of any being less than he ?

Who for thy love did choose thy grief,
Content in love to live and die :
Who lov'd thy love more than his life,
And with his life thy love did buy.

Since then the God of richest love
With thy poor love enamor'd is ;
How high a crime will thee reprove
If not enamor'd deep with his ?

Since on the verdant field of grace
His love does thine so hot pursue :
Let love meet love with chaste embrace,
Thy mite a thousand fold is due.

Rise, love, thou early heav'n, and sing,
Young little dawn of endless day :
I'll on thy mounting fiery wing
In joyful raptures melt away.

SECTION V.

THE DESERTED SOUL'S PRAYER FOR THE LORD'S GRACIOUS AND SIN-SUBDUING PRESENCE.

KIND Jesus, come in love to me,
And make no longer stay ;
Or else receive my soul to thee,
That breathes to be away.

A Lazar at thy gate I lie,
As well it me becomes,
For children's bread asham'd to cry ;
O grant a dog the crumbs.

My wounds and rags my need proclaim,
Thy needful help insure :
My wounds bear witness that I'm lame,
My rags that I am poor.

Thou many at thy door dost feed
With mercy when distress ;
O wilt thou not show an alms-deed
To me among the rest ?

None else can give my soul relief,
None else can ease my moan,

But he whose absence is my grief :

All other joys be gone.

How can I cease from sad complaint,

How can I be at rest ?

My mind can never be content

To want my noble guest.

Drop down, mine eyes, and never tire,

Cease not on any terms,

Until I have my heart's desire,

My Lord within mine arms.

My heart, my hand, my spirits fail,

When hiding off he goes :

My flesh, my foes, my lusts prevail,

And work my daily woes.

When shall I see that glorious sight

Will all my sins destroy ?

That Lord of love, that lamp of light,

Will banish all annoy ?

O could I but from sinning cease,

And wait on Pisgah's hill,

Until I see him face to face,

Then should my soul be still.

But since corruption cleaves to me
While I in Kedar dwell ;
O give me leave to long for thee,
For absence is a hell.

Thy glory should be dear to me,
Who me so dear hast bought :
O save from rend'ring ill to thee
For good which thou hast wrought.

With fear I crave, with hope I cry,
Oh promis'd favor send ;
Be thou thyself, though changeling I
Ungratefully offend.

Out of thy way remove the lets,
Cleanse this polluted den ;
Tender my suits, cancel my debts :
Sweet Jesus, say, Amen.

SECTION VI.

THE SONG OF HEAVEN DESIRED BY SAINTS ON EARTH.

AURORA vails her rosy face
When brighter Phœbus takes her place ;

So glad will grace resign her room
To glory in the heav'nly home.

Happy the company that 's gone
From cross to crown, from thrall to throne ;
How loud they sing upon the shore.
To which they sail'd in heart before !

Bless'd are the dead, yea, saith the word,
That die in Christ the living Lord,
And on the other side of death
Thus joyful spend their praising breath :

“ Death from all death has set us free,
And will our gain forever be ;
Death loos'd the massy chains of wo,
To let the mournful captives go.

“ Death is to us a sweet repose ;
The bud was op'd to show the rose ;
The cage was broke to let us fly,
And build our happy nest on high.

“ Lo, here we do triumphant reign,
And joyful sing in lofty strain :
Lo, here we rest, and love to be,
Enjoying more than faith could see.

“The thousandth part we now behold,
By mortal tongues was never told ;
We got a taste, but now above
We forage in the fields of love.

“Faith once stole down a distant kiss,
Now love cleaves to the cheek of bliss :
Beyond the fears of more mishap
We gladly rest in glory's lap.

“Earth was to us a seat of war,
In thrones of triumph now we are.
We long'd to see our Jesus dear,
And sought him there, but find him here.

“We walk in white without annoy,
In glorious galleries of joy :
And crown'd with everlasting bays,
We rival cherubs in their praise.

“No longer we complain of wants,
We see the glorious King of saints,
Amidst his joyful hosts around,
With all the divine glory crown'd.

“We see him at his table head
With living water, living bread,

His cheerful guests incessant load
With all the plenitude of God.

“ We see the holy flaming fires,
Cherubic and seraphic choirs ;
And gladly join with those on high,
To warble praise eternally.

“ Glory to God that here we came,
And glory to the glorious Lamb.
Our light, our life, our joy, our all
Is in our arms, and ever shall.

“ Our Lord is ours, and we are his ;
Yea, now we see him as he is :
And hence we like unto him are,
And full his glorious image share.

“ No darkness now, no dismal night,
No vapor intercepts the light ;
We see forever face to face,
The highest Prince in highest place.

“ This, this, does heaven enough afford,
We are forever with the Lord :
We want no more, for all is giv'n ;
His presence is the heart of heav'n.”

While thus I laid my list'ning ear
Close to the door of heaven to hear,
And then the sacred page did view,
Which told me all I heard was true,

Yet show'd me that the heav'nly song
Surpasses every mortal tongue,
With such unutterable strains
As none in fettering flesh attains :

Then said I, " O to mount away,
And leave this clog of heavy clay !
Let wings of time more hasty fly,
That I may join the songs on high."

PART VI.

THE BELIEVER'S PRINCIPLES,

CONCERNING

I. CREATION AND REDEMPTION; II. LAW AND GOSPEL; III. :
TIFICATION AND SANCTIFICATION; IV. FAITH AND SENSE; V. HEAVEN AND EARTH.

CHAPTER I.

THE BELIEVER'S PRINCIPLES CONCERNING CREATION AN REDEMPTION; OR, SOME OF THE FIRST PRIN-CIPLES OF THE ORACLES OF GOD.

SECTION I.

OF CREATION.—THE FIRST CHAPTER OF GENESIS COMPENDI-
OR, THE FIRST SEVEN DAYS' WORK, FROM THE FOL-LOWING LATIN LINES, ENGLISHED.

PRIMA dies cælum, et terram, lucemque, creavit.

*Alter*a distendit spatium, discrimen aquarum.

Tertia secernens undas, dat gramina terris.

Quarta creat solem et lunam, cælestiaque astra.

Quinta dedit pisces, eadem genus omne volantum.
Sexta tulit pecudes, hominem quoque quem Deus ipse
Condedit; inde operis requies lux septima fulsit.

IN ENGLISH THUS :

1. The first day heav'n, earth, light, JEHOVAH sent.
2. The next, a water-sund'ring firmament.
3. The third made dry land spring with flow'ry pride.
4. The fourth set up bright lamps, time to divide.
5. The fifth brought swimming fish and flying fowl.
6. The sixth, earth's herds, and man to bear the rule.
7. The seventh brought forth no more, yet brought the best—

The lab'ring creatures' and Creator's rest.

OR THUS :

The first day, at JEHOVAH's word,
Did heav'n, and earth, and light afford.

The next, a firmament so wide
As might the waters' course divide.

The third, severing land from seas,
Made earth produce herbs, grass, and trees.

The fourth, sun, moon, and stars of light,
Set up to rule the day and night.

The fifth made fish in depths to move,
And fowls to fly in air above.

The sixth all earthly beasts did bring,
And man to be the creature's king.

The seventh of all these days the best,
Was made for God and man to rest.

Redemption-work doth bring again
The first of these to be the main,

Fetching new heav'ns and earth in sight,
And immortality to light.

Since then the first is now the best,
Keep well this pledge of endless rest.

THE SUM OF CREATION.

All things from nothing, to their Sov'reign Lord
Obedient rose at his commanding word,
Fair in his eye the whole creation stood ;
He saw the building, and pronounc'd it good.

And now each work (while nature's fabric stands)
Loud for its wise and mighty Lord demands
A rent of praise, a loud and lofty song,
From ev'ry rational beholder's tongue.

SECTION II.

OF REDEMPTION.—THE MYSTERY OF THE REDEEMER'S INCARNATION; OR, GOD MANIFESTED IN THE FLESH, 1 TIMOTHY, III. 16.
JOHN 1. 14.

WHAT though the waters, struck with dread,
Rise up and form a pyramid?
Though floods should gush from rocks and stones,
Or living souls from wither'd bones?

To hear of an incarnate God,
Is yet more wonderful and odd;
Or to behold how God most high
Could in our nature breathe and die.

What though the bright angelic forms
Degraded were to crawling worms?
These creatures were but creatures still,
Transform'd at their Creator's will,

Though creatures change a thousand ways,
It cannot such amazement raise,

Nor such a scene as this display—
Th' eternal Word a piece of clay.

God-man a strange contexture fix'd ;
Yet not confused nor commix'd ;
Yet still a myst'ry great and fresh,
A Spirit infinite made flesh.

What though when nothing heard his call,
Nothing obeyed and brought forth all ?
What though he nothing's brood maintain,
Or all annihilate again

Let nothing into being pass,
Or back again to what it was ?
But, lo ! the God of beings here,
As turn'd to nothing doth appear.

All heav'n's astonish'd at his form,
The mighty God became a worm.
Down Arian pride to him shall bow,
He's Jesus and JEHOVAH too.

THE SUM OF REDEMPTION.

With haughty mind to Godhead man aspir'd,
With loving mind our manhood God desir'd :

n was by pride from place of pleasure chas'd,
d-man by love in greater pleasures plac'd.

n seeking to ascend procur'd our fall,
d yielding to descend remov'd our thrall:
e judge was cast, the guilty to acquit,
e Sun defac'd to lend the shades the light.

SECTION III.

REDEEMER'S WORK; OR, CHRIST ALL IN ALL, AND OUR COMPLETE REDEMPTION.—A GOSPEL CATECHISM FOR YOUNG CHRISTIANS.

Question.

KIND teacher may I come to learn
In this abrupt address,
By framing questions that concern
My endless happiness?

Answer.

Yea, child; but if you'd learn to run
The great salvation race,
Know that the name of Christ alone
Can answer ev'ry case.

Q. By sin, my God and all is lost;
O where may God be found?

A. In Christ ; for so the Holy Ghost
Shows by the joyful sound.

Q. But how will God with sinful me
Again be reconcil'd ?

A. In Christ, in whom his grace to thee
And favor is reveal'd.

Q. O how shall I a sharer prove,
And see his glorious grace ?

A. In Christ the image of his love,
And brightness of his face.

Q. Where shall I seek all divine store,
And without fail obtain ?

A. In Christ, in whom for evermore
His fulness does remain.

Q. But how shall I escape and flee
Th' avenging wrath of God ?

A. In Christ, who bore upon the tree
That whole amazing load.

Q. Alas ! I'm daily apt to stray,
How shall I heav'nward make ?

A. Through Christ the consecrated way,
Design'd for thee to take.

Q. Ah! where's my title, right, or claim
To that eternal bliss

A. In Christ alone, that glorious name,
The Lord our righteousness.

Q. But who unfit can enter there,
Or with such nasty feet?

A. Christ by his blood presents thee fair,
His Spirit makes thee meet.

Q. But may n't my spirit, weak as grass,
Fail ere it reach the length?

A. Jesus, the Lord thy righteousness,
Will be the Lord thy strength.

Q. May n't hellish hosts and wicked foes,
Sore by the way molest?

A. Christ is a friend to bridle those,
And give the weary rest.

Q. May n't guilty conscience loudly brand
And all my comfort chase?

A. Christ with a pardon in his hand
Can show his smiling face.

Q. But how can divine mercy vent,
Where sins are great, and throng?

- A. Christ is the channel with descent
That mercy runs along.
- Q. But may not justice interpose,
And stand in mercy's way ?
- A. Jesus did all the debt thou owes
To divine justice pay.
- Q. Where shall mine eyes the pardon spy,
Unto my saving good ?
- A. In Christ's free promise see it lie,
In his atoning blood.
- Q. What ground have I to trust and say,
The promise is not vain ?
- A. In Christ the promises are Yea,
In him they are Amen.
- Q. But where is Christ himself, O where
With promises so sweet ?
- A. Christ's in the promises, and there
Thy faith and he may meet.
- Q. Is Christ in them, and they in Christ ?
How shall I this descry ?
- A. His blood and Spirit therein list
To seal and to apply.

- Q. 'Gainst legal fiery threats of wrath,
Pray, what defence is best ?
- A. Christ's full obedience ey'd by faith ;
There should the guilty rest.
- Q. But how shall faith be had ? Alas !
I find I can't believe.
- A. Christ is the author of that grace,
And faith is his to give.
- Q. Ah ! when may faithless I expect
He 'll such a bliss bequeath ?
- A. He will of unbelief convict,
And pave the way for faith.
- Q. Repentance must attend, but whence Shall I this grace receive ?
- A. Christ is exalted as a prince
All needful grace to give.
- Q. How can so vile a lump of dust
Heart-holiness expect ?
- A. Christ by his holy Spirit must
This gradual change effect.
- Q. How shall I do the works aright,
I 'm daily bound unto ?

A. Christ in thee, by his Spirit's might,
Works both to will and do.

Q. How shall my maladies be heal'd,
So sore molesting me ?

A. Christ is the great Physician seal'd,
The Lord that healeth thee.

Q. By pray'r I ought to seek his face,
This course how shall I drive ?

A. 'T is Christ alone that has the grace
And sp'rit of pray'r to give.

Q. Salvation-work is great and high,
Alas ! what shall I do ?

A. Christ is the Alpha thereof, aye,
And the Omega too.

Q. What pillar then is most secure
To build my hope upon ?

A. Christ only the foundation sure,
The living corner-stone.

Q. When I'm with black pollution stain'd,
How shall I cleansed be ?

A. Christ is a fountain for that end
Set open wide for thee.

Q. What shall I do, when plagues abound,
With sorrows, griefs, and fears ?

A. Christ has a balsam for thy wounds,
A bottle for thy tears.

Q. But is there any help for one
That utterly is lost ?

A. Christ saves from sin, and he alone,
Ev'n to the uttermost.

Q. But where shall I be safe at last
From hell and endless death ?

A. Christ is a refuge from the blast
Of everlasting wrath.

Q. But may n't ev'n nat'ral death to me
Become a dreadful thing ?

A. Christ by his death in love to thee
Did ev'ry death unsting.

Q. Why, sir, is Christ the whole you say ?
No answer else I find.

A. Because, were Christ, our all, away,
There 's nothing left behind.

Q. How can he answer ev'ry case,
And help in ev'ry thrall ?

A. Because he is the Lord of grace,
JEHOVAH, all in all.

Q. How is he present to supply,
And to relieve us thus ?

A. Because his glorious name is nigh,
IMMANUEL, God with us.

Q. Has he alone all pow'r to save ?
Is nothing left to man ?

A. Yea, without Christ we nothing have,
Without him nothing can.

Q. May n't some from hence take latitude
And room their lusts to please ?
If Christ do all, then very good,
Let us take carnal ease.

A. Christ will in flaming vengeance come,
With fury in his face,
To damn his foes that dare presume,
And thus abuse his grace.

SECTION IV.

FAITH AND WORKS BOTH EXCLUDED FROM THE MATTER OF JUSTIFICATION BEFORE GOD, THAT REDEMPTION MAY APPEAR TO BE ONLY IN CHRIST.

Who dare a holy God address,
With an unholy righteousness ?
Who can endure his awful probe,
Without perfection for their robe ?

None could his great tribunal face,
Were faith itself their fairest dress :
Faith takes the robe, but never brags
Itself has ought but filthy rags.

Faith claims no share, and works far less,
In justice-pleasing righteousness ;
The servant were to be abhorr'd
Would claim the glory of his lord.

Blasphemous unbelief may claim
The praises of the worthy Lamb :
But faith, disclaiming all its best,
Not on itself, but Christ, will rest.

I'm sav'd and justifi'd by faith,
Which yet no saving value hath ;

Nor e'er pretends to save from thrall,
But in its object has its all.

'Tis Christ alone saves guilty me,
And makes my right to life so free
That in himself it stands alone :
Faith takes the right, but gives me none.

I dare not act with this intent
For acts of mine to draw the rent :
Nor do good works with this design
To win the crown by works of mine.

I'd thus the promis'd grace forsake,
Nor Jesus for my Saviour take ;
Yea, thus would dreadfully presume,
And work mine own eternal doom.

Presumption cannot rise more high ;
I'd make the truth of God a lie,
The God of truth a liar too ;
What more mischief could Satan do ?

Why, I'd discredit God's record
Concerning Jesus Christ the Lord,
His glorious and eternal Son,
Whose blood has life eternal won.

In him, says God, this life I give,
In him shall therefore men believe,
My gift embracing in their arms :
None shall be sav'd on other terms.

Vain man must stoop and freely take,
Or else embrace a burning lake :
Proud nature must submit to grace,
And to the divine righteousness.

In vain on works our hope is built,
Our actions nothing are but guilt :
The best obedience of our own
Dare not appear before his throne.

What finite worm can bear the load,
The fury of an angry God ?
What mortal vigor can withstand
The vengeance of his lifted hand ?

The law can never save us now,
To damn is all that it can do.
Heav'n casts all righteousness of ours ;
The law of works is out of doors.

No merit, money, more or less,
Can buy the gift of righteousness.

O may I take what heav'n does give :
JEHOVAH help me to believe ;

And in that righteousness to trust,
Which only makes a sinner just.

And then, the truth of faith to prove,
Lord, make my faith to work by love.

CHAPTER II.

THE BELIEVER'S PRINCIPLES CONCERNING THE LAW AND GOSPEL; PARTICULARLY, THE MYSTERY, DIFFERENCE, HARMONY, AND PLACE AND STATION OF LAW AND GOSPEL.

SECTION I.

THE MYSTERY OF LAW AND GOSPEL.

THOUGH law commands and gospel grace
Agree in mutual joint embrace ; a
Yet law and gospel in a shock
Can never draw an equal yoke. b a Rom. iii. 31. Do we then make void the law through faith ? God forbid : yea, we establish the law. Gal. iii. 21. Is the law then against the promises of God ? God forbid : for if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law.

b Psalm cxxx. 3, 4. If thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities : O Lord, who shall stand ? But there is forgiveness with thee ; that thou mayest be feared. Ver. 7, 8. Let Israel hope in the Lord : for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plentiful redemption. And he shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities. And cxliii. 2. O Lord, enter not into judgment with thy servant ; for in thy sight shall no man living be justified. Ver. 8. Cause me to hear thy loving kindness in the morning,

The law of works, the law of grace,
 Can't stand together in one place ;
 The brighter scene destroys the dark,
 As Dagon fell before the ark. c

They harmonize like marri'd pairs, d
 Yet are at odds, and keep not squares : e for in thee do I trust : cause me to know the way wherein I should walk, for I lift up my soul unto thee.

c Rom. vi. 14, 15. Sin shall not have dominion over you : for ye are not under the law, but under grace. What then ? shall we sin, because we are not under the law, but under grace ?
 God forbid. Chap. vii. 4—6. Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ : that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God. For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death. But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held ; that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter. 2 Cor. iii. 7—10. But if the ministration of death written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not stedfastly behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance, which glory was to be done away ; how shall not the ministration of the Spirit be rather glorious ? For if the ministration of condemnation be glory, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory. For even that which was made glorious, had no glory in this respect, by reason of the glory that excelleth.

As mercy stands from merit far,
 The letter and the spirit jar. f

The law does gospel comforts harm,
 The gospel breaks the legal arm ; g
 Yet both exalt each other's horn,
 And garlands bring their heads t' adorn. h

I through the law am dead to it,
 To legal works and self conceit ; i d Gal. iii. 24. Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith.

e Rom. xi. 6. And if [election be] by grace, then is it no more of works : otherwise grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then is it no more grace : otherwise work is no more work.

f 2 Cor. iii. 6. The letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life.

g Heb. ii. 15. And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage. Phil. iii. 7—9. But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea, doubtless, and I count all things but loss, for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord : for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith.

h Gal. ii. 19. For I through the law am dead to the law, that I might live unto God.

i Rom. vii. 6. But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held ; that we should serve in newness

Yet, lo ! through gospel grace I live,
And to the law due honor give. j

The law great room for boasting makes,
But grace my pride and boasting breaks ; k
Yet all my boasts the law does kill. l
And grace makes room to boast my fill. m

The gospel makes me keep the law, n
Yet from its painful service draw : o

of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter. Ver. 9. For I was alive without the law once : but when the commandment came, sin revived and I died.

j Rom. vii. 4. Wherefore my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God. And x. 4. Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth.

k Rom. iii. 27. Where is boasting then ? It is excluded. By what law ? of works ? Nay ; but by the law of faith.

l Rom. iii. 19. Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law : that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.

m 1 Cor. i. 29—31. That no flesh should glory in his presence. But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption : that, according as it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord.

It does all law-demands fulfil, p
 Yet makes them wholly void and null. q
 The gospel gives me no command, r
 Yet by obeying it I stand ; s
 To strict obedience though it call, t
 Does bind to none, but promise all. u

u Titus ii. 11, 12. For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men ; teaching us, that denying ungodliness, and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world.

o Gal. v. 1. Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

p Rom. viii. 3, 4. For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God did, sending his own Son, in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin condemned sin in the flesh : that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

q Rom. vi. 14. Sin shall not have dominion over you : for ye are not under the law, but under grace. Gal. iv. 4, 5. But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law.

r Gal. iii. 8. And the scripture foreseeing that God would justify the heathen through faith, preached before the gospel unto Abraham, saying, in thee shall all nations be blessed.

s Mark xvi. 16. He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved.

The law does strict commandment give
 That I the gospel news believe ; v
 But yet it teaches no such thing,
 Nor e'er could gospel tidings bring. w

t 2 Thess. i. 7, 8. The Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven, with his mighty angels, in flaming fire, taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

u John iii. 17. God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world ; but that the world through him might be saved. And xii. 47. And if any man hear my words and believe not, I judge him not : for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. Heb. viii. 10—12. For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord ; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts : and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people. And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord : for all shall know me from the least to the greatest. For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more.

v John iii. 18. He that believeth on him is not condemned : but he that believeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

w Rom. x. 5. For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things, shall live by them. And iii. 19. Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law : that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.

When I the gospel truth believe,
 Obedience to the law I give, x
 And when I do n't the law* observe,
 I from the gospel method swerve. y

Yet, if I do the law† obey,
 I am not in the gospel way, z
 Which does to new obedience draw ; a
 Yet is the gospel no new law. b

As precepts to the law belong,
 Yet in the gospel field are throng, c

x John iii. 18. He that believeth on him, is not condemned.

y Titus ii. 11, 12. See letter n forecited.

z Gal. v. 3, 4. For I testify again to every man that is circumcised, that he is a debtor to do the whole law. Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law ; ye are fallen from grace.

a Rom. xvi. 25, 26. The mystery which was kept secret since the world began, now is made manifest, and by the scriptures of the prophets, according to the commandment of the everlasting God, made known to all nations for the obedience of faith.

b Gal. iii. 21. Is the law then against the promises of God ? God forbid : for if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law.

d Heb. x. 26—29. For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries. He that despised Moses' law, died without mercy, under two or three witnesses : of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace ? Chap. xii. 25. See that ye refuse not him that speaketh : for if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven.

e Rom. xv. 29. And I am sure that when I come unto you, I shall come in the fulness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ. Acts iii. 26. Unto you first, God having raised up his Son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning away every one of you from his iniquities.

g Eph. i. 13. In Christ ye also trusted after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation. 1 Tim. i. 15. This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners ; of whom I am chief.

j Psalm cxix. 96. I have seen an end of all perfection ; but thy commandment is exceeding broad. Rom. vii. 12. Wherefore the law is holy ; and the commandment holy, and just, and good. Heb. vii. 19. For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did ; by the which we draw nigh unto God.

Strength to the gospel does belong,
 Mighty through God it is, and strong : l
 It to the law does strength emit,

 Sufficient strength to justify ; m
 Yet may I say, in truth it is
 The law that gives the gospel this : n

things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually, make the comers thereunto perfect.

l Rom. i. 16. For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ : for it is the power of God unto salvation, to every one that believeth, to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. 2 Cor. x. 4, 5. For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds : casting down imaginations and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ.

m Rom. viii. 1. There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. Ver. 3, 4. For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God did, sending his own Son, in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin condemned sin in the flesh : that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

n Rom. iii. 31. Do we then make void the law through faith ? God forbid ; yea, we establish the law. Chap. x. 4. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth.

For as the law no sinner clears,
 But who the gospel garment wears ;
 So none are justifi'd by grace,
 Unless the law demands have place. o

Again the law, which yet seems worse,
 Gives gospel news condemning force ; p
 Yet they are news that never can,
 Nor never will condemn a man. q

Therefore by the deeds of the law, there shall no flesh be justified in his sight : for by the law is the knowledge of sin. But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets ; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all, and upon all them that believe ; for there is no difference.  Yet all law threats and Sinai's ire

w Heb. vii. 26. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens. Dan. ix 24. Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people, and upon thy holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most holy. 1 Tim. iii. 16. And without controversy, great is the mystery of godliness : God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory. Rom. ii. 13. For not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified. Isa. l. 8. x 2 Cor. v. 21. God hath made Christ to be sin for us, who knew no sin ; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him. 1 Pet. iii. 18. Christ hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, (that he might bring us to God,) being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit.

But he withal condemn'd and spoil'd
 The law of works, which him assoil'd : y
 And now the law is (in these views)
 The marrow of the gospel news. z

 That is a sinner a, yet it can
 Thus favor sinful men, and free
 The chief of sinners, guilty me. b

 That have not put perfection on : c
 And yet it cleareth none (I grant)
 But those who all perfection want. d

Those that with gospel clearance meet,
 Must by the law be found complete ; e
 Yet never could (again I grant)

om. viii. 3. For what the law could not do, in that it was weak rough the flesh, God, sending his own Son, in the likeness of nful flesh, and for sin condemned sin in the flesh : that the ghteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not fter the flesh, but after the Spirit. Ver. 33, 34. Who shall lay nything to the charge of God's elect ? It is God that justifieth ; ho is he that condemneth ? It is Christ that died, yea, rather, at is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who oo maketh intercession for us.

c Rom. iii. 21, 22. But now the righteousness of God without hets ; even the righteousness of God, which is by faith of Jesus hrist unto all, and upon all them that believe, for there is no

That the Gentiles which followed not after righteousness, have attained to righteousness, even the righteousness which is of faith: but Israel, which followed after the law of righteousness, hath not attained to the law of righteousness. Wherefore, because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law. Chap. x. 3. Israel being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. 1 Tim. i. 15. And Jesus spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others: Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice a week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himself, shall be abased: and

Yet still no man its grace partakes,
But whom it truly godly makes. i

The law withstands the gospel path, j
Which yet its approbation hath ; k

he that humbleth himself, shall be exalted. Ver. 21, 22. And he [the ruler] said, All these have I kept from my youth up. Now when Jesus heard these things, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing : sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come, follow me.

k Rom. iv. 5, 6. To him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness. Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works.

i Titus ii. 11—14. The grace of God that bringeth salvation, hath appeared to all men ; teaching us, that denying ungodliness, and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world ; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God even our Saviour Jesus Christ : who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people zealous of good works. Chap. iii. 4. 5. After that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness, which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost. Ver. 8. This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works : these things are good and profitable unto men.

The gospel thwarts the legal way, l
 Yet will approve the law for ay. m

Hence, though the gospel's comely frame
 Doth openly the law condemn, n

j 1 Cor. xv. 56. The strength of sin is the law. Rom. vi. 14. Sin shall not have dominion over you : for ye are not under the law, but under grace. Chap. x. 3. Israel being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God.

k Isa. xlii. 21. The Lord is well pleased for his righteousness' sake, he will magnify the law and make it honorable. Matt. iii. 17. And lo, a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.

l Rom. ix. 31—33. But Israel, which followed after the law of righteousness, hath not attained to the law of righteousness. Wherefore ? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law : for they stumbled at that stumbling-stone ; as it is written, Behold, I lay in Zion a stumbling-stone, and rock of offence ; and whosoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed.

m Rom. vii. 7. What shall we say then ? Is the law sin ? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin but by the law : for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet. Ver. 10. And the commandment which was ordained to life, I found to be unto death. Ver. 12. Wherefore the law is holy ; and the commandment holy, and just, and good.

n Rom. x. 5—9. For Moses describeth the righteousness which

Yet they are blind, who never saw

The gospel justify the law. o

Thus gospel grace, and law commands,

Both bind and loose each other's hands :

They can't agree on any terms, p

Yet hug each other in their arms. q

is of the law, That the man which doeth those things, shall live by them. But the righteousness which is of faith speaketh on this wise, Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is, to bring Christ down from above :) or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is, to bring up Christ again from the dead.) But what saith it? The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart; that is, the word of faith, which we preach, That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart, that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.

o Rom. iii. 31. Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law.

p Gal. iv. 21—26. Tell me, ye that desire to be under the law, do ye not hear the law? For it is written, that Abraham had two sons; the one by a bond-maid, the other by a free-woman. But he who was of the bond-woman was born after the flesh; but he of the free-woman was by promise. Which things are an allegory; for those are the two covenants; the one from the mount Sinai, which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar. For this Agar is mount Sinai in Arabia, and answereth to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children. But Jerusalem which is above, is free, which is the mother of us all.

r Matt. xiii. 23. Wo unto you, Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites ; for ye pay tithe of mint, and anise, and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith : these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. Rom. ii. 23. Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law, dishonorest thou God ? Ver. 25, 26. For circumcision verily profiteth, if thou keep the law ; but if thou be a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision. Therefore, if the uncircumcision keep the righteousness of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be counted for circumcision ? Matt. xix. 6. What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder. Chap. iii. 15. And Jesus answering, said unto him [John], Suffer it to be so now : for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness. Then he suffered him. Chap. v. 17. Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets : I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. Ver. 19, 20. Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven : but whosoever shall do, and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven. 1 John v. 6. This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ ; not by water only, but by water and blood : and it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth.

Yet those that dare confound the two,
Destroy them both, and gender wo. s

This paradox none can decipher,
That plow not with the gospel heifer.

s Gal. i. 6—8. I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ, unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and which pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you, than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. Zeph. i. 4. I will cut off—Ver. 5,—them that worship, and that swear by the Lord, and that swear by Malcham. Acts xv. 7. And when there had been much disputing, Peter rose up and said unto them, Men and brethren, ye know how that a good while ago, God made choice among us, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the gospel, and believe. Ver. 10, 11. Now, therefore, why tempt ye God to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear? But we believe, that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, we shall be saved even as they. Gal. v. 1. Stand fast therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. Ver. 4. Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law, ye are fallen from grace.

SECTION II.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

THE law, supposing I have all,
Does ever for perfection call :
The gospel suits my total want,
And all the law can seek does grant.

The law could promise life to me,
If my obedience perfect be :
But grace does promise life upon
My Lord's obedience alone.

The law says, Do, and life you 'll win :
But grace says, Live, for all is done :
The former cannot ease my grief,
The latter yields me full relief.

By law convinc'd of sinful breach,
By gospel grace I comfort reach :
The one my condemnation bears,
The other justifies and clears.

The law shows my arrears are great,
The gospel freely pays my debt :

The first does me, the bankrupt, curse,
The law does bless and fill my purse.

The law will not abate a mite,
The gospel all the sum will quite ;
There God in threat'nings is array'd,
But here in promises display'd.

The law and gospel disagree,
Like Hagar, Sarah, bond and free :
The former 's Hagar's servitude,
The latter Sarah's happy brood.

To Sinai black, and Zion fair,
The word does law and grace compare :
Their cursing and their blessing vie
With Ebal and Gerizzim high.

The law excludes not boasting vain,
But rather feeds it to my bane :
But gospel grace allows no boasts,
Save in the King, the Lord of hosts.

The law still irritates my sin,
And hardens my proud heart therein ;
But grace's melting pow'r renews,
And my corruption strong subdues.

The law with thunder, Sinai-like,
Does always dread and terror speak :
The gospel makes a joyful noise,
And charms me with a still, calm voice.

The legal trumpet war proclaims,
In wrathful threats, and fire, and flames :
The gospel pipe, a peaceful sound,
Which spreads a kindly breath around.

The law is weak through sinful flesh,
The gospel brings recruits afresh ;
The first a killing letter wears,
The last a quick'ning spirit bears.

The law, that seeks perfection's height,
Yet gives no strength, nor offers might :
But precious gospel tidings glad,
Declare where all is to be had.

From me alone the law does crave,
What grace affirms in Christ I have :
When therefore law pursuits inthrall,
I send the law to grace for all.

The law brings terror to molest,
The gospel gives the weary rest ;

The one does flags of death display,
The other shows the living way.

The law by Moses was exprest ;
The glorious gospel came by Christ :
The first dim nature's light may trace ;
The last is only known by grace.

The law may rouse me from my sloth
To faith and to repentance both :
And though the law commandeth each,
Yet neither of them can it teach ;

Nor will accept for current coin
The duties which it does injoin ;
It seeks all, but accepts no less
Than constant, perfect righteousness.

The gospel, on the other hand,
Although it issue no command,
But strictly view'd, does whole consist
In promises and offers blest ;

Yet does it many duties teach,
Which legal light could never reach ;
Thus faith, repentance, and the like,
Are fire that gospel engines strike.

They have acceptance here through grace ;
The law affords them no such place :
Yet still they come through both their hands,
Through gospel teaching, law commands.

The law 's a house of bondage sore,
The gospel opes the prison door :
The first me hamper'd in its net,
The last at freedom kindly set.

The precept craves, the gospel gives :
While that me presses, this relieves,
And or affords the strength I lack,
Or takes the burden off my back.

The law requires on pain of death ;
The gospel courts with loving breath :
While that conveys a deadly wound,
This makes me perfect, whole, and sound.

There viewing how diseas'd I am,
I here perceive the healing balm :
Afflicted there with sense of need,
But here refresh'd with meet remede.

The law 's a charge for what I owe ;
The gospel my discharge to show :

The one a scene of fears doth ope ;
The other is the door of hope.

An angry God the law reveal'd ;
The gospel shows him reconcil'd :
By that I know he was displeas'd ;
By this I see his wrath appeas'd.

The law thus shows the divine ire,
And nothing but consuming fire :
The gospel brings the olive branch,
And blood the burning fire to quench.

The law still shows a fiery face ;
The gospel shows a throne of grace :
There justice rides alone in state ;
But here she takes the mercy-seat.

IN SUM:

Lo ! in the law JEHOVAH dwells,
But Jesus is conceal'd !
Whereas the gospel 's nothing else
But Jesus Christ reveal'd.

SECTION III.

THE HARMONY BETWEEN THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

THE law 's a tutor much in vogue,
To gospel grace a pedagogue ;
The gospel to the law no less
Than its full end for righteousness.

When once the fiery law of God
Has chas'd me to the gospel road ;
Then back unto the holy law
Most kindly gospel grace will draw.

When by the law to grace I 'm school'd ;
Grace by the law will have me rul'd ;
Hence, if I do n't the law obey,
I cannot keep the gospel way.

When I the gospel news believe,
Obedience to the law I give :
And that both in its fed'ral dress,
And as a rule of holiness.

Lo ! in my Head I render all
For which the fiery law can call ;

His blood unto its fire was fuel,
His Spirit shapes me to its rule.

When law and gospel kindly meet,
To serve each other both unite :
Sweet promises, and stern commands,
Do work to one another's hands.

The divine law demands no less
Than human perfect righteousness ;
The gospel gives it this and more,
Ev'n divine righteousness in store.

Whate'er the righteous law require,
The gospel grants its whole desire.
Are law commands exceeding broad ?
So is the righteousness of God.

How great soe'er the legal charge,
The gospel payment's equal large :
No less by man the law can bray
When grace provides a God to pay.

The law makes gospel banquets sweet ;
The gospel makes the law complete :
Law suits to grace's storehouse draw ;
Grace decks and magnifies the law.

Both law and gospel close combine,
To make each other's lustre shine :
The gospel all law-breakers shames ;
The law all gospel-slighters damns.

The law is holy, just, and good ;
All this the gospel seals with blood,
And clears the royal law's just dues
With dearly-purchas'd revenues.

The law commands me to believe ;
The gospel saving faith does give :
The law enjoins me to repent ;
The gospel gives my tears a vent.

What in the gospel mint is coin'd,
The same is in the law enjoin'd :
Whatever gospel tidings teach,
The law's authority doth reach.

Here join the law and gospel hands,
What this me teaches, that commands ;
What virtuous forms the gospel please
The same the law doth authorise.

And thus the law-commandment seals
Whatever gospel grace reveals :

The gospel also for my good
Seals all the law demands with blood.

The law most perfect still remains,
And ev'ry duty full contains :
The gospel its perfection speaks,
And therefore gives whate'er it seeks.

Next, what by law I 'm bound unto,
The same the gospel makes me do :
What preceptively that can crave,
This effectively can engrave.

All that by precepts Heav'n expects,
Free grace by promises effects :
To what the law by fear may move,
To that the gospel leads by love.

To run, to work, the law commands ;
The gospel gives me feet and hands :
The one requires that I obey ;
The other does the pow'r convey.

What in the law has duty's place,
The gospel changes to a grace :
Hence legal duties therein nam'd,
Are herein gospel graces fam'd.

The precept checks me when I stray ;
The promise holds me in the way :
That shows my folly when I roam ;
And this most kindly brings me home.

Law threats and precepts both, I see,
With gospel promises agree ;
They to the gospel are a fence,
And it to them a maintenance.

The law will justify all those
Who with the gospel ransom close ;
The gospel, too, approves for ay
All those that do the law obey.

The righteous law condemns each man
That dare reject the gospel plan ;
The holy gospel none will save,
On whom it wont the law engrave.

When Christ the tree of life I climb,
I see both law and grace in him :
In him the law its end does gain ;
In him the promise is Amen.

The law makes grace's pasture sweet,
Grace makes the law my sav'ry meat ;

Yea, sweeter than the honey-comb,
When grace and mercy bring it home.

The precepts of the law me show
What fruits of gratitude I owe ;
But gospel grace begets the brood,
And moves me to the gratitude.

Law terrors pane the putrid sore ;
And gospel grace applies the cure :
The one plows up the fallow-ground ;
The other sows the seed around.

A rigid master was the law,
Demanding brick, denying straw ;
But when with gospel tongue it sings,
It bids me fly, and gives me wings.

IN SUM:

Both law and gospel close unite,
Are seen with more solace,
Where truth and mercy kindly meet,
In fair Immanuel's face.

SECTION IV.

THE PROPER PLACE AND STATION OF THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

NOTE, That in the four following Paragraphs, as well as in the three preceding Sections, by LAW, is mostly understood the doctrine of the Covenant of Works; and by GOSPEL, the doctrine of the Covenant of Grace.

PARAGRAPH I.

The Place and Station of Law and Gospel in general.

WHEN we the sacred record view,
Or divine Test'ments Old and New,
The matter in most pages fix'd
Is law and gospel intermix'd.

Yet few, ev'n in a learn'd age,
Can so resolve the sacred page;
As to discern with equal eye,
Where law, where gospel, sever'd lie.

One divine text with double clause
May speak the gospel's voice and law's :*

* Ex. gr. Lev. xx. 7, 8. Sanctify yourselves therefore, and be ye holy: for I am the Lord your God. And ye shall keep my statutes, and do them: I am the Lord which sanctify you. 1 John

Hence men to blend them both are apt,
Should in one sentence both be wrapt.

But that we may the truth pursue,
And give both law and grace their due,
And God the glory there display'd ;
The foll'wing rules will gives us aid.

Where'er in sacred writ we see
A word of grace or promise free,
With blessings dropt for Jesus' sake,
We these for gospel news may take :

But where a precept strict we find
With promise to our doing join'd,

7. Beloved let us love one another : for love is of God ; and every one that loveth, is born of God, and knoweth God. Rom. 21. That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Lord. Chap. vi. 23. For the wages of sin is death : but the gift of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Mark xvi. 16. And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved ; but he that believeth not shall be damned. Matt. iii. 18. He that believeth on him, is not condemned : but he that believeth not, is condemned already, because he hath not believed on the name of the only begotten Son of God, &c.

Or threat'ning with a wrathful frown,
This as the law we justly own.

PARAGRAPH II.

The Place and Station of Law and Gospel in particular : the difference is noted between the Gospel largely viewed in its dispensation, and strictly in itself, and between the Gospel and faith regarding it.

WOULDEST thou distinctly know the sound
Of law and grace, then do n't confound
The dispensation with the grace ;
For these two have a distinct place.

The gospel thus dispens'd we see,
Believe and thou shalt saved be ;
If not, thou shalt be damn'd to hell,
And in eternal torments dwell.

Here precepts in it are dispens'd,
With threat'nings of damnation fenc'd ;
The legal sanction here takes place,
That none may dare abuse free grace.

Yet nor does that command of faith,
Nor this tremendous threat of wrath,

Belong to gospel strictly so,
But to its dispensation do.

The method of dispensing here,
Does law and gospel jointly bear ;
Because the law 's subservient
Unto the gospel's bless'd intent.

Precepts and threat'nings both make way,
The gospel blessing to convey ;
Which differs much (though thus dispens'd)
From laws and threats whereby 't is fenc'd.

Believe, and thou shalt saved be,
Is gospel, but improperly ;
Yet safely men may call it thus,
Because 't is so dispens'd to us.

But sure, the gospel news we sing,
Must be some other glorious thing,
Than precepts to believe the same,
Whatever way we blend their name.

'The gospel treasure 's something more
Than means that do apply the store :
Believing is the method pav'd,
The gospel is the thing believ'd.

The precious thing is tidings sweet
Of Christ a Saviour most complete
To save from sin, and death, and wrath ;
Which tidings tend to gender faith.

Faith comes by hearing God's record
Concerning Jesus Christ the Lord,
And is the method Heav'n has blest
For bringing to the gospel rest.

The joyful sound is news of grace,
And life to Adam's guilty race,
Through Jesus' righteousness divine,
Which bright from faith to faith does shine.

The promise of immortal bliss
Is made to this full righteousness :
By this our right to life is bought,
Faith begs the right, but buys it not.

True faith receives the offer'd good,
And promise seal'd with precious blood :
It gives no title to the bliss,
But takes th' intitling righteousness.

This object great of saving faith,
And this alone the promise hath ;

For 't is not made to faith's poor act,
But is the prize that faith does take ;

And only as it takes the same,
It bears a great and famous name ;
For self, and all its grandeur, down
It throws, that Christ may wear the crown.

But if new laws and threats were all
That gospel properly we call,
Then were the precept to believe
No better news than Do and live.

If, then, we wont distinguish here,
We cloud, but do n't the gospel clear ;
We blend it with the fiery law,
And all into confusion draw.

The law of works we introduce,
As if old merit were in use,
When man could life by doing won,
Ev'n though the work by grace were done.

Old Adam in his innocence
Deriv'd his pow'r of doing hence :
As all he could was wholly due ;
So all the working strength, he knew,

Was only from the grace of God,
Who with such favor did him load :
Yet was the promise to his act,
That he might merit by compact.

No merit but of paction could
Of men or angels e'er be told ;
The God-man only was so high
To merit by condignity.

Were life now promis'd to our act,
Or to our works by paction tack'd ;
Though God should his assistance grant
'Tis still a doing covenant.

Though Heav'n its helping grace should yield,
Yet merit 's still upon the field ;
We cast the name, yet still 't is found
Disclaim'd but with a verbal sound.

If one should borrow tools from you,
That he some famous work might do,
When once his work is well prepar'd,
He sure deserves his due reward :

Yea, justly may he claim his due,
Although he borrow'd tools from you :

Ev'n thus the borrow'd strength of grace
Can't hinder merit to take place.

From whence soe'er we borrow pow'rs,
If life depend on works of ours ;
Or if we make the gospel thus
In any sort depend on us ;

We give the law the gospel place,
Rewards of debt the room of grace ;
We mix Heav'n's treasures with our trash,
And magnify corrupted flesh.

The new and gospel covenant
No promise to our works will grant ;
But to the doing of our Head,
And in him to each gospel deed.

To godliness, which is great gain,
Promise is said to appertain :
But know, lest you the gospel mar,
In whom it is we godly are.

To him and to his righteousness
Still primar'ly the promise is ;
And not ev'n to the gracious deed,
Save in and through the glorious Head.

Pray let us here observe the odds,
How law and grace take counter roads,
The law of works no promise spake
Unto the agent, but the act.

It primar'ly no promise made
Unto the person, but the deed :
Whate'er the doing person shar'd,
'T was for his deed he had reward.

The law of grace o'erturns the scale,
And makes the quite reverse prevail :
Its promise lights not on the deed,
But on the doing person's head ;

Not for his doing, but for this,
Because in Christ his person is :
Which union to the living Prince,
His living works and deeds evince.

Good fruits have promise, in this view,
As union to the BRANCH they show ;
To whom the promises pertain,
In him all yea, and all amen.

Observe, pray ; for if here we err,
And do not Christ alone prefer,

But think the promise partly stands
On our obeying new commands,
Th' old cov'nant-place to works we give,
Or mingle grace with do and live ;
We overcloud the gospel charms,
And also break our working arms ;

More honor to the law profess,
But giving more we give it less :
Its heavy yoke in vain we draw,
By turning gospel into law :

We rob grace of its joyful sound,
And bury Christ in Moses' ground :
At best we run a legal race
Upon the field of gospel grace.

PARAGRAPH III.

The Gospel no new Law, but a joyful sound of Grace and Mercy.

LAW precepts in a gospel mould,
We may as gospel doctrine hold ;
But gospel calls in legal dress,
The joyful sound of grace suppress.

Faith and repentance may be taught,
And yet no gospel tidings brought,
If as mere duties these we press,
And not as parts of promis'd bliss.

If only precepts we present,
Though urg'd with strongest argument,
We leave the wak'ned sinner's hope
In darkness of despair to grope.

The man whom legal precepts chase,
As yet estrang'd to sov'reign grace,
Mistaking evangelic charms,
As if they stood on legal terms,

Looks to himself, though dead in sin,
For grounds of faith and hope within ;
Hence fears and fetters grow and swell,
Since nought 's within but sin and hell.

But faith, that looks to promis'd grace,
Clean out of self the soul will chase
To Christ for righteousness and strength,
And finds the joyful rest at length.

Proud flesh and blood will startle here,
And hardly such report can bear,

That Heav'n all saving store will give
To them that work not, but believe.

Yet not of works, but 't is the race
Of faith, that it may be of grace :
For faith does nothing but agree
To welcome this salvation free.

“ Come down, Zaccheus, quickly come,
Salvation 's brought unto thy home :
In vain thou climb'st the legal tree ;
Salvation freely comes to thee.

“ Thou dream'st of coming up to terms ;
Come down into my saving arms ;
Down, down, and get a pardon free, -
On terms already wrought by me.

“ Behold the blessings of my blood,
Bought for thy everlasting good,
And freely all to be convey'd
Upon the price already paid.

“ I know thou hast no good, and see
I cannot stand on terms with thee,
Whose fall has left thee nought to claim,
Nor ought to boast but sin and shame.”

The law, of heavy, hard commands,
Confirms the wak'ned sinner's bands ;
But grace proclaims relieving news,
And scenes of matchless mercy shows.

No precept clogs the gospel call,
But wherein grace is all in all ;
No law is here but that of grace,
Which brings relief in ev'ry case.

The gospel is the promise fair
Of grace all ruins to repair,
And leaves no sinner room to say,
" Alas ! this debt I cannot pay ;

" This grievous yoke I cannot bear,
This high demand I cannot clear."

• Grace stops the mouth of such complaints,
And store of full supply presents.

The glorious gospel is (in brief)
A sov'reign word of sweet relief ;
Not clogg'd with cumbersome commands,
To bind the soul's receiving hands.

'Tis joyful news of sov'reign grace,
That reigns in state through righteousness,

To ransom from all threat'ning woes,
And answer all commanding do's :

This gospel comes with help indeed,
Adapted unto sinners' need :
These joyful news that suit their case,
Are chariots of his drawing grace :

'T is here the spirit pow'rful rides,
The fountains of the deep divides ;
The King of glory's splendor shews,
And wins the heart with welcome news.

PARAGRAPH IV.

be Gospel further described, as a Bundle of good News and gracious Promises.

THE first grand promise forth did break
In threats against the tempting snake ;
So may the gospel in commands,
Yet nor in threats nor precepts stands :

But 't is a doctrine of free grants
To sinners, that they may be saints :
A joyful sound of royal gifts,
To obviate unbelieving shifts :

A promise of divine supplies,
To work all gracious qualities
In those who, pronest to rebel,
Are only qualifi'd for hell.

Courting vile sinners, ev'n the chief,
It leaves no cloak for unbelief;
But ev'n on gross Manassehs calls,
On Mary Magdalens and Sauls.

'Tis good news of a fountain ope
For sin and filth; a door of hope
For those that lie in blood and gore;
And of a salve for ev'ry sore:

Glad news of sight unto the blind;
Of light unto the dark'ned mind;
Of healing to the deadly sick;
And mercy both to Jew and Greek:

Good news of gold to poor that lack;
Of raiment to the naked back;
Of binding to the wounds that smart;
And rest unto the weary heart:

Glad news of freedom to the bound;
Of store all losses to refund;

Of endless life unto the dead ;
And present help in time of need :

Good news of heav'n, where angels dwell,
To those that well deserved hell ;
Of strength to weak for work and war,
And access near to those afar :

Glad news of joy to those that weep,
And tender care of cripple sheep ;
Of shelter to the soul pursu'd,
And cleansing to the hellish-hu'd ;

Of floods to sap the parched ground,
And streams to run the desert round ;
Of ransom to the captive caught,
And harbor to the found'ring yacht ;

Of timely aid to weary groans ;
Of joy restor'd to broken bones ;
Of grace divine to graceless preys,
And glory to the vile and base ;

Of living water pure, that teems
On fainting souls refreshing streams ;
Of gen'rous wine to cheer the strong,
And milk to feed the tender young ;

Of saving faith to faithless ones ;
Of soft'ning grace to flinty stones ;
Of pardon to a guilty crew,
And mercy free, where wrath was due :

Good news of welcome kind to all,
That come to Jesus at his call ;
Yea, news of drawing pow'r, when scant,
To those that fain would come, and can't :

Glad news of rich mysterious grace,
And mercy meeting ev'ry case ;
Of store immense all voids to fill,
And free to whosoever will ;

Of Christ exalted as a Prince,
Pardons to give and penitence ;
Of grace o'ercoming stubborn wills,
And leaping over Bether hills.

Faith comes by hearing these reports,
Straight to the court of grace resorts,
And free of mercenary thought,
Gets royal bounty all for nought.

Faith's wing within the clammy sea
Of legal merit cannot fly ;

But mounting mercy's air apace,
Soars in the element of grace.

But as free love the blessing gives
To him that works not, but believes,
So faith, once reaching its desire,
Works hard by love, but not for hire.

CHAPTER III.

THE BELIEVER'S PRINCIPLES CONCERNING JUSTIFICATION AND SANCTIFICATION, THEIR DIFFERENCE AND HARMONY.

SECTION I.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN JUSTIFICATION AND SANCTIFICATION; OR RIGHTEOUSNESS IMPUTED AND GRACE IMPARTED; IN UP-WARDS OF THIRTY PARTICULARS.*

KIND Jesus spent his life to spin
My robe of perfect righteousness ;
But by his Spirit's work within
He forms my gracious, holy dress.

He as a Priest me justifies,
His blood does roaring conscience still ;
But as a King he sanctifies,
And subjugates my stubborn will.

* Note, That (metri causa) justification is here sometimes expressed by the words imputed grace, justifying grace, righteousness, &c., sanctification by the names imparted grace, grace, graces, holiness, sanctity, &c., which the judicious will easily understand.

He, justifying by his merit,
Imputes to me his righteousness ;
But sanctifying by his Spirit,
Infuses in me saving grace.

My justifying righteousness
Can merit by condignity :
But nothing with my strongest grace
Can be deserv'd by naughty me.

This justifying favor sets
The guilt of all my sin remote ;
But sanctifying grace delates
The filth and blackness of its blot.

By virtue of this righteousness
Sin can't condemn nor justly brand :
By virtue of infused grace
Anon it ceases to command.

The righteousness which I enjoy,
Sin's damning pow'r will wholly stay ;
And grace imparted will destroy
Its ruling domineering sway.

The former is my Judge's act
Of condonation full and free ;

The latter his commenced fact,
And gradual work advanc'd in me.

The former 's instantaneous,
The moment that I first believe ;
The latter is, as Heav'n allows,
Progressive while on earth I live.

The first will peace to conscience give,
The last the filthy heart will cleanse ;
The first effects a relative,
The last a real, inward change.

The former pardons every sin,
And counts me righteous, free, and just ;
The latter quickens grace within,
And mortifies my sin and lust.

Imputed grace intitles me
Unto eternal happiness ;
Imparted grace will qualify
That heav'nly kingdom to possess.

My righteousness is infinite,
Both subjectively and in kind ;
My holiness most incomplete,
And daily wavers like the wind.

So lasting is my outer dress,
It never wears nor waxes old :
My inner garb of grace decays
And fades, if Heav'n do not uphold.

My righteousness and pardon is
At once most perfect and complete ;
But sanctity admits degrees,
Does vary, fluctuate, and fleet.

Hence fix'd, my righteousness divine
No real change can undergo ;
But all my graces wax and wane,
By various turnings ebb and flow.

I 'm by the first as righteous now,
As e'er hereafter I can be ;
The last will to perfection grow,
Heav'n only is the full degree.

The first is equal, wholly giv'n,
And still the same in ev'ry saint ;
The last unequal and unev'n,
While some enjoy what others want.

My righteousness divine is fresh,
Forever pure and heavn'ly both ;

My sanctity is partly flesh,
And justly term'd a menstr'ous cloth.

My righteousness I magnify,
'T is my triumphant lofty flag ;
But pois'd with this, my sanctity
Is nothing but a filthy rag.

I glory in my righteousness,
And loud extol it with my tongue ;
But all my grace, compar'd with this,
I underrate as loss and dung.

By justifying grace I 'm apt
Of divine favor free to boast ;
By holiness I 'm partly shap'd
Into his image I had lost.

The first to divine justice pays
A rent to still the furious storm ;
The last to divine holiness
Instructs me duly to conform.

The first does quench the fiery law,
Its rigid cov'nant fully stay ;
The last its rule embroider'd draw,
To deck my heart, and gild my way.

The subject of my righteousness
Is Christ himself, my glorious Head;
But I the subject am of grace,
As he supplies my daily need.

The matter of the former, too,
Is only Christ's obedience dear;
But lo, his helping me to do
Is all the work and matter here.

I on my righteousness rely
For Heav'n's acceptance free, and win;
But, in this matter must deny
My grace, ev'n as I do my sin.

Though all my graces precious are,
Yea, perfect also in desire;
They cannot stand before the bar
Where awful justice is umpire:

But, in the robe that Christ did spin,
They are of great and high request;
They have acceptance wrapt within
My elder Brother's bloody vest.

My righteousness proclaims me great
And fair ev'n in the sight of God;

But sanctity's my main offset
Before the gazing world abroad.

More justifi'd I cannot be
By all my most religious acts ;
But these increase my sanctity,
That's still attended with defects.

My righteousness the safest ark
Midst ev'ry threat'ning flood will be ;
My graces but a leaking bark
Upon a stormy, raging sea.

I see in justifying grace
God's love to me does ardent burn ;
But by imparted holiness
I grateful love for love return.

My righteousness is that which draws
My thankful heart to this respect :
The former then is first the cause,
The latter is the sweet effect.

Christ is in justifying me,
By name, The Lord my righteousness ;
But, as he comes to sanctify,
The Lord my strength and help he is.

In that I have the patient's place,
For there JEHOVAH's act is all ;
But in the other I'm through grace
An agent working at his call.

The first does slavish fear forbid,
For there his wrath revenging ends ;
The last commands my filial dread,
For here paternal ire attends.

The former does annul my wo,
By God's judicial sentence past ;
The latter makes my graces grow,
Faith, love, repentance, and the rest.

The first does divine pard'ning love
Most freely manifest to me ;
The last makes shining graces prove
Mine int'rest in the pardon free.

My soul in justifying grace
Does full and free acceptance gain ;
In sanctity I heav'nward press,
By sweet assistance I obtain.

The first declares I'm free of debt,
And nothing left for me to pay ;

The last makes me a debtor yet,
But helps to pay it ev'ry day.

My righteousness with wounds and blood
Discharg'd both law's and justice' score ;
Hence with the debt of gratitude
I'll charge myself for evermore.

SECTION II.

THE HARMONY BETWEEN JUSTIFICATION AND SANCTIFICATION.

HE who me decks with righteousness,
With grace will also clothe ;
For glorious Jesus came to bless
By blood and water both.

That in his righteousness I trust,
My sanctity will show ;
Though graces cannot make me just,
They show me to be so.

All those who, freely justifi'd,
Are of the pardon'd race ;
Anon are also sanctifi'd
And purifi'd by grace.

Where justice stern does justify,
There holiness is clear'd ;
Heav'n's equity and sanctity
Can never be sever'd.

Hence, when my soul, with pardon deck'd,
Perceives no divine ire,
Then holiness I do affect
With passionate desire.

His justifying grace is such
As wafts my soul to heav'n :
I cannot choose but love him much,
Who much has me forgiv'n.

The Sun of righteousness, that brings
Remission in his rays,
The healing in his golden wings
Of light and heat conveys.

Wherever Jesus is a Priest,
There will he be a King ;
He that assoils from sin's arrest,
Wont tolerate its reign.

The title of a precious grace
To faith may justly fall,

Because its open arms embrace
A precious Christ for all.

From precious faith a precious strife
Of precious virtues flow ;
A precious heart, a precious life,
And precious duties too.

Wherever faith does justify,
It purifies the heart ;
The pardon and the purity
Join hands and never part.

The happy state of pardon doth
A holy life infer ;
In subjects capable of both
They never sunder'd were.

Yet in defence of truth must we Distinctly view the twain ;
That how they differ, how agree,
We may in truth maintain.

Two natures in one person dwell,
Which no division know,

In our renown'd Immanuel,
Without confusion too.

Those that divide them grossly err,
Though yet distinct they be ;
Those who confusion hence infer,
Imagine blasphemy.

Thus righteousness and grace we must
Nor sunder nor confound ;
Else holy peace to us is lost,
And sacred truth we wound.

While we their proper place maintain,
In friendship sweet they dwell ;
But or to part or blend the twain,
Are errors hatch'd in hell.

To separate what God does join,
Is wicked and profane ;
To mix and mutilate his coin,
Is damnable and vain.

Though plain distinction must take place,
Yet no division here,

Nor dark confusion, else the grace
Of both will disappear.

Lo! errors gross on ev'ry side
Conspire to hurt and wound ;
Antinomists do them divide,
And legalists confound.

CHAPTER IV.

THE BELIEVER'S PRINCIPLES CONCERNING FAITH AND SENSE.

I. OF FAITH AND SENSE NATURAL.—II. OF FAITH AND SENSE SPIRITUAL.—
—III. THE HARMONY AND DISCORD BETWEEN FAITH AND SENSE.—
IV. THE VALOR AND VICTORIES OF FAITH.—V. THE HEIGHTS AND DEPTHS OF SENSE.—VI. FAITH AND FRAMES COMPARED; OR FAITH BUILDING UPON SENSE DISCOVERED.

SECTION I.

FAITH AND SENSE NATURAL, COMPARED AND DISTINGUISHED.

WHEN Abram's body, Sarah's womb,
Were ripe for nothing but the tomb,
Exceeding old, and wholly dead,
Unlike to bear the promis'd seed,

Faith said, I shall an Isaac see :
No, no, said sense, it cannot be :
Blind reason, to augment the strife,
Adds, How can death engender life ?

My heart is like a rotton tomb,
More dead than ever Sarah's womb ;
O ! can the promis'd seed of grace
Spring forth from such a barren place ?

Sense, gazing but on flinty rocks,
My hope and expectation chokes :
But could I, skill'd in Abram's art,
O'erlook my dead and barren heart,

And build my hope on nothing less
Than divine pow'r and faithfulness ;
Soon would I find him raise up sons,
To Abram, out of rocks and stones.

Faith acts as busy boatmen do,
Who backward look and forward row ;
It looks intent to things unseen,
Thinks objects visible too mean.

Sense thinks it madness thus to steer,
And only trusts its eye and ear ;
Into faith's boat dare thrust its oar,
And put it further from the shore.

Faith does alone the promise eye ;
Sense wont believe unless it see ;
Nor can it trust the divine guide,
Unless it have both wind and tide.

Faith thinks the promise sure and good ;
Sense doth depend on likelihood :

Faith ev'n in storms believes the seers ;
Sense calls all men, ev'n prophets, liars.

Faith uses means, but rests on none ;
Sense fails when outward means are gone,
Trusts more on probabilities
Than all the divine promises :

It rests upon the rusty beam
Of outward things that hopeful seem ;
Let these its supports sink or cease,
No promise then can yield it peace.

True faith that 's of a divine brood,
Consults not base with flesh and blood ;
But carnal sense, which ever errs,
With carnal reason still confers.

What ! wont my disciples believe
That I am risen from the grave ?
Why will they pore on dust and death,
And overlook my quick'ning breath ?

Why do they slight the word I spake ?
And rather sorry counsel take
With death, and with a pow'ful grave,
If they their captive can relieve ?

Sense does inquire if tombs of clay
Can send their guests alive away ;
But faith will hear JEHOVAH'S word,
Of life and death the sov'reign Lord.

Should I give ear to rotten dust,
Or to the tombs confine my trust,
No resurrection can I see,
For dust that flies into mine eye.

What ! Thomas, can't thou trust so much
To me as to thy sight and touch ?
Wont thou believe till sense be guide
And thrust its hand into my side ?

Where is thy faith, if it depends
On nothing but thy finger-ends ?
But bless'd are they the truth who seal
By faith, yet neither see nor feel.

SECTION II.

FAITH AND SENSE SPIRITUAL, COMPARED AND DISTINGUISHED: WHERE ALSO THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE ASSURANCE OF FAITH, AND THE ASSURANCE OF SENSE.

THE certainty of faith and sense
Wide differ in experience :

Faith builds upon, Thus saith the Lord ;
Sense views his work, and not his word.

God's word without, is faith's resort,
His work within, doth sense support.
By faith we trust him without pawns,*
By sense we handle with our hands.

By faith the word of truth's receiv'd,
By sense we know we have believ'd.
Faith's certain by fiducial acts,
Sense by its evidential facts.

Faith credits the divine report,
Sense to his breathings makes resort :
That on his word of grace will hing,
This on his Spirit witnessing.

By faith I take the Lord for mine ;
By sense I feel his love divine :
By that, I touch his garment's hem ;
By this, find virtue thence to stream.

By faith I have mine all on band,
By sense I have some stock in hand :

* Pledges.

By that some vision is begun,
By this I some fruition win.

My faith can fend ev'n in exile ;
Sense cannot live without a smile.
By faith I to his promise fly,
By sense I in his bosom lie.

Faith builds upon the truth of God,
That lies within the promise broad ;
But sense upon the truth of grace
His hand within my heart did place.

Thus Christ's the object faith will eye,
And faith's the object sense may see ;
Faith keeps the truth of God in view,
While sense the truth of faith may shew.

Hence faith's assurance firm can stand,
When sense's in the deep may strand ;
And faith's persuasion full prevail,
When comfortable sense may fail.

I am assur'd when faith's in act,
Though sense and feeling both I lack :
And thus mysterious is my lot,
I'm oft assur'd when I am not ;

Oft pierc'd with racking doubts and fears ;
Yet faith these brambles never bears ;
But unbelief that cuts my breath,
And stops the language of my faith.

Clamors of unbelieving fears,
So frequently disturb mine ears,
I cannot hear what faith would say,
Till once the noisy clamors stay.

And then will fresh experience find,
When faith gets leave to speak its mind,
The native language whereof is,
My Lord is mine, and I am his.

Sad doubtings compass me about,
Yet faith itself could never doubt ;
For as the sacred volume saith,
Much doubting argues little faith.

The doubts and fears that work my grief,
Flow not from faith, but unbelief ;
For faith, whene'er it acteth, cures
The plague of doubts, and me assures.

But when mine eye of faith's asleep,
I dream of drowning in the deep :

But, as befalls the sleeping eye,
Though sight remain, it cannot see ;

The seeing faculty abides,
Though sleep from active seeing hides :
So faith's assuring pow'rs endure
Ev'n when it ceases to assure.

There's still persuasion in my faith,
Ev'n when I'm fill'd with fears of wrath :
The trusting habit still remains,
Though slumbers hold the act in chains.

Th' assuring faculty it keeps,
Ev'n when its eye in darkness sleeps,
Wrapt up in doubts ; but when it wakes,
It rouses up assuring acts.

SECTION III.

THE HARMONY AND DISCORD BETWEEN FAITH AND SENSE ;
THEY HELP, AND HOW THEY MAR EACH OTHER.

THOUGH gallant faith can keep the field
When cow'rdly sense will fly or yield,
Yet while I view their usual path,
Sense often stands and falls with faith.

Faith ushers in sweet peace and joy,
Which further heartens faith's employ :
Faith like the head, and sense the heart,
Do mutual vigor fresh impart.

When lively faith and feeling sweet,
Live dearest darlings, kindly meet,
They straight each other help and hug
In loving friendship close and snug.

Faith gives to sense both life and breath,
And sense gives joy and strength to faith ;
“ O now, says faith, how fond do I
In sense's glowing bosom lie !”

Their mutual kindness then is such,
That oft they, doting, too, too much,
Embrace each other out of breath ;
As Æsop hugg'd his child to death.

Faith, leaping into sense's arms,
Allur'd with her bewitching charms,
In hugging these, lets rashly slip
The proper object of its grip.

Which being lost, behold the thrall !
Anon faith loses sense and all ;

Thus unawares cuts sense's breath,
While sense trips up the heels of faith.

Her charms assuming Jesus' place,
While faith's lull'd in her soft embrace ;
Lo ! soon in dying pleasures wrapt,
Its living joy away is snapt.

SECTION IV.

THE VALOR AND VICTORIES OF FAITH.

By faith I unseen Being see
Forth lower beings call,
And say to nothing, Let it be,
And nothing hatches all.

By faith I know the worlds were made
By God's great word of might ;
How soon, Let there be light, he said,
That moment there was light.

By faith I soar and force my flight,
Through all the clouds of sense ;
I see the glories out of sight,
With brightest evidence.

By faith I mount the azure sky,
And from the lofty sphere,
The earth a little mote espy,
Unworthy of my care.

By faith I see the unseen things
Hid from all mortal eyes ;
Proud reason, stretching all its wings,
Beneath me flutt'ring lies.

By faith I build my lasting hope
On righteousness divine ;
Nor can I sink with such a prop,
Whatever storms combine.

By faith my works, my righteousness,
And duties all I own
But loss and dung ; and lay my stress
On what my Lord has done.

By faith I overcome the world
And all its hurtful charms ;
I'm in the heav'nly chariot hurl'd
Through all opposing harms.

By faith I have a conqu'ring pow'r
To tread upon my foes,

To triumph in a dying hour,
And banish all my woes.

By faith in midst of wrongs I 'm right,
In sad decays I thrive ;
In weakness I am strong in might,
In death I am alive.

By faith I stand when deep I fall,
In darkness I have light ;
Nor dare I doubt and question all
When all is out of sight.

By faith I trust a pardon free,
Which puzzles flesh and blood ;
To think that God can justify,
Where yet he sees no good.

By faith I keep my Lord's commands,
To verify my trust ;
I purify my heart and hands,
And mortify my lust.

By faith my melting soul repents,
When pierced Christ appears ;
My heart in grateful praises vents,
Mine eyes in joyful tears.

By faith I can the mountains vast
Of sin and guilt remove ;
And them into the ocean cast,
The sea of blood and love.

By faith I see JEHOVAH high
Upon a throne of grace ;
I see him lay his vengeance by,
And smile in Jesus' face.

By faith I hope to see the Sun,
The light of grace that lent,
His everlasting circles run,
In glory's firmament.

By faith I'm more than conqueror,
Ev'n though I nothing can,
Because I set JEHOVAH'S pow'r
Before me in the van.

By faith I counter-plot my foes,
Nor need their ambush fear ;
Because my life-guard also goes
Behind me in the rear.

By faith I walk, I run, I fly,
By faith I suffer thrall ;

By faith I'm fit to live and die,
By faith I can do all.

SECTION V.

THE HEIGHTS AND DEPTHS OF SENSE.

WHEN Heav'n me grants, at certain times,
Amidst a pow'ful gale,
Sweet liberty to moan my crimes,
And wand'rings to bewail ;

Then do I dream my sinful brood,
Drown'd in the ocean main
Of crystal tears and crimson blood,
Will never live again.

I get my foes beneath my feet,
I bruise the serpent's head ;
I hope the vict'ry is complete,
And all my lusts are dead.

How gladly do I think and say,
When thus it is with me,
Sin to my sense is clean away,
And so shall ever be.

But, ah! alas! th' ensuing hour
My lusts arise and swell ;
They rage and reinforce their pow'r,
With new recruits from hell.

Though I resolv'd and swore, through grace,
In very solemn terms,
I never should my lusts embrace,
Nor yield unto their charms,

Yet such deceitful friends they are,
While I no danger dream,
I'm snar'd before I am aware,
And hurri'd down the stream :

Into the gulf of sin anon,
I'm plunged head and ears ;
Grace to my sense is wholly gone,
And I am chain'd in fears :

Till straight my Lord with sweet surprise
Returns to lose my bands,
With kind compassion in his eyes,
And pardon in his hands.

Yet thus my life is nothing else
But heav'n and hell by turns ;

My soul, that now in Goshen dwells,
Anon in Egypt mourns.

SECTION VI.

FAITH AND FRAMES COMPARED; OR, FAITH BUILDING UPON SENSE DISCOVERED.

FAITH has for its foundation broad—
A stable rock on which I stand—
The truth and faithfulness of God :
All other grounds are sinking sand.

My frames and feelings ebb and flow ;
And when my faith depends on them
It fleets and staggers to and fro,
And dies amidst the dying frame.

That faith is surely most unstay'd,
Its stagg'ring can't be counted strange,
That builds its hope of lasting aid
On things that every moment change.

But could my faith lay all its load
On Jesus' everlasting name,
Upon the righteousness of God,
And divine truth that 's still the same ;

Could I believe what God has spoke,
Rely on his unchanging love,
And cease to grasp at fleeting smoke,
No changes would my mountain move.

But when, how soon the frame 's away,
And comfortable feelings fail ;
So soon my faith falls in decay,
And unbelieving doubts prevail :

This proves the charge of latent vice,
And plain my faith's defects may show ;
I built the house on thawing ice,
That tumbles with the melting snow.

When divine smiles in sight appear,
And I enjoy the heav'nly gale ;
When wind, and tide, and all is fair,
I dream my faith shall never fail :

My heart with false conclusions draw,
That strong my mountain shall remain,
That in my faith there is no flaw,
I'll never, never, doubt again.

I think the only rest I take,
Is God's unfading word and name ;

And fancy not my faith so weak,
As e'er to trust a fading frame.

But, ah! by sudden turns I see
My lying heart's fallacious guilt,
And that my faith, not firm in me,
On sinking sand was partly built:

For, lo! when warming beams are gone,
And shadows fall; alas, 't is odd,
I cannot wait the rising Sun,
I cannot trust a hiding God.

So much my faith's affiance seems
Its life from fading joys to bring,
That when I lose the dying streams,
I cannot trust the living spring.

When drops of comfort, quickly dried,
And sensible enjoyments fail:
When cheering apples are denied,
Then doubts instead of faith prevail.

But why, though fruit be snatch'd from me,
Should I distrust the glorious Root;
And still affront the standing Tree,
By trusting more to falling fruit?

The smallest trials may evince
My faith unfit to stand the shock,
That more depends on fleeting sense,
Than on the fix'd eternal rock.

The safest ark when floods arise,
Is stable truth that changes not:
How weak's my faith, that more relies
On feeble sense's floating boat!

For when the fleeting frame is gone,
I straight my state in question call;
I droop and sink in deeps anon,
As if my frame were all in all.

But though I miss the pleasing gale,
And Heav'n withdraw the charming glance,
Unless JEHOVAH'S oath can fail,
My faith may keep it countenance.

The frame of nature shall decay,
Time-changes break her rusty chains;
Yea, heav'n and earth shall pass away;
But faith's foundation firm remains.

Heav'n's promises so fix'dly stand,
Ingrav'd with an immortal pen,

In great Immanuel's mighty hand,
All hell's attempts to raze are vain.

Did faith with none but truth advise,
My steady soul would move no more,
Than stable hills when tempests rise,
Or solid rocks when billows roar.

But when my faith the counsel hears
Of present sense and reason blind,
My wav'ring spirit then appears
A feather toss'd with ev'ry wind.

Lame legs of faith unequal crook :
Thus mine, alas ! unev'nly stand ;
Else I would trust my stable Rock,
Not fading frames and feeble sand.

I would when dying comforts fly,
As much as when they present were,
Upon my living joy rely.
Help, Lord, for here I daily err.

CHAPTER V.

THE BELIEVER'S PRINCIPLES CONCERNING HEAVEN AND EARTH.

SECTION I.

THE WORK AND CONTENTION OF HEAVEN.

IN heav'nly choirs a question rose,
That stirr'd up strife will never close—
What rank of all the ransom'd race
Owes highest praise to sov'reign grace ?

Babes, thither caught from womb and breast,
Claim'd right to sing above the rest ;
Because they found the happy shore
They never saw nor sought before.

Those that arriv'd at riper age
Before they left the dusky stage,
Thought grace deserv'd yet higher praise,
That wash'd the blots of num'rous days.

Anon the war more close began—
What praising harp should lead the van ?

And which of grace's heav'nly peers
Was deepest run in her arrears ?

“ 'T is I (said one,) 'bove all my race,
Am debtor chief to glorious grace.”

“ Nay, (said another,) hark, I trow,
I'm more oblig'd to grace than you.”

“ Stay, (said a third,) I deepest share
In owing praise beyond compare :
The chief of sinners, you'll allow,
Must be the chief of singers now.”

“ Hold, (said a fourth,) I here protest
My praises must outvie the best ;
For I'm of all the human race
The highest miracle of grace.”

“ Stop, (said a fifth,) these notes forbear,
Lo, I'm the greatest wonder here ;
For I of all the race that fell,
Deserv'd the lowest place in hell.”

A soul that higher yet aspir'd,
With equal love to Jesus fir'd—

“ 'T is mine to sing the highest notes
To love that wash'd the foulest blots.”

“ Ho, (cried a mate,) 't is mine, I 'll prove,
Who sinn'd in spite of light and love,
To sound his praise with loudest bell,
That sav'd me fom the lowest hell.”

“ Come, come, (said one,) I 'll hold the plea
That highest praise is due by me ;
For mine, of all the sav'd by grace,
Was the most dreadful, desp'rate case.”

Another, rising at his side,
As fond of praise, and free of pride,
Cried, “ Pray give place, for I defy,
That you should owe more praise than I :

“ I 'll yield to none in this debate ;
I 'm run so deep in grace's debt,
That sure I am, I boldly can Compare with all the heav'nly clan.”

Quick o'er their heads a trump awoke—
“ Your songs my very heart have spoke ;
But ev'ry note you here propale,
Belongs to me beyond you all.”

The list'ning millions round about
With sweet resentment loudly shout—

“ What voice is this, comparing notes,
That to their song chief place allots ?

“ We can't allow of such a sound,
That you alone have highest ground
To sing the royalties of grace ;
We claim the same adoring place.”

What ! will no rival singer yield
He has a match upon the field ?

“ Come, then, and let us all agree
To praise upon the highest key.”

Then jointly all the harpers round
In mind unite with solemn sound,
And strokes upon the highest string
Made all the heav'nly arches ring :

Ring loud with hallelujahs high,
To him that sent his Son to die ;
And to the worthy Lamb of God,
That lov'd and wash'd them in his blood.

Free grace was sov'reign empress crown'd
In pomp, with joyful shouts around :
Assisting angels clapp'd their wings,
And sounded grace on all their strings.

The population round the throne
 Made prostrate hosts (who ev'ry one
 The humblest place their right avow)
 Strive who should give the lowest bow.

The next contention without vice
 Among the birds of paradise,
 Made every glorious warbling throat
 Strive who should raise the highest note.

Thus in sweet, holy, humble strife,
 Along their endless, joyful life,
 Of Jesus all the harpers rove,
 And sing the wonders of his love.

Their discord makes them all unite
 In raptures most divinely sweet ;
 So great the song, so grave the base,
 Melodious music fills the place.

SECTION II.

EARTH DESPICABLE, HEAVEN DESIRABLE.

THERE'S nothing round the spacious earth
 To suit my vast desires ;

To more refin'd and solid mirth
My boundless thought aspires.

Fain would I leave this mournful place,
This music dull, where none
But heavy notes have any grace,
And mirth accents the moan.

Where troubles tread upon reliefs,
New woes with older blend ;
Where rolling storms and circling griefs
Run round without an end :

Where waters, wrestling with the stones,
Do fight themselves to foam ;
And hollow clouds, with thund'ring groans,
Discharge their pregnant womb :

Where eagles, mounting, meet with rubs
That dash them from the sky ;
And cedars, shrinking into shrubs,
In ruin prostrate lie :

Where sin, the author of turmoils,
The cause of death and hell,
The one thing foul that all things foils,
Does most befriended dwell ;

The purchaser of night and woe,
The forfeiture of day,
The debt that ev'ry man did owe,
But only God could pay ;

Bewitching ill, indors'd with hope,
Subscribed with despair,
Ugly in death when eyes are ope,
Though life may paint it fair.

Small wonder that I droop alone
In such a doleful place :
When lo, my dearest friend is gone
My father hides his face.

And though in words I seem to show
The fawning poet's style,
Yet is my plaint no feigned woe ;
I languish in exile.

I long to share the happiness
Of that triumphant throng,
That swim in seas of boundless bliss
Eternity along.

When but in drops here by the way
Free love distils itself,

I pour contempt on hills of prey,
And heaps of worldly pelf.

To be amidst my little joys,
Thrones, sceptres, crowns, and kings,
Are nothing else but little toys,
And despicable things.

Down with disdain earth's pomp I thrust,
Bid tempting wealth away :
Heav'n is not made of yellow dust,
Nor bliss of glitt'ring clay.

Sweet was the hour I freedom felt
To call my Jesus mine ;
To see his smiling face, and melt
In pleasures all divine.

Let fools a heav'n of shades pursue,
But I for substance am :
The heav'n I seek is likeness to,
And vision of the Lamb :

The worthy Lamb with glory crown'd
In his august abode ;
Inthron'd sublime, and deck'd around
With all the pomp of God.

I long to join the saints above,
Who, crown'd with glorious bays,
Through radiant files of angels move,
And rival them in praise :

In praise to JAH, the God of love,
The fair incarnate Son,
The holy co-eternal Dove,
The good, the great Three-one.

In hope to sing without a sob,
The anthem ever new,
I gladly bid the dusty globe,
And vain delights, Adieu.

SMOKING SPIRITUALIZED.

IN TWO PARTS.

THE FIRST PART BEING AN OLD MEDITATION UPON SMOKING TOBACCO; THE SECOND A NEW ADDITION TO IT, OR IMPROVEMENT OF IT.*

PART I.

This Indian weed, now wither'd quite,
Though green at noon, cut down at night,
Shows thy decay ;
All flesh is hay.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

The pipe, so lily-like and weak,
Does thus thy mortal state bespeak.
Thou art ev'n such,
Gone with a touch.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

And when the smoke ascends on high,
Then thou behold'st the vanity

* This POEM, the second part of which was written by Mr. ERSKINE, is here inserted, as a proper subject of meditation to smokers of tobacco.

Of worldly stuff,
Gone with a puff.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

And when the pipe grows foul within
Think on thy soul, defil'd with sin ;
For then the fire
It does require.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

And seest the ashes cast away ;
Then to thyself thou mayest say,
That to the dust
Return thou must.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

PART II.

Was this small plant for thee cut down ?
So was the Plant of great renown ;
Which mercy sends
For nobler ends.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

Doth juice medicinal proceed
From such a naughty foreign weed ?
Then what 's the pow'r
Of Jesse's flow'r ?
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

The promise, like the pipe, inlays,
And by the mouth of faith conveys,
What virtue flows
From Sharon's Rose.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

In vain th' unlighted pipe you blow ;
Your pains in outward means are so,
Till heav'nly fire
Your heart inspire.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.

The smoke, like burning incense, tow'rs ;
So should a praying heart of yours
With ardent cries
Surmount the skies.
Thus think, and smoke tobacco.
